Prospects for a full list of entries for the event were indicated this week by tournament officials. Wilson K. Levering, Jr., Baltimore, is president of the tennis club and the tournament committee includes W. Walter Pollard, Hagerstown; Mrs. James A. Holloway, Wheeling; Mrs. Patricia H. Kittle, Mt. Lake Park.

Mr. Levering indicated that the courts were being put into shape as well as major repairs being made to the grand stand.

Play will begin Wednesday, August 1 and will continue on Saturday weather permitting. In case of inclement weather, the finals have been held on Sundays in some previous years.

A number of social events are being planned with an informal party, a corn roast, and the annual tennis dance. Cost of the tournament is $1 each for singles entries and $5 per team in the doubles section. There is competition in men's and women's singles, men's and women's doubles.

Welfare Board Seeks New Foster Homes

The number of children in foster homes licensed by the Garrett County Welfare Board has increased from 26 to 29 during this month. Currently, these children are being cared for by foster parents in 10 homes scattered throughout the county. The majority of the children in care have been committed to the local welfare department by the Garrett County Juvenile Court upon determining that the children's general welfare can be best insured through foster home care.

Existing facilities for care are filled to capacity and additional homes are needed to enable the local welfare agency to fulfill its responsibilities to children and to parents who cannot remain together. It was announced by Robert W. Stemple, welfare board director.

The welfare department invites inquiries from persons who are interested in discussing the possibility of becoming foster parents and working with the board staff in providing essential services to children who cannot live with their own parents.

Beginning the latter part of July the welfare department will assign a case worker to foster home finding activities for intensive work in this area. Stemple said.

Playhouse Vets To Dominate Cast In Eighth Season

First Of Eight Plays Will Start At Theatre On July 10th

Veterans of the Garrett County Playhouse will have dominant roles in the performances of its eighth season which will get under way on Tuesday, July 10, for an eight-weeks' stand.

"The Marriage Go Round" is the first play to be offered the week of July 10, and in ensuing weeks there will be "Someone Waiting," "Harvey," "Seven Keys to Baldpate," "The Male Animal," "Charles's Aunt," "Oh Men, Oh Women," and "Kiss and Tell."

She has been successful during the interim playing stock in upstate New York in summer and appearing in off-broadway productions.

Phil Jones, Cumberland, made his theatrical debut last year. He appeared this winter in several productions at Exeter and is a regular member this season. Tom Calkins is having his fifth summer at the playhouse and will again be the director and appear in some of the plays. He has completed his first year at Yale university on his doctorate in drama.

Mary Ann Craig is back for her second season. A native of Roswell, New Mexico, she will be a senior at the University of New Mexico this fall.

Neil Flanagan will be returning for his fifth season. He has completed writing his first full length play based on Voltaire's Candide. He has acted in thirteen productions in recent months and toured North Carolina and West Virginia in "Evening with Shakespeare," and "Evening with Oscar Wilde." He teaches acting at Cresthaven country club, New York, and in the fall will stage a production, "The Boy Friend." He has directed several plays the past year.

Bond Is Posted In Illegal Still Charge

John Risdon Pratt, 37, was arrested Saturday night at his home on U. S. route 219, north of Oakland, on a charge of having possession of an unregistered still on unauthorized premises.

At a preliminary hearing Monday before U. S. Commissioner James A. Vivrett he posted $1,000 bond. The arrest was made by John L. Burkholder and Ernest A. Breakfield, Jr., investigators for the alcohol and tax division of the U. S. Treasury department, Maryland alcohol tax agent Charles D. McLane, Garrett county sheriff James E. Prantz and Deputy Howard Wayne Wilt.

The raid took place about 9 p. m. Saturday at the Pratt home, several hundred yards off U. S. route 219, between Deep Creek Lake and Oakland. Officers drove up to the Pratt home as he emerged from the basement of his residence. They followed him inside and found the still.

A 75-gallon copper pot and 72 gallons of mash were confiscated and destroyed by the federal officers.

A search warrant had been obtained by officers in Cumberland. Pratt was lodged in the Allegany county jail until his preliminary hearing. He waited a formal hearing before a district commissioner and bond of $1,000 was set pending action by the September Term grand jury.

The Pratt residence had been under surveillance for about a week prior to the raid. The illicit still was destroyed by the axe-wielding federal agents.

J. Finch Is Second Pitcher in P.V.C.

Jim Finch, Southern Highlander pitcher, took second place honors among pitchers of the Potomac Valley conference, according to a complete compilation of records of all the hurlers in the league. First place went to R. Hamilton, of Paw Paw, who didn't win any more games than Finch in the conference, but pitched more innings. He pitched for six games, pitched 38 1/2 innings, gave six bases on balls, had 51 strikeouts.

Finch pitched for five games, went 32 1/2 innings, gave 17 bases on balls, had 34 strikeouts. Two other pitchers in the league had four victories against no defeats. The enlisting of Jackie Ray Cassidy, son of Mrs. Madella Cassidy, Red House, was announced by M Sgt. Bernard M. Ladd, army recruiter.

He was graduated in June from Southern High school and enlisted for a course in radio transmitter repair. After basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., he will have a two weeks leave before reporting to Fort Monmouth, N. J., for schooling.

Analysis of Fishing Test Not Yet Ready

A complete analysis of the fish test in Hooopole inlet of Deep Creek Lake last week has not yet been released, but preliminary reports show that the fish management program is improving satisfactorily.

A new method of "netting" or "corraling" fish for checking purposes was tried last week. Various agencies of the state conducted the experiment. Sheets of polyethylene plastic measuring 100 by 32 feet were used to set up a four-sided enclosure from the surface to the 32-foot depth of the sheets. Rotenone, a suffocant, was sprayed on the water and the fish gathered for checking sizes, weights and species.

This was part of the project but officials said the primary purpose was to try out the netting method for possible future use. A number of other states have expressed interest in the experiment. Maryland is the first state to try out such a procedure. The "plastic pen" was lowered into Deep Creek Lake waters in the Hooopole section. A 40-foot depth was tried off-shore from Will o' the Wisp motel, and a 50-foot area of the Red Run section was also tried.

A majority of the fish snared were yellow perch and shiners but there were a number of other species. The three areas tested indicates that most of the big fish probably lurk in the coves and shallows near the shore.

Deer Park Firemen Get New Gas Masks

Deer Park firemen have purchased and placed in service two new air type gas masks. The masks provide air from a tank carried on the back of the firemen and will permit them to work where an insufficient amount of oxygen or deadly gases are present. Chief William Clatterbuck explained that in many cases a fire will consume all the oxygen in the air and make it impossible for human environment without some type of oxygen producing breathing apparatus.

Prior to this time firemen have used a filter type mask which did not produce any oxygen and simply filtered the smoke and gas which the men breathed. However, the increased use of plastic synthetic fibers and chemicals within the average home created new gases which the filter type masks were not equipped to handle and thus a threat to firemen's lives. Clatterbuck said. The new air type mask is widely used in the fire service and has been particularly helpful for rescue work. Cost of the new masks was said to be about $300.00.

Firemen announced they will hold their annual street carnival on August 1, 2, 3, 4 with the parade to be on Friday, August 3rd, at 7:30 p. m. The affair will feature rides, concessions, refreshments and general fun. Awards will be presented at the close of each evening's activities. Some seventy units have been invited to participate in the parade on Friday.

Fresh Air Kids Now In Grantsville Area

A large delegation of Fresh Air Kids from New York City arrived in Meyersdale Tuesday afternoon to spend a two week vacation with families in the Grantsville area.

Mrs. Ivan J. Miller is chairman of a group of residents of Grantsville and Meyersdale where some 45 of the children will be visiting on local farms. The project in Grantsville is a community program and some of those who "adopt" the children for a vacation are members of the Conservative Mennonite church.

The program is backed annually by the Herald-Tribune, Fresh Air Fund and the youngsters are from the Kung Wah School operated by the Church of the Transfiguration in Chinatown.

Center street marks the division of north and south, while Bartlett street is the east-west dividing line. Clifford Phillips, assistant postmaster, said that every person would be notified in the near future what his number is to be, but that any person who would like to find out beforehand may do so by asking at the postoffice.

Budget Bureau OK's Bloomington Dam

The White House on Monday announced that the Bureau of the Budget had approved the recommendation of the Army chief of engineers for the multipurpose dams on the North Branch of the Potomac River near Bloomington. Notice of the approval has been made to U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall of Maryland and U. S. Senators Randolph and Byrd of West Virginia.

The United States' share of the recommended project would be $34,000,000 while local participation would amount to $17 million. It is anticipated that the project would be included in the public works bill in the current session of Congress. No appropriations have been made for the project.

Sen. Randolph, who is a member of the Public Works committee of the Senate, said he would seek speedy action on the proposal. The high dam which has been recommended by the Army Corps of Engineers has had no opposition from any source and would provide water supply, flood control and recreation areas for the tri-state section.

LEADS THE PARADE—Gerald Glatfelly carrying flag, officer in the Garrett County Horsemen's association leads off the parade which inaugurated the first annual horse show held last Saturday evening at the fair grounds at McHenry. Over eighty horses participated in the event.

"Let's Retreat" Says President's Adviser—A Presidential adviser on Foreign Policy, Professor W. W. Rostow, has recommended that the United States retreat all along the line in the Cold War. Rostow is Deputy Special Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs. His master plan for how to get the Reds is contained in a 286-page State Department document, entitled "Basic National Security Policy." Despite repeated unanimous votes in Congress expressing the will of the American people against recognition of the Red regime in China, Mr. Rostow's master plan for Foreign Policy calls for recognition of the Red Chinese and for our withdrawing opposition to their membership in the United Nations, arguing that the only practical solution is to admit the Red regime in China as "China." With further disregard for the wishes of the people, as repeating the theory that the one ultimate U. S. objective is peace. Legislation Report: Holding Close Reins. Of the 24 proposals to Congress listed by the Administration as of top importance, one has passed, two have been rejected outright and 21 have not been finally acted upon. This is not necessarily a bad record. Rather, it could be a good record, for it could mean that Congress is holding a close rein on a power-hungry, spendthrift Administration, that Congress is making a sincere effort to keep within bounds the proposals for spending and for increased Executive power. Some of the 21 will be passed, but perhaps the fewer the better.

Water Tunnel Under the Rockies!—As a means of putting more land into production, the House of Representatives has passed an Administration-sponsored bill providing for the drilling of a water tunnel under the Rocky Mountains. The measure is now before the Senate. The $170,000,000 scheme would send water from the west side of the Rockies in Colorado to potential farmland on the east side.

At the same time, the Agriculture Department continues to pay out other hundreds of millions of your tax dollars to take land out of production! And the Administration is trying to expand this subsidy system!

Urban Mass Transportation—The Housing Subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency, of which I am a member, last week approved for full committee consideration the Urban Mass Transportation Bill. We had held hearings on this and other bills relating to the growing problem of urban transportation.

Foreign Aid News Items—Seven tidbits of news last week form a significant commentary on our Foreign Aid program.

(1) From Athens comes the report that the Government of Greece appealed to farmers to limit wheat-growing because it deprived Greece of substantial United States aid in agricultural surpluses.

(2) From Colombo, Ceylon, comes the announcement that additional properties of the Esso, Shell and Caltex oil companies there had been seized by the government.

(3) In Seoul, Korea, the U. S. Army ordered American military personnel restricted to base because of anti-American demonstrations spreading in South Korea.

(4) In Brussels, Belgium, retaliatory tariff rises against the United States were approved because of American increases in carpet and glass tariffs.

(5) Congolese cabinet members have decided to pay themselves $3,000 per month salary—out of American aid money.

(6) Senator Kenneth Keating of New York charged that during the past seven years, and without the American people's knowledge, we have made at least 33 shipments of strategic goods to Communist nations.

(7) The Majority Leader, Senator Mike Mansfield (Democrat) of Montana, said in a speech that, after eight years of economic and military assistance to Laos, that country is in far more danger of collapse into Communism than it was when our aid program started, and furthermore, the nations in Asia which have received relatively little U. S. aid are among the most stable nations.

"Planned Economy"? Who Planned It?—Norman Thomas, leader of the Socialist Party in the United States for many years, once said:

"The American people will never knowingly vote for socialism, but under the guise of liberalism, they will adopt TVA, social security, Federal aid to education, public housing, and compulsory health insurance. They will adopt every fragment of the socialist platform until one day America will be so-

DIED

CHARLES STARK

Charles Stark, 72, Frostburg, died Tuesday, June 26, in Miners hospital. He had been in the hospital for three days following an accident at his home.

Mr. Stark had fallen from a cherry tree on his property. Four years ago he fell from the same tree and sustained a fractured leg. A native of Avilton, he was a son of the late John and Jean Robison Stark. He was a retired employee of the Engineering Department of the Celanese Fibers company at the time he was working for the company without knowing how it came about.

Red Flag To Fly Here, Says Khrushchev—In addressing an audience of Romanian railway workers last week, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, uttered these words: "I am convinced that tomorrow the red flag will fly over the United States. But we will not fly the flag. It will be the American people themselves."

This pronouncement makes all the more significant the recent attack on the ideas of Thomas Jefferson by Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., Harvard professor and speechwriter for President Kennedy. Professor Schlesinger said, "Jefferson is today remote and irrelevant, a figure not of present concern but of historical curiosity." He spoke with scorn of such Jeffersonian beliefs as "that government is best which governs least."

It was Jefferson who drafted the Declaration of Independence, that statesman of human freedom. America made its great strides of progress, from the least of nations to the greatest, while it remained unwaveringly faithful to the ideas of Jefferson, the central theme of which is that government is the servant of the people, not their master. After the glorious history of progress under the principle of personal freedom, will the American people submit to "social control" and regimentation, I think not.

Our immediate concern is over the fact that people who think like these "social-control" professors are advising our President.

A Great Man's Patriotism—General Douglas MacArthur, in addressing the West Point cadets last month, phrased the litany of "duty, honor, country" so that the whole country might hear. He said: "Those three hallowed words (duty, honor, country) reverently dictate what you want to be, what you can be, what you will be. . . . The unbelievers will say they are but words, but a slogan, but a flamboyant phrase. Every pedant, every demagogue, every cynic, every hypocrite, every troublemaker, and I am sorry to say, some others of an entirely different character, will try to downgrade them to the extent of mockery and ridicule."

Jury Awards $15,000 In Damage Suit Test

A verdict of $15,000 for the plaintiff was returned in Allegany county Monday by a jury which heard two consolidated damage suits tried after having been remanded by the Maryland Court of Appeals to the lower court in Cumberland.

In previous suits Robert Warnick, this county, was awarded $10,000 in a suit against William Frank Flay, of Knob Road. When an appeal was taken the higher court reversed the decision on the basis of an error in law.

The case stemmed from an accident on Bedford street, Cumberland, at the intersection of Valentine street May 6, 1959, when Warnick, driving a pickup truck turned left into Valentine street and a collision with the May vehicle resulted.

The jury's verdict this time favored May, who was plaintiff in one case and defendant in the other. The original suit was by Warnick against May and the latter against Warnick and the Feldstein firm for which Warnick worked.

Warnick was badly injured in the crash and was unable to work for about ten months. His hospital and medical costs were $797 and he received $3,887 from the State Industrial Accident commission fund as compensation for his disabilities. May also was badly injured in the crash and in court wore a bandage around his throat.

Expenses of Health Program Outlined

Garrett county spends $59,641 of its own funds for the public health program, and receives total expenditures from Federal and State agencies of $400,455, according to figures released this week by Dr. Arthur F. Jones, county health officer.

Dr. Jones, in pointing out the importance of seeing the total picture in this county, said that in recent years "it has become clear that health, medical and hospital services are closely interdependent whether of an institutional or non-institutional nature, whether primarily administered and financed by state or the county, whether the responsibility is placed in the health department or another department."

He added that the "traditional trend towards hospitalizing the various types of chronic illness in expensive hospital beds is no longer consistent with current medical concepts. It is apparent that many patients are occupying beds in acute general hospitals, chronic disease hospitals, and mental hospitals for considerable periods following maximum medical benefit."

He said it was the aim of the health department to provide a mechanism by which patients will be screened before hospitalization and followed up after discharge.

The figures announced by Dr. Jones was for fiscal year 1961. It included state and federal funds as follows: chronic disease hospitals, $14,035; medical care program, $62,840; laboratory operation, $7,181; hospital inpatient program, $62,299; hospital outpatient program, $1,338; tuberculosis hospitals, $13,445; care of crippled children, $29,703; mental institutions, $160,767. The budget for the calendar year for state was $48,847.

Of the $59,641 expended by the county the breakdown showed $808 for chronic disease hospitals, $25,000 inpatient program, $1,338 for outpatient program, and $10,152 for mental institutions, with a county budget of $22,343.

Dr. Jones said it can be seen from the report that the care of the mentally ill in state institutions is the largest bill which has to be met by the county other than the expenditures for direct local health services for which the county appropriates approximately 11 percent and the state 69 percent. The county's $25,000 contribution to the Garrett County Memorial hospital is derived from tax from gas wells and is earmarked for hospital running expenses.

Direct local health services comprise the nursing, sanitation and clinic services, along with administration of the local health department.

More Of The Twist...

Here are some more excerpts from the recent speech of Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, on the analyzing of the "Kennedy Twist."

Federal Judges—In a letter to the President of the American Bar Association candidate pledged, "I would hope that the paramount consideration in the appointment of a judge would not be his political party but his qualifications for the office." Fifteen months after taking office President Kennedy and his brother, Robert, had appointed 111 Democrats to lifetime federal judgeships without naming a single Republican, a record condemned by the Federal Judiciary Committee of the American Bar Association. Again the Kennedy twist, this time a duct.

Growth—On October 29, 1960, candidate Kennedy spoke at Valley Forge and warned Russia would overtake the U. S. economically unless we stepped up our annual 2.5 percent growth rate. But by June 28, 1961, President Kennedy was parroting his campaign opponent and assuring the country "Soviet output will not reach two-thirds of ours by 1970." The Kennedy twist includes kicking the statistics around.

The B-70 Program—Seeking San Diego aircraft workers' votes Nov. 2, 1960, candidate Kennedy said, "I endorse wholeheartedly the B-70 program." At his March 7, 1962 news conference President Kennedy said he felt that B-70 production would be "not the most judicious action," and clearly indicated willingness to battle Congress to the end on this issue. The Kennedy twist a rhythm in reverse action.

Leadership—Taunting President Eisenhower for alleged lack of leadership candidate Kennedy on November 5, 1960, said in New York, "I want to be . . . a Chief Executive in every sense of the word . . ." But even the pro-Kennedy Washington Post editorialized on Feb. 27, 1962, "Maybe it would be more suitable to wonder what sort of leadership Congress is getting from the White House." The simple sending of an eloquent message . . . can hardly be said to fill the bill . . . In the Kennedy twist, nobody leads.

from a strong and unwavering conviction that their lives and destinies were linked inseparably with a Supreme Being.

"When the colonists of 1776 officially declared their independence, they did so with the specific acknowledgment that the unalienable Rights they sought to preserve had been bestowed on them by 'their Creator.'"

"Speaking at the hallowed battlefield at Gettysburg, President Lincoln proposed that the Nation dedicate itself to the task that 'under God' it would have a new birth of freedom."

"Today our coins carry the affirmation 'In God We Trust.'"

"We pledge our allegiance to Old Glory with the explicit statement that we are one Nation 'under God.'"

"Our National Anthem, made official by an Act of Congress, pledges for all the world to hear that 'this be our motto, in God is our trust.'"

"I could continue indefinitely in this vein, but I think it is clear to all of us in this chamber, where prayer opens each of our sessions, that the strength and heritage of this Nation is deeply rooted in an abiding faith and trust in the Almighty."

"To deny the right to recognize this conviction in our public schools is to ignore the traditions which have made us great and to deprive our youth of the important realization that our traditional separation of church and State does not imply a divorcing of God from country."

Let's proceed quickly to pass this amendment and then get some fast action by the states to ratify it.

Bi-Partisan Action On Farm Bill

The legislative highlight of the past week was the action in the House of Representatives with respect to the Administration's Farm Program. This was a dramatic several days of debate which, in my opinion, was the bitterest fight thus far on the floor of the House of Representatives during the life of the 87th Congress. The tempers of members of the House rose on many occasions and there were both partisan and personal recriminations in the debate. Following all of the hue and cry, a final vote was taken late on Thursday evening.

The vote on the resolution to send the bill back to Committee, which in effect is a legislative way of killing the proposal as it stood, was 215 in favor and 205 against—in other words the Administration's Farm Program was killed by ten votes. Why did this happen? It happened for many, many reasons, and they were not particularly partisan reasons, because I would point out at the outset that it was a bi-partisan vote that killed the program. Approximately 25% of the vote that was required to send the bill back to Committee was composed of members of the Majority Party—Democrats. This is so because of the whole history of this legislation.

When the bill was first proposed by Secretary Freeman, it was stringent and mandatory to the point of being authoritarian. It would have required criminal penalties if a farmer for one reason or another violated any of the many detailed regulations that would have to be issued by the Department of Agriculture in order to put the program into effect. A farmer could have been convicted and sent to a Federal peni-

Larry Kingsley, Carlshad, N. M., junior at the University of New Mexico this fall, in charge of props for all shows and appearing in most productions. Jay Senter, Bob McKnight, Pat Dillon, Steven Ben Israel and Jim Gates.

Senter attended Ithaca college, was in off-Broadway shows last winter and will serve as stage manager and actor. McKnight, singer and actor, played in night clubs around New York and Hoboken, N. J., and Gateway playhouse in Galinburg, Tenn. He has the lead role in several plays.

Pat Dillon was with Neil Flanagan last fall and appeared in New York. She worked on Goldenrod Showboat in St. Louis and is a graduate of St. Louis university.

Israel was in off-Broadway's hit, "The Three Penny Opera" last season. He is a mimic and character comedian, attended Brooklyn college and University of Kansas. Gates, native of Staten Island, spent two years in the army and studied drama in New York. He has appeared in several productions, the last one being a children's musical, "Pete and the Pogo Stick."

Some of the members of this summer's cast will be guests of the Lions club at the William-James hotel, Oakland, on Monday evening.

able to answer. This gives you some indication of the degree of chaos, and the extent to which there was a lack of leadership in the House of Representatives.

It is no wonder that a bi-partisan group of members of the House of Representatives, which by and large represented the agricultural heart of this Country, and which had very much on their consciences and in their hearts the welfare of the farming community and the welfare of the Country at large—it is no wonder that these people voted to send this bill back to Committee. It was sent back so that it might be reconsidered, so that it might be perfected, and a program which will be helpful to American Agriculture evolved. Certainly the events of the several days' debate in the House indicated that the Administration's Program did not meet the needs of agriculture in America today, and I think the House took the correct action in re-committing it.

Pullen, Elkins Back Teacher College Plan

The president of the University of Maryland and the state superintendent of schools have voiced support of a compromise plan on the administration of the state teachers colleges.

The Commission for the Expansion of Public Higher Education in Maryland issued a report last Thursday calling for the creation of a nine-member board of trustees to run the five teacher colleges and Morgan State college.

"I voted for the proposal without reservation, and I intend to support it without change," said Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, university president, said the proposal was "a move in the right direction and it should bring about a great improvement in higher education."

Pullen and Elkins were on opposite sides during a bitter dispute two years ago. An earlier report by the Warfield commission recommended that three University of Maryland branches be established around the state and that the university absorb the teachers colleges at Towson, Salisbury and Frostburg.

After defeat of that plan Gov. Tawes appointed the new commission with Pullen and Elkins as members.

The proposed State College Board of Trustees would consist of eight lay members not engaged in professional education—to be appointed by the governor for overlapping nine-year terms. The ninth member would be the state superintendent of schools, who would serve in an ex-officio capacity.

The lay members would include one member of the State Board of Education and one member of the board of trustees at Morgan State, which now is administered by a separate board.

Two members of the Curlett Commission wrote a dissenting report. Dr. Martin D. Jenkins, president of Morgan State, and John H. Murphy III, contended Morgan State and each of the teachers colleges should have separate boards of trustees. Failing that, they suggested Morgan State should retain its own board.

A spokesman for Tawes said the governor was pleased with the study but he reserved judgment on the recommendations until he had time to evaluate them.

Engineers Tour

Deep Creek project began March 22, 1922, with actual construction activity commencing November 1, 1923. The lake-filling process was launched January 10, 1925 and the hydroelectric power generating plant commenced operation July 6, 1925.

During their tour of the three-story Penleece generating station, the engineers learned that the large brick, concrete and steel structure contains two 12,000 horsepower Allis-Chalmers turbine-generators. Electricity produced at Deep Creek, it was explained, travels over "kilowatt turnpikes" and is used throughout the 33-county area which Penleece serves.

Guides explained that the difference in elevation between the intake at the dam and the turbines is 440 feet at water surface elevation of 2,462 feet above sea level.

Water enters the plant through two steel penstocks, each six feet in diameter and 684 feet in length. Running downhill, the on-rushing water turns the turbine blades—in the same fashion as a water wheel—generating electricity.

Focusing attention on the dam, Penleece spokesmen explained that it consists of 750,000 cubic yards of earth fill around a concrete core wall which is 82 feet high, 28 inches at the base and 16 inches at the top, with the length listed at 1,300 feet.

The concrete spillway wall is 300 feet wide and 720 feet long. Elevation at the top of the spillway wall is 2,462 feet above sea level, the engineers learned.

When filled, Deep Creek covers 4,500 acres and is 11.6 miles long along the center line, containing 4,620,000 cubic feet of water amounting to 34,560,000 gallons of water. The lake is 62 feet higher than Oakland.

Each visiting engineer received a souvenir pen as a reminder of his visit.

Suspects in Holdup Are Now In Custody

Pennsylvania State Police last Saturday reported three men were in custody at Greensburg in connection with a series of armed robberies, including the one that occurred June 13, at LaVale.

The trio, according to police, admitted to at least five others, all committed in the same manner and all within the borders of Pennsylvania except for the LaVale job.

The Milton G. Hart, criminal investigator for Maryland State Police, went to Greensburg Sunday to question the trio. Warrants to be used as detainers against the three men after they face prosecution by Pennsylvania authorities were obtained.

The three were identified as Donald Ray Rath, 22, route 5, Irwin; Charles Stanley Sanders, 20, Irwin; and Raymond A. White, 22, Sunset Valley, Irwin. They admitted taking seven cars in their armed robberies spree, one of which was a car stolen from the New Germany road prior to the holdup in LaVale, owned by Charles W. Turner, of route 1, Frostburg.

The three were arrested June 22 by authorities of North Hampton Township, Irwin, who notified Pennsylvania police. Upon searching the car the police found a revolver and one of the men had a gasoline credit card stolen from one of the service stations which they held up.

Pictures Out Of The Past

Family Group Shown In Old Photograph

A family group picture of more than forty years ago occupies the old picture spot this week. The picture was furnished by Mrs. Pauline Lewis, of 11 Second street, Oakland, who says it was taken shortly after World War I, in 1918. In it are members of the Sines family, as they posed for the portrait on some forgotten occasion.

Mrs. Lewis has identified those standing in the rear as, left to right, Edith Sines, Lester Sines, Sarah Sines, Jasper Sines, Charles Sines and Theodore Sines.

Local Participants In Girl Scout Roundup

As a part of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Girl Scouts, ten thousand girl and adult members will meet July 18 to 31 in Vermont for a senior girl scout roundup.

Campers from 50 states will be joined by some 200 Girl Guide rangers from some twenty countries.

They will erect a city of six thousand tents in the campment, about 25 miles southwest of Burlington.

The patrol that Shawnee council is sending has four alternates. They have pitched tents, slept on the ground, cooked over charcoal, made tables and done other things. On a recent Friday and Saturday they had their last practice camp near Swanton. Tents were then packed for shipment. Patrol baggage and individual duffle bags will leave Cumberland today by motor carrier. The group will have one last get-together at the Fortney cottage, Deep Creek Lake, this Friday and Saturday.

Patrol name chosen is "Harmoneettes." Patrol members include Sandra Kay Harvey, Swanton, Anna Belle Thomas, Oakland, is one of the four alternates.

In Saturday's game Grantsville was threatened once and that came in the 9th inning when Peck

“We changed from electric to GAS heat. Now we pay only one-third as much . . . and we heat our entire basement, too.”

After heating their new home with electric resistance heat for one year, the Davidsons converted to GAS heat. (The Davidson home is fully insulated and has storm doors and windows as required for electric resistance heat installations.) Now they pay one dollar for every three they spent while they heated with electricity. For instance, the cost of electric heating of the first floor area only was $400.51. After they converted to GAS heat, their total cost for keeping the entire house at a comfortable temperature was $136.11.

“NOW I CAN USE MY BASEMENT ALL WINTER LONG,” says Mrs. Davidson. Because of the excessive cost of electric heating, it is impractical to heat the basement. But with economical GAS, every part of the house is kept at a comfortable temperature—even the garage! Think what this means. Double the space for recreation and household chores. In the Davidsons' home, the basement area equals the first floor area—1,092 square feet for each level. So GAS heating doubled the living area in winter—at 1/3 the cost!

COMPARE THE COST of actual electric and gas bills paid by the Davidsons. Below is a table showing electric heating costs for the 1959-1960 winter, and GAS heating costs for the 1960-1961 winter. Remember, the 1960-1961 winter was particularly severe. Even so, GAS bills were so much lower.

c'mon... put it over the plate

You are witnessing one of the frustrations in Ted's life. Like his namesake, the Red Sox slugger, Ted likes to tag a good fast ball and send it over the fence. But, today, our batting-practice pitcher just can't seem to find the plate.

Another frustration in Ted's life will occur next Sunday morning. Like every American youngster Ted needs religious training. But Ted's parents, who should be offering him opportunity and encouragement in spiritual growth, can't seem to find the Church.

Our children deserve the full spiritual opportunity which our free heritage has preserved for them. Today it is their turn to develop the power with which God endowed them. And our assignment, like the batting-practice pitcher's, is to offer them our best... and not lost control.

A People In Peril

Lesson for July 1, 1962

AMERICANS are conditioned by the movies and the TV programs we like to see—conditioned to hair-breadth escapes. The hero must not have too easy a time of it. He must barely squeak through. But it must be an escape; the ending has to be a happy one, with the cavalry or Superman or Dick Tracy or Perry Mason or somebody triumphing again.

In real life it doesn't always work like that. There are genuine tragedies, there are unhappy endings, what ought to come out on top doesn't always do this. The Bible stories we are going to have a chance to study during the next five weeks are stories of a people in peril. But the people either did not see their danger, or if they saw it they did not do what was necessary to save the situation; and so the people perished.

People who think of the Bible as a book of comfort only, must prepare for a shock when reading his part of the Old Testament. This is the tale, not of a narrow escape but of a narrow failure to escape.

A young leader
King Josiah was a young man on the throne and he wanted to do what was right. The prophets told him, and it was quite true, that unless the nation turned to God it would be destroyed. Josiah knew what that meant; it meant getting rid of the swarm of idols, false Gods, whose shrines were everywhere in the land. So he got rid of them. He took a courageous stand for the true God. But the nation went right on the downward slide, and the final crash turned out to be only a few years away.

Why was this? What did King Josiah do that was wrong? The truth seems to be that he did nothing particularly wrong; but he was acting alone. No one backed him up. He did not persuade any one else to his point of view. He destroyed the "high places," (pagan shrines and altars) and he compelled all citizens to worship at Jerusalem. But it was reform from the top down; there was nothing popular about it. We can see how this works in our own country. A president may urge much needed reforms, he may have a sensitive social conscience; but unless there is something contagious about his idealism or his conscience, he remains a lone voice crying in a wilderness.

When a man is sick, sometimes the best thing for him is a shot in the arm. But this is an emergency measure. It would be far better if the man had been living wisely, building up his health by wise habits of eating, exercise and so on. Josiah's reform, sincere as he was, amounted to no more than a sort of shot in the arm. The disease of Godlessness was deep-seated. It was not to be rooted out by a mere change in the place where God was to be worshipped. It was to be cured by a king telling the people to worship the one true God, and to make sure they did this, destroy their idols. The revival, so called, of Josiah, would have been more effective if the people had thrown away their idols themselves. True goodness, true religion, never can be commanded. It must come from within.

Too little, too late
Certain kinds of illness can be cured by diet. Apples, for example, are excellent helps in the cure of some conditions. But one slice of apple a day is not going to help a man who needs half a dozen; and furthermore, if the man's illness has progressed far enough, a whole bushel of apples won't help him. They are plenty, but they are too late. When tuberculosis strikes, complete rest is the road to cure, if cure is possible. But to rest five minutes after each meal is too little; while if the patient's condition is ignored until he is in "St. Peter's Ward" at death's very door, resting all day and night will do not a bit of good; it is now too late. So in the days of Josiah, so many a time since, a nation has gone down to ruin not for lack of good prescriptions but because the nation did what was right too little—and too late.

Who is most to blame for national catastrophes? False prophets? Well-meaning but feeble reformers? Or the masses of everyday people?

With Our Men In The Service

Red Flag Here? . . .

An item in U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall's column, "Senate Cloakroom," which appeared in last week's issue, bears repeating.

It said, "Red Flag to Fly Here, Says Khrushchev—in addressing an audience of Romanian railway workers last week, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev uttered these words: 'I am convinced that tomorrow the red flag will fly over the United States. But we will not fly the flag. It will be the American people themselves.'"

"This pronouncement makes all the more significant the recent attack on the ideas of Thomas Jefferson by Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., Harvard professor and speechwriter for President Kennedy. Professor Schlesinger said, 'Jefferson is today remote and irrelevant, a figure not of present concern but of historical curiosity. He spoke with scorn of such Jeffersonian beliefs as 'that government is best which governs least.'"

"It was Jefferson who drafted the Declaration of Independence, that stately chant of human freedom. America made its great strides of progress, from the least of nations to the greatest, while it remained unwaveringly faithful to the ideas of Jefferson, the central theme of which is that government is the servant of the people, not their master. After the glorious history of progress under the principle of personal freedom, will the American people submit to 'social control' and regimentation. I think not. Our immediate concern is over the fact that people who think like these 'social control' professors are advising our President."

Republicans have made vigorous demands for the firing of White House advisers and a drastic revision of Administration policy to avert further stock market crashes and possible economic chaos, but without avail.

A first step in restoring confidence in the economy, a Republican congressman declared, is to "fire the 'economic odd-balls' on Kennedy's staff of advisers and declare a 'cease-fire in his cold war with business'."

Those theorists either fail to comprehend the workings of the free enterprise system or are hostile to it. The sooner we are rid of such persons who are close to the ears of the president, the better off our country will be.

Child Suffocates

James Allen Beitzel, aged six months, accidentally suffocated when a blanket became wrapped around his head as he was sleeping soundly. About 9 p. m., the father, Ellis, went into the bedroom and found the infant had become wrapped or entangled in a blanket.

Robert Halverson, coroner for Somerset county, listed the death as accidental suffocation.

The child is also survived by his mother, Mary Alice (Durst) Beitzel; another brother, Jack, and three sisters, Faye, Patricia, and Maria; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Cynthia Beitzel, of near Bittling; and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Durst, also of Springs.

Funeral services were held Monday, June 25, at 2:30 p. m. from the Springs Memorial home with Rev. Roy and Rev. Walter Otto officiating. Interment was in the Springs cemetery.

Rain Hampers Fourth But Cheers Farmers

A soaking rain fell on the area on Tuesday, a welcome event for farmers and those with gardens, and somewhat disappointing for vacationers. In the Pittsburgh area the rain was said to have been worth millions of dollars to crops.

The cloudy and cool weather prevailed over the Fourth of July, cutting swimming and water skiing to a minimum. The same conditions prevailed all over the eastern seaboard with Ocean City activities restricted due to cloudy and cool weather.

Weather on the mountain top for the past week has been mostly cloudy and hazy, the sun managing to get through the clouds by noon each day. Temperature was in the 60's upon occasions with early morning temperatures being in the low 50's.

Marriage Go Round Is First Offering In Summer Theatre

A comedy entitled "The Marriage-Go-Round" will be the opening attraction of the Garrett county summer playhouse next week, Tuesday, July 10 to Saturday, July 14.

This is an amusing charade by Leslie Stevens that earned a successful run of more than sixteen months in New York, retelling a famous but probably apocryphal anecdote about an intellectual Bernard Shaw and Isadora Duncan.

In the play Neil Flanigan and Pattie Dillon will be re-enacting the roles of Shaw and Miss Duncan. The husband is a professor of cultural anthropology and his wife, Mary Ann Craig, is dean of women. From time to time the play's action is interspersed with their classroom appearances.

Pattie Dillon, as the glamorous daughter of a Swedish professor, and Jay Senter appear as a romantically inclined younger professor in the college in upstate New York where the comedy's action is set.

Next week's production is the first of eight plays scheduled to be presented during the eighth season of the playhouse. Time Calkins is the director again this year and manager will be Gene Yell, associate professor of drama at the University of New Mexico, and summer resident here for a number of years.

Other plays to be presented in succeeding weeks will be "Someone Waiting," "Harvey," "Seven Keys to Baldpate," "The Male Animal," "Charlie's Aunt," "Oh Men, Oh Women," "Kiss and Tell."

Season tickets are available from local organizations or from the Playhouse. The price is $12.50 for nine admissions.

To Appeal Decision On Apportionment

The Maryland Committee for Fair Representation prepared to appeal Judge O. Bowie Duckett's ruling that the present makeup of the Maryland Senate is constitutional.

On the other hand Thomas B. Finan, attorney general, said he was "most gratified at the outcome." He said he felt anything else would have been a change of our form of government.

Those opposing the decision said they would like to have the opinion of the Court of Appeals before the November elections.

Judge Duckett, in drawing a parallel between the Maryland Legislature and the federal congress, said the Senate could be constitutionally based upon area and geographical location regardless of population.

He said the system protected minorities and prevented hasty, although popular, legislation at the time, preserved checks and balances and the republican form of government. "It is based on history, tradition and reason," he said.

Automotive Care Classes Planned For Areas

Gets Extra Topping

U. S. route 219 will receive an extra black topping in two separate areas within the next few weeks. The improvements will give the two portions of highway the same finish as adjoining sections have.

Mr. Gonder returned to Oakland last Thursday night after his meeting with John B. Funk, chairman of the Roads commission and attending other committee meetings of the Maryland Legislative council.

Mr. Gonder said the black topping would take place between the Hoxes road and Accident, some 2 1/2 miles, and also from Accident to the site of the new Bear Creek bridge, a stretch of more than two miles. He said the cost of the improvement would be in the neighborhood of $125,000.

Paul Naylor Observe 50th Wedding Event

Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, Oak and, observed their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, July 1 with a reception for around 400 guests at the Mt. Lake hotel, from 3 to 7 o'clock. Family and guests gathered for two breakfasts and a dinner, the latter held Sunday evening at the Four Seasons Dining room, Will o' the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Naylor were married June 27, 1912, and a description of the event appeared in The Republican at that time in the following manner:

"A beautiful home wedding was celebrated Thursday evening at the home of the bride, Miss Sarah Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Porter, became the bride of Mr. Paul B. Naylor, son of Mr. A. D. Naylor.

"The ceremony took place in the parlor of the residence and was performed by Dr. A. B. Riker, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church. Miss Rebecca Naylor (now Mrs. Maurice Wareham, Mt. Vernon, O.), was the flower girl. Miss Mary Porter, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Mr. Wellington Crane was the groomsmen."

The Porter home was the home now owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Dawson, Alder street.

In the receiving line for much of the occasion was A. D. Naylor, who passed his 100 year mark last September and is still well and alert. He also participated in the two breakfasts and the dinner.

Local Navy Man Aids In Freeing Freighter

The story of how the U. S. Navy freed a grounded ship in the vicinity of Guam, with Delbert R. Bittinger, of Mt. Lake Park one of two persons playing a dominant role, was fully covered in a newspaper called "Crossroads," published by service men on that island.

The June 22 issue carried complete details. Excerpts from it include:

"On May 8, 1962, Delbert R. Bittinger, Jr., MM1, and Thomas J. Wolfe, TM2, reported about U.S. Bolster from Ship Repair facility. Their mission—to free the Greek vessel Donna Ourania from Focklington Reef in the Coral Sea.

"Bittinger and Wolfe were chosen because of their vast experience. They had helped re-moor the AFDB-1 for typhoon defense, cleared the channel to Cocos island, opened Gag Gab beach and cut down the wreck of the Tokia Maru Osaka to make Apra Harbor more navigable.

"One hour after assignment the men were aboard ship with gear and 20 tons of explosives. Upon arriving they first dove to get the lay of the land, set off minor charges in the reef to test the density of the coral.

"The ship had been lightened yet remained 250 tons, aground at high tide. Water astern of the ship was too deep for the use of beach gear. As a result of their inspection they planned a wedge-shaped pattern for blasting, undermining the reef about 100 feet from both port and starboard beams to a point about 175 feet forward.

Twelve hours a day for four days equalled 85 dives by the pair in water 40 to 50 feet deep. In all they set 45 charges from 24 to 80 pounds using about one third of their 20 tons of explosives. They estimate that some 10,000 cubic yards of coral were moved in the operation which was made the more hazardous by presence of sharks, barracuda and groupers which did not attack but were always too close for comfort.

"They were commended for their successful efforts and awarded a commendatory Captain's mast. Among other things their commendations state 'Above and beyond your professional competence, your enthusiasm, hard work and perseverance were a dynamic force, inspiration to all who worked with you. They were also officially commended by the commanding officer.

They also received an all-expense paid trip to Australia, compliments of Ourania's insurance agency. When pulled free of the reef she went to Brisbane for drydocking, Bittinger and Wolfe had two days liberty before shoving off for one-day stays in Sydney and Darwin and the return trip to Guam via Manila.

Bittinger, from Mt. Lake Park, began his diving career at the U. S. S. ship salvage school in 1957. The same year he moved to the Deep Sea Diver school in Washington, D.C. His wife, Joan and their four months old daughter, Tina, live in Tipalao.

Omitted From Straight A's

The name of John Harmon, junior student at Northern High school, was omitted from the distinguished honor roll list which was published recently.

Through some mix-up of the records his name appeared on the honor roll but not in the distinguished list to which his actual grades entitled him. The correction was made this week by Mrs. Dorothy George, secretary of Northern High school.

New two year labor contracts by nation's five major aluminum producers provided no pay hike.

Man Pleads Innocent

Appearing without an attorney, John J. Hafer, Cumberland, pleaded innocent last Friday in the U. S. District Court, to a charge that he sold a tax agent.

Hafer told U. S. District Judge W. Calvin Chesnut "This trial is a very expensive proposition," while being arraigned.

A federal grand jury indicted Hafer June 12 on a charge of assaulting Milton Kybos, a special agent in the Intelligence Division of the Internal Revenue Service. Judge Chesnut finally permitted Hafer to represent himself at the arraignment but warned Hafer that he was facing serious charges and should have a lawyer when his case comes up for trial. Hafer said he would. The trial was tentatively set for August. Hafer's bond of $5,000 was continued.

Hafer is owner of property along U. S. 40, in this county.

Allegany county had one fatal accident with 39 persons being injured and property damage being caused in 49 other crashes.

More Of The Twist

Here are some additional excerpts from the recent speech of Senator Margaret Chase Smith, of Maine, on the analyzing of the "Kennedy Twist."

Freezing Defense Funds—Seeking votes before the national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Candidate Kennedy made a scathing attack on the impounding of defense funds by the Eisenhower administration, and stated, "These funds must be unfrozen and spent."

Yet, as soon as he took office President Kennedy impounded and froze defense funds voted by Congress and refused to spend them. Again "The Kennedy Twist"—a rhythm in reverse action.

For the Duration?—Preference in appointments will be given to those willing to commit themselves to stay on the job long enough to apply what they learn," said candidate Kennedy in October, 1960. But where is President Kennedy's first Secretary of the Navy? With the full blessing of the president, Secretary Connally left his vital post in national defense to seek a governorship along with that other pre-eminent Democrat, Major General Edwin A. Walker. This is the "Kennedy Twist" done to the tune of "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

Beans—In October, 1960, in radio-TV debate, candidate Kennedy said, "You can't tell me anyone who uses beans instead of meat ... is well fed or adequately fed." Early in 1961 President Kennedy's administration proudly announced it was making the pea bean "a part of the effort to expand and improve the quality of food for needy persons." The Kennedy Twist—with a game of bean bag between numbers.

PRESCRIPTION PRICES

How are prescription prices determined? We have a policy in this matter, the only one we can follow. We do not offer bargains in prescriptions—there is no cut-rate way to health. Nor do we pretend to under-sell. Prescription prices simply are determined by the cost of the ingredients and operating expense. The prices we charge are as low as satisfactory service and effective drugs will allow.

Congressman, 8th District, Maryland

At the end of the fiscal year, the House of Representatives was called upon to act upon the Trade

This provision, of course, would reduce the protection of certain American-made goods in return for access to foreign markets of other American goods. On the positive side, this bill contains some new and important guidelines for the exercise of Executive Power in the trading field, and, I think, improves the manner in which the President can utilize his authority. for those who think young

Today's big trend is toward a new, more lively leisure. People of all ages are leading the active life. They look for fun everywhere, find it in everything. This is thinking young. And this is the life for Pepsi—light, bracing, clean-tasting Pepsi. So think young. In stores, buy an extra carton. At fountains, say "Pepsi, please!"

AURORA - EGLON

Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Judy, Egdon, left on June 28 for Kalamazoo, Mich., where they plan to visit for several days with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray William Judy.

A recent guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Watling, of Brookside, was Mrs. Grace Hatton, Arlington, Va., a sister of Mrs. Watling.

Hoyle Fauber died June 30 in the veterans' hospital, Clarksburg, after a lengthy illness. Last rites were conducted Tuesday afternoon at the Aurora Methodist church. Interment was in the Aurora cemetery.

Week-end guests of relatives in the Egdon area were Mr. and Mrs. ing team, will compare favorably with those of other nations. We will continue, in essence, the old approach which goes back to the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act, but we are modernizing it and bringing it up to date.

The bill is, of course, not all good. There are some dangerous innovations in the bill, and actually, instead of freeing foreign trade, it could, if improperly administered, become a restrictive instrument. We can hope that neither the President nor his successors in office will allow it to be so administered as to be restrictive of foreign trade. Yet, there is that possibility of perversion.

This bill is also, I think, a danger to the Country in that it has been represented as the "the all and end all" of our foreign trade problems. Actually, we know that it is not. It is just one step which has been taken in the direction of a more vigorous and more rewarding foreign trade. As I commented during the debate, the trade agreements program has been both supported and opposed by many elements of the American business, industrial, and labor communities, but essentially this program is not going to answer all of our problems.

As we debated the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Program, I hoped that my colleagues were not blind to concomitant legislative programs which must accompany it if it is to achieve a fraction of its purpose. I believe very deeply that in addition to the Trade Expansion Program we must have some collection and what might be called "domestic ground rules" in order for American business to compete in world markets. Such changes should include first, a comprehensive reform of our tax structure, second, a realistic depreciation allowance, third, elimination of our inflationary trends and federal deficits, and fourth, encouragement of private investment in expanding markets of the world.

The decision of the House on the Trade Bill now makes it mandatory that we go forward and complete the job by solving these questions if we are going to place American business and industry and labor at an equal position in the market places of the world. The House of Representatives has assumed a very heavy responsibility. Although the Administration sought the enactment of the Trade Bill, I am not sure that it is equipped to go forward and give the other answers that I have called for, and I believe the Congress must supply these answers in the coming months and years.

Miss Wanda Bailey Bride Of David Nace

Miss Wanda Elaine Bailey, of Charlottesville, Va., became the bride of David Anderson Nace, of Oakland, on Saturday, June 23, at Grove Avenue Methodist church in Radford, Va.

The Rev. Arthur H. Jones conducted the service. Tom Nace, brother of the groom, served as acolyte.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Arthur H. Jones, organist, played selections by Mozart, Franck, Handel, and J. S. Bach. Miss Martha Ann Simmons, Alta Vista, Va., friend of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love" and "Sheep May Safely Graze" by J. S. Bach. The congregation joined in singing the hymn "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us." For the procession, Mrs. Jones played "Trumpet Voluntary in D Major" by Purcell and for the recessional, "Now Thank We All Our God."

Miss Dorothy Eller, Salem, Va., served as maid of honor. Miss Cynthia Nace, friend of the bride and sister of the groom, served as bridesmaid.

Best man was Michael I. Keller, Franklin, N. J., fraternity brother of the groom. William D. Nace, Harrisburg, Pa., brother of the groom, served as usher.

Given in marriage by John P. Roane, Sr., Radford, Va., the bride wore a white, floor-length gown and a fingertip veil. She carried a white prayer book, gift of the Wesley Foundation girls topped with white orchids and Stephanotis.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Methodist Student center.

The bride was graduated from Albemarle County High school, Va., in 1958 and from Radford college, Radford, Va., this spring. She is currently employed by Naval Ordnance Laboratories in Silver Spring. This fall she will teach elementary school in Elkridge, Md.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Nace, South Third street, Oakland. He is a 1955 graduate of Southern High school. He was graduated this spring from Drexel Institute of Technology, Philadelphia, Pa. He is employed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Greenbelt.

Following a wedding trip to Tennessee, the couple will reside at 10212 Sutherland Road, Silver Spring.

Oakland-White Rock Win Double Headers

Oakland and White Rock won double headers Sunday and continued to run 1-2 and two games apart in the Town and Country Softball League pennant race.

Mt. Storm dropped both ends of its twin bill to Oakland, 11-1, and 4-2 in ten innings, while the Slagle's, Mervin and Dan, hurled the Rock to a pair of wins over ellin, 17-2 and 13-5. Mervin Slagle, southpaw, made his record 7-0 while Dan made it 5-2. White Rock racked up a total of 26 hits in the double bill.

The double victory extended Oakland's winning streak to eight games.

George Stewart received credit for both wins. He went the route in the opener and supplanted Irving Wolf in the eighth inning of the nightcap to register his eighth triumph without a setback.

Wins By Forfeit

Lonaconing was unable to field more than eight players for its game at Grantsville Sunday in the Pen Mar Baseball league and lost via the forfeit route. Grantsville sluggers took over the runner-up spot in the league as a result of the forfeit.

Frostburg won over Barrelville in 11 innings 10-9 to remain in the first place position.

Dad and Butch are both getting a big kick out of this. If Butch catches a fish — even a minnow — it's hard to say who will be the prouder.

We suspect, though, that it will be Dad. He'd probably give this little man all the fish in the ocean, if he could!

He is giving him things that really count. Good clean fun and happiness, a sense of sportsmanship, and that special man-to-man bond between father and son. And because his son means so much to him, Dad takes Butch to the services of their church each week.

Boys have to do a lot of growing to get to be men. It takes a lot to keep them growing the right way. Weekly church and church school attendance is a big step forward. Don't keep your child from taking it!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the nearest factor on earth to the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

23 Years Deaf

Lesson for July 8, 1962

THE woods were full of prophets back in times when the nation of Judah was plunging to its doom. For every single true prophet there were scores of false prophets. Now when different men see different pictures of the future, how shall we know which is telling the truth and which is just "seeing things"?

Dr. Foreman Readers of the Bible are inclined to blame the people of Israel for not paying attention to the prophets who spoke to them in the name and with the message of God. We think we could not have been so foolish as those people were. But we can't throw too many stones. We have to remember that the true prophets were in a small minority, and also that the false prophets said what people wanted to hear. Isn't it true today that we would rather listen to cheerful predictions than gloomy ones?

What is God Doing?
In times of deep trouble, such as war or other disaster, a common question especially among religious people is: What is God doing? Why doesn't he stop these disasters? Now there are some calamities which we can be saved from only if we ourselves do something about it. God will not save us from just any jam we care to get into. Those long-ago Israelites, for example, had plenty of warning. Jeremiah and others had told them and told them again, just what was going to be, unless the nation radically changed its ways. Read the terrible 19th chapter, where Jeremiah predicts that these elegant city people will end by becoming cannibals, out of sheer desperate starvation. God says: "I will break this city so that it cannot be mended." Through Jeremiah

Sermonette By Area Ministers

By Rev. M. L. Brown
Pastor, Church of the Nazarene

Prayer, intense prayer, that secures audience with the Almighty God develops the power of concentration, an effective culture of the mind. The man who can pray must believe in a real God, a God who "before the mountains were brought forth, or ever had formed the earth and the world even from everlasting to everlasting."

Our God marks every sparrow's fall, hears the cry of every hungry child, calls the choir of heaven to rejoice over every returning wanderer from the far country, hears prayer and brings comfort to every disappointed soul. He holds our salvation, through Christ to all, the rich, the poor, the forlorn, the forsaken, the heart-broken, the distressed, the sinner and to the discouraged soul who has failed. God with His great loving heart is bending over us and is ready to lift us out of our difficulties if we will only look to Him in prayer and faith.

The man who can really pray must be able to put the square and plumbline of God's Word to his life and keep a conscience void of offense toward God and man. The man who can really pray has a clear vision. Prayer enlarges our vision, strengthens our faith, thus increasing our usefulness. Little praying, like a little learning, is a dangerous thing. Paul said, "Men should pray everywhere." Jesus said, "Men ought always to pray and not to faint."

Jesus and Paul had in mind real praying and not a pretense. Praying that has no heart in it, no soul, no worship, no purpose, no passionate desire, no faith; praying that is mockery, praying that is a pretense, praying that is a salve for a guilty conscience, that is Phariseism. "Who for a pretense, make long prayers."

Christ's farewell address to his disciples given at the Last Supper just before his suffering, was crowded with the thought that all the future success of his church depended upon prayer and the coming of the Comforter. God's plans are helped on by effective prayer or hindered by a lack of prayer.

Jehoshaphat prayed and won a great battle. Hezekiah prayed and God sent Isaiah to tell him this, "I have heard thy prayer, I have seen thy tears, behold I will add unto thy days fifteen years."

When we crowd prayer aside to make room for other things, we insult God, and rob ourselves of the strength necessary for the performance of our duties. When we fail to get our prayers through for want of persistence we rob God of the glory due to His Name, cripple and weaken our faith and lay the foundation for discouragement and defeat.

U. S. SENATOR, MARYLAND

"So Help Me God"

Seldom have I witnessed so unanimous an opinion among the American people that last week's Supreme Court decision against the recitation of a daily prayer in New York public schools was both unwise and unnecessary.

The majority of the Court ruled that the prayer in question, only 22 words long and strictly non-denominational, was un-Constitutional because the State government of New York had composed it and because teachers on the State payroll led their classes in reciting the prayer although no student was forced to participate against his wishes. Stretching logic to its breaking point, the majority argued that such procedure was a violation of the "wall of separation" between church and state and if carried to its ultimate end would result in, of all things, the sort of religious persecution that drove the founders of this Nation from Europe to the New World!

The lone dissenter, Mr. Justice Potter Stewart, expressed his sharp disagreement almost plaintively: "I cannot see how an official religion" is established by letting those who want to say a prayer say it." Justice Stewart pointed out that what is at issue is not "Sixteenth Century England" or "Eighteenth Century America" but the long tradition of religion in America as reflected in the "countless practices of the institutions and officials of our government."

Mr. Justice Douglas took advantage of the occasion to suggest that any prayer or religious exercise in a governmental institution is un-Constitutional. (He specifically mentioned the daily opening prayer of Congress and the daily convening ceremony of the Supreme Court itself.) Apparently, Justice Douglas and the other justices did not conceive of the great real possibility that a tiny atheistic minority could use the New York decision to thwart the religious practices of an overwhelmingly devout majority. The end result of the New York decision could well amount to a "tyranny of the minority."

I suggest that Justice Douglas and the other members of the majority all re-read and ponder on the following oath which they took before donning their robes as justices:

"I, . . . do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will administer justice without respect to persons, and do equal right to the poor and to the rich, and that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent upon me as . . . according to the best of my abilities and understanding, agreeably to the Constitution and laws of the United States. So help me God." (Emphasis added.)

Too Much Power . . .

Too much power by labor leaders was treated in an article by Dr. George S. Benson, president of National Education Association, of St. Louis, Mo.

"We have had since 1890 anti-trust laws that were meant to prevent business monopolies that would lead to restraint of trade," he said. So many other government regulations and orders have followed that businessmen today wonder whether trade is being restrained by the government. "In our limitations on power there is one area that has largely escaped. Some particular elements of organized labor, encouraged by political favoritism for more than 25 years, have amassed power that exceeds any other the concentration of power this nation has ever experienced," said Dr. Benson.

Senator McClellan has introduced a bill to bring certain activities and abuses of power among unions in the transportation industry under the restraint of Federal anti-trust laws. The bill recognizes the strategic nature of transportation and its importance to the nation's commerce, progress and security. A shutdown of transportation could bring immediate public disaster.

Senator McClellan, along with many others, believes that such power as that possessed by James Hoffa, Teamsters union, and Harry Bridges, Longshoremen, has never been held by any business. No sovereign state would ever be allowed to pass laws that would obstruct interstate commerce.

The senator emphasized this was a dangerous situation that would be unthinkable under our system of government even if these two men were the most honest and most patriotic citizens in the country. But the power to stop transportation gives the power of economic life or death.

The Senator further aptly said: "If our heritage of freedom is to be preserved, if self-government by our people is to endure and if our nation is to survive, we must remain vigilant and strong and not permit any man, any group of men, or any force or organization to achieve domination over our economy or control over our free institutions. No individual group or class of our citizens or any combination or organization should be permitted to stand apart from or above the law. This is the challenge we face, and we must do something about it."

This is no particular criticism of labor, but a criticism of the unlimited power amassed in the hands of certain labor leaders and constituting a danger to labor, industry and the general public. This country should do something to correct the problem.

Two Diesel Units, 35 Cars Derail Saturday

Two Diesel locomotive units and 35 cars of a B. and O. railroad freight train were derailed Saturday morning about five miles west of Terra Alta.

The train derailed on the Cumberland and had 78 loads of merchandise destined for St. Louis. No one was injured in the derailment. Davon L. Murphy, LaVale, was engineer and P. J. Goss, conductor.

The wrecked cars were strewn across the tracks and all trains were rerouted out of Cumberland via Connellsville and Fairmont, and thence to Grafton.

As the train proceeded westward the fifth and sixth Diesel units derailed and were followed by the next 35 freight cars. The first four Diesel units did not derail.

Railroad crews opened one of the tracks on Sunday and had the other tracks cleared the following day.

Enters Guilty Plea To Bigamy Charge

Howard Curtin Chaney was given a hearing yesterday afternoon in the Circuit court on a charge of bigamy. The formal charge was "being married by him to Patricia Ann Brown, a resident of Pennsylvania, he was arrested one day last week near York and brought to Garrett county."

Chaney entered a plea of guilty before Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill and was sentenced to serve three years in the Maryland penitentiary. The sentence was suspended upon condition that he contribute to the support of a child of the first marriage. He was placed under supervision of the parole department. The second marriage was declared null and void.

The only other case in the court this week concerned a juvenile from Kittimill who was brought in upon a bench warrant for violation of his parole. The probation was revoked and the youth was placed in custody of the sheriff pending further disposition of the case. He was originally placed on parole as the result of non-attendance at school.

Fined For Driving Under Influence Of Liquor

Robert Cottiv, McHenry, was given a hearing before Trial Magistrate John W. Holman, Friendsville, on Tuesday on charges of driving under the influence of liquor, reckless driving and operating without a license.

National Sailing Championship To Be Held On Lake

Deep Creek Yacht Club To Be Host For Event August 1-4

The Rebel Class National Sailing Championship will be held at the Deep Creek Yacht club on Deep Creek Lake in events Wednesday through Saturday, August 1-4. The series will constitute the first national competition to be sailed at this twenty-two-year-old club.

Commodore John E. Geare, of Cumberland, who is also a Rebel skipper, said entries received indicate that about fifty of the 16-foot fiberglass Rebels from eight states will compete.

Defending national champion David C. Mahan, Morgantown, W. Va., twenty-year-old West Virginia University junior and Marine reservist, a member of the host club, Mahan captured the Maryland State Rebel crown here last year while on leave from Marine training camp and went on to win the national title on Lake Erie.

The national championship for the class will be decided in a series of five races beginning Thursday morning, August 2, with weigh-in and measurement on Wednesday, August 1. The annual meeting of the class association will be held Wednesday evening.

The series of races will be sailed over a triangular beat-run-and-reach course directly in front of the clubhouse on Turkey Neck Point. The course has been used for many years by the club's Rebel, Snipe and Flying Scot fleets and is considered an unusually fair test of small-boat racing.

The Rebel nationals will follow the Deep Creek Yacht Club's annual regatta the previous weekend, Saturday and Sunday, July 28-29, when the Maryland State Rebel, Snipe and Flying Scot championships will be decided. The club regatta will also include a J/24 series if indicated entries justify the event.

Chairman of the Registration committee for both the National and State events is Past Commodore John E. Schmitt, 17 N. Liberty street, Cumberland.

The host Deep Creek Yacht club has a spacious clubhouse with large grounds. It has ample facilities for contestants and spectators with trailer parking and camping for contestants only.

An appropriate social program will accompany the racing events. Hotel and motel accommodations in Oakland and Mt. Lake Park are available.

Motorboats Collide at Deep Creek Sunday

A hearing is set for Saturday before Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney as a result of a near head-on crash of two powerful motorboats on Deep Creek Lake Sunday evening, Leon Friend, game warden, presided.

Friend said one boat was damaged beyond repair while the other was badly damaged.

Eight persons were in the two craft. All were shaken up but only one slightly injured.

One boat powered with a 15-horsepower motor was operated by Robert Warnick, Luke, while the other, with a 70-horsepower motor, was driven by Benjamin Mamolen, Westport. The mishap occurred in the Hazlehurst area, about 50 yards from shore.

Neither of the craft sank and the operators managed to get them to shore. Warnick had three stitches in his right arm to close a laceration.

A physician who had been vacationing in the area attended to him and examined the others. Warnick had five young girls in his boat while Mamolen had his 15-year-old son with him.

Friend said neither could give any reason for not seeing the other boat in time to avert the collision. He said the operators saw each other when they were about 15 feet apart.

Charges have been filed against both operators.

Charges were filed in the office of Magistrate Maroney this week against Edward F. Sturm, Beaver Falls, Pa., for having insufficient lights on his boat. He was fined $10 and costs but the fine was suspended.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur DeWitt are planning to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at their home in Mt. Lake Park on Sunday, July 15, with an open house. The hours will be from 3 to 6 p. m.

Adults, Juveniles Found Guilty In Allegany Hearings

Three adults were fined and three juveniles given suspended sentences Monday in juvenile court in Allegany county in connection with several breaking and entering and larceny cases in the Frostburg area last month.

The adults were found guilty of receiving and transporting stolen goods and contributing to the delinquency of minors, while the juveniles were found guilty on burglary charges.

The adults were listed as Ronald Lee Beachy, 22, of Grantsville; Norva T. Miller, 26, of Frostburg; and Sherman Andrew Heltz, 18, of Graftonville. They were found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of minors and fined $25 each by Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin.

The juveniles, ages 17 and 11, were given suspended sentences in the Maryland Training School and placed on strict probation.

Magistrate Fatkin also ordered the traversers to make restitution of $39 each for merchandise which was stolen in two burglaries.

The six persons involved were arrested last week by Tte. Bernard F. Chabot. The case was prosecuted last Friday by James S. Grotz, state's attorney for Allegany county, but Magistrate Fatkin withheld decision in the case until Monday.

Parents of two of the older ones involved stated yesterday that their sons were not involved in the breaking and entering but had been most indiscreet in assisting the juveniles following the thefts by the delinquents.

Two Resignations Leave Big Hole At Southern High

Mrs. Ruth Brown And Earl Adolfsen Accept Assignments Elsewhere

Two positions on the Southern High school teaching staff became vacant during the week with announcements of resignations of Mrs. Ruth Brown as music instructor, and Earl "Whitey" Adolfsen, as physical education instructor and football coach. The positions will be particularly hard to fill.

Adolfsen told W. Kenneth Johns, principal, that he had had a long time desire to return to his native Weston, W. Va., and when the opportunity presented itself he could not do anything else but accept.

"Whitey" leaves the Highlanders after three years with a record of 15 victories and 11 defeats. They broke even in his first season with a 4-4 mark, were 3-4 in 1960 and last fall compiled the best record in the history of the grid sport at Southern with 6-3.

Mr. Johns said he had accepted Adolfsen's resignation with a great deal of regret. "Not only is he an excellent instructor in fundamentals, but he had the confidence of our boys and the respect of the community."

At Western High the 30-year-old instructor will coach three sports—football, basketball and baseball. Father of two daughters and a son, Adolfsen came to Southern in 1959 as successor to Dick Travis who became athletic director. Adolfsen came to Southern from Elizabeth High School in West Virginia.

The resignation comes as the opening of football practice at Maryland high schools is just a little more than a month away.

Mrs. Brown has been an instructor in Garrett county schools since 1922, except for a year or two in the 1930's. She came here the year that her sister, the late Miss Katherine Conley, came to Oakland High school as principal. Mrs. Brown taught Latin and music and eventually devoted her full time to music. Mr. Johns remarked that the school was losing one of its best known teachers. Her musical programs, operettas, and holiday presentations have been considered outstanding through the years.

Mrs. Brown has accepted a position in Woodlawn Junior High school where Cornelius E. Gierdel, a former teacher at Oakland High school, is now the principal.

"Someone Waiting" is a suspense drama by Evelyn Williams, whose "Night Must Fall" is considered a murder thriller of all time, will be the second attraction at the Garrett County Playhouse for the week beginning July 17.

Dealing with a father's elaborate scheme to avenge the execution of his innocent son for a murder he did not commit, the mystery details an ingenious murder plan which far surpasses the original crime.

The action takes place in an automobile magnate's London flat where a headline strangulation murder has been committed. Central character is a soft-spoken tutor who is ostensibly drilling the magnate's surly adopted son for a law examination. The boy, who hates his adopted parents, is the first to detect the grim avenger behind his tutor's humble mask—and to learn that he is the father of the young man who has been unjustly hanged.

The play's suspense lies in the fact that the avenging father, once he has tracked down the real killer and outlined the perfect revenge—murder, is thwarted by a series of frustrating obstacles which constantly force him to improvise. In his final improvisation he resorts to an act of extraordinary heroism and cunning in order to attain his dedicated purpose.

Neil Flanagan will play the outraged father. Stephen Ben Isaac will have the role of the plianting executive while Helene Paige will play his high-strung wife who hides a family secret. Jim Gates will appear as the neurotic adopted son. Tom Calkins is to direct the cast which also includes Amy Atkins, secretary, Mary Ann Craig, maid and Patti Dillon, Cockney mother of the maid.

Over 140 persons were on hand for the opening of this week's play, "The Marriage-Go-Round." This play will continue nightly including Saturday, at the Playhouse at McHenry.

Job Exchange Termed A Little Unusual

A peculiar exchange of jobs took place recently, and still more peculiar, those making the exchange lived in towns of the same name.

Woodrow Warnick, who has a postal route out of U. S. Deer Park post office, in addition to his work as an upholsterer, recently made an exchange with Max Brinson, of near Deer Park, Texas. The exchange, of course, had the approval of the U. S. Postoffice department. Brinson held a similar position in the Texas community.

Brinson is now residing temporarily at the home of Grant Friend in Deer Park, Mr. and Mrs. Warnick left Deer Park, Maryland, for Deer Park, Texas, about two weeks ago. He sold his upholstery business to two brothers, William and Mason Madigan.

Mr. Brinson is in Chicago, Ill., this week, leaving the mail delivery duties to William Clatterback, substitute.

Cranesville Swamp Is Topic For July 18 Meeting of AAUW

"Highlights of the Cranesville process," as told by Romeo John Mansueti, a biologist of the fisheries division of the Chesapeake Biological laboratory, will feature the coming meeting of the American Association of University Women, scheduled for Wednesday evening, July 18, at 8 o'clock, at the Center street school.

The program is a continuation of the club's theme "Developing Our Sense of Wonder," which has included herbs, geological formations, ferns, flowers, and others.

In addition to the program on July 18, a field trip to the swamp has been arranged which will be headed by Paul Herndon, of LaVale, a conservation specialist. This will be conducted on Thursday, July 26, beginning at 1 o'clock from the Center street school.

Mr. Mansueti, the speaker, is a native of Harrisburg, Pa., and was educated in Baltimore City College, the University of Maryland and Johns Hopkins university. He is a senior physiologist, devoting his time to investigations of fish eggs, larvae and young, does population work with white perch, striped bass, reviews research projects of associates and does administrative work associated with legislative, departmental and federal activities.

Is Your Name RINGER?

Ringer has been used extensively as a surname for a number of centuries. It is of occupational meaning. According to most authorities on the origin of names, it was applied in mediaeval times to bell ringers or, in particular, to those whose job it was to ring a church or town bell at stated times.

John Ringer (1752-1827) served as a private in the Maryland troops during the Revolutionary War. The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has listings of Conrad, Jacob, John and Matthias Ringer who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time. The first three lived in Washington county and Matthias Ringer made his home in Frederick county.

According to "The Pennsylvania German Pioneers" published by the Pennsylvania German Society and listing the immigrant arrivals at the Port of Philadelphia from 1727 to 1808, Andreas Ringer arrived on the ship "Nancy" on September 20, 1738; Hans Ulrich Ringer came on the ship "Francis and Elizabeth" on August 30, 1743; and Frederick Ringer arrived on the ship "Chance" on September 13, 1764.

Virginia A. Ringer was a school teacher in the Oakland district of Garrett county during the year ending May 13, 1881.

There are five references to persons by the name of Ringer in the latest directory of Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society. Sydney Ringer (1835-1910) was a noted English physician and medical writer.

Paul Henry Ringer (1881-1952) of Asheville, N. C., was a distinguished physician and surgeon. He practiced his profession in Asheville for forty-four years and served as president of the North Carolina Medical Society, the Southern Tuberculosis Conference and the Asheville Community Chest.

William Raimond Ringer, an attorney of note, is chief trial examiner, National Labor Relations Board, Washington, D. C.

Robert Kosel Ringer is associate professor of political science, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich.

"In God We Trust"—This past week I introduced in the United States Senate an Amendment to the Constitution which would permit prayer in public schools. My action followed closely on the heels of the unpopular ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court holding that prayer in our public schools violated the Constitutional provision for freedom of religion. If it requires a Constitutional Amendment to make such prayer legally permissible, then I say let us have such an amendment. The men who wrote our Constitution would doubtless be stunned at the Court's interpretation of their handiwork, for they were believers in a Supreme Being and in the Holy Bible and most of them were devoutly spiritual men. Our nation is historically and basically a religious nation. Public meetings are customarily opened with a solemn prayer to the Divine. Oaths of public office are taken in the name of the God we worship.

Obnoxious as it is, the ruling may be technically correct. It would not be the first time the U. S. Supreme Court has closed its eyes to what is right and just in order to be Constitutionally correct. A few years ago, it ordered the U. S. Government to reinstate Mr. John Service who had been fired for taking sensitive documents from the State Department, photographing them at his home, and delivering the photographs to a Russian agent, the court ruling being based solely on the grounds that the damning evidence against Mr. Service had been obtained by illegal wiretapping. Because of the Court's adherence to technicality, we saw Mr. Service continue to operate in various important positions in the State Department, including that of U. S. Consul General in Liverpool, England.

If the Court must adhere to technicality—and it appears it must—then, in the case of prayer in public schools, my amendment, if passed by Congress and approved by three fourths of the States, would relieve the Court of having to decide against a basic American concept of a devout people—a people who even print on their money the motto: "In God We Trust." Laos Settlement: "Neutralist" Government Installed.—The U. S. State Department has professed "great satisfaction" over the installation last week of a new provisional government in Laos, a coalition of Communists, pro-Communists and "neutrals." Anti-Communists have no place in the new order. Communists hailed the new turn of events as "a blow to American imperialism."

It's a little difficult to understand why our State Department felt such "great satisfaction," particularly in view of the predominant Communist representation in the so-called coalition and the inevitability of the taking-over by the Communists.

According to the news dispatch, our State Department officials "expressed hope that they can soon begin talks with Prince Souvanna about future United States aid to Laos, which, they added, probably will be in larger amount than in the past. (Oh! Maybe that's why the State Department boys are so satisfied? They do like to give away American dollars.)

Farm Bill Defeat: A Good Sign.—When the House of Representatives voted down Secretary Freeman's farm bill, most of the nation took a sigh of relief, but Mr. Freeman and other in the Administration cried, "Disaster!" Had the Administration won, farmers would have had an exasperating decision to make in a referendum to follow—the loaded "choice" of accepting quota limits on their sales or else taking sharply reduced price supports with the Government dumping its surpluses on their markets.

Had Mr. Freeman and the Administration won, the Government would have faced very difficult problems of enforcement of the marketing quotas, resulting in bureaucratic expense and widespread opportunity for fraud. The case of Billie Sol Estes, the Texas operator, is but a sample of what can happen when we give a few people the power to decide who gets what. The Administration farm bill which was defeated would have extended this awesome power. As grain storage facilities have been greatly overbuilt, there isn't enough storage business to go around, and so, somebody in the Agriculture Department now decides who gets it—who will be allowed to make money and who goes broke. Secretary Freeman wanted to add disarray to the system—and doubtless he will try again. The Administration has patronage and punishment to dispense. I believe it would be dangerous to add one iota to such power to punish or dispense favors, such power to decide who doesn't make money and who does, and how much. When people have to seek favors in order to prosper or even survive, all manner of skulduggery is inevitable.

The price support program was started in the 1930's as a "farmer's tariff" to bolster rural incomes, but it got completely out of hand and tended to become habit-forming. Farmers are now victims, rather than beneficiaries, of the subsidy-and-control program.

Possibly, in the wake of the defeat in the House, Congress will become willing to consider some gradual working down of the price-support levels—gradual withdrawing or reducing subsidies and letting markets begin to find their own levels. The negative vote in the House may be the signal that the country is in a mood to consider lifting the foot off the accelerator pedal, a little at a time, and seeing if the nation's agriculture machine will not settle into a reasonable speed without stalling.

A "second-try" farm bill without the expansion features, merely extending for one year the present voluntary programs, would no doubt pass. Then, we could start making careful plans for a gradual withdrawing of the onerous program.

Defense Contracts: Redistribution.—A major shift in the geographical distribution of Defense contracts has been announced by the Pentagon. California and the Eastern seaboard states from Massachusetts to Maryland will gain by the shift. Midwestern states will be the losers. "Revolutionary changes in weaponry" are held partially responsible for the redistribution. Formerly, mass production of tanks, ammunition and other conventional weapons made up the bulk of our orders, while today there is great emphasis on research and development of more sophisticated arms and production of fewer, but more costly, units of missiles and electronics. It was pointed out that California and Maryland and the other Eastern seaboard states now hold 71% of all military research and development contracts, and thus are in an "exceptionally strong position" for new production orders.

Disarmament—Why Not Try It?—I think my correspondent is pulling my leg, but what she writes is a pretty good analogy of the disarmament problem.

"Dear Senator Beall: I suggest that before committing our nation to total disarmament, it be tried on a limited scale—perhaps in Washington, D. C. All law enforcement agencies could be disarmed, and the unlawful elements asked to abide by the rules and then trusted not to use their weapons. If this small scale operation proved successful over a period of months, it could then be tried on a national scale. If still successful in the experiment, we could logically proceed to a world-wide application of disarmament and peaceful coexistence. Sincerely,

Expresses Alarm Over Supreme Court Ruling

To the Editor:
I wish to agree and concur with the expression of thought contained in your recent editorial regarding the Supreme Court ruling banning religious devotion and prayer from our public school system. As a teacher of young adults in Sunday School and as chairman of the Character and Spiritual Guidance Council for our Garrett County P-T-A Council, I feel greatly alarmed over the possible consequences of this momentous decision. I firmly believe that the foundation for sound moral integrity and righteous living must be founded upon our faith in the Creator of this world, Almighty God, and I am convinced of the reality and power of sincere prayer. It appears within the realm of possibility that it will only be a matter of time before the interpretation of this decision by our highest court will remove "In God We Trust" from our country's coins and "Under God" from our flag pledge. This interpretation may eliminate prayer, devotion, and chaplain service from the Armed Forces and the various branches of representative government. Even public devotion and prayer in P-T-A groups, scout groups, or any other public organization could be challenged.

The fact is that this decision is a real victory for the cause of communism. I can picture the headlines of Pravda, Russia's leading newspaper, "U. S. Highest Court Renounces the 'Diet of Their God' or 'U. S. High Court Deals Blow To Democracy' or 'U. S. Moves Toward Communist Ideals By Renouncing Religious Heritage.'" Let us not lessen the reality of this consequence.

I think we are approaching a critical hour in our freedom to choose and I believe we should see the handwriting on the wall. It is past time for Christians to be "steadfast and unmovable" but rather to "choose ye this day." The churches need to understand their responsibility and rise to the cause with boldness and conviction. People have become so complacent and self-satisfied that they no longer possess an "external vision" for the future. The Bible says in effect that "without a vision the people perish." Proverbs 29:18. Public apathy is at the highest level in our history. We have more people going to church and more college students taking religious courses than ever before, but yet morality is deteriorating sharply. Why is it that we cannot learn from the experience of Bible history? We need to review the conditions of morality and life that existed in Judah prior to being destroyed by the Babylonians. We need to understand the parallel that our adversary is the devil with his evil cohorts. The Apostle Paul said, "We wrestle not against flesh and blood but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of darkness of this world, against evil spirits, wickedness in high places." Ephesians 6:12.

Why should the majority of people under a democratic form of government suffer because of contrary ideas or whims of a minority when dealing with a matter of national heritage under God? Why should we be restrained and inhibited by the imposition of our freedom of choice—that freedom for which our founding fathers fought and gave their lives?

I am grateful for the courage and conviction of our own U. S. Senator from Maryland, J. Glenn Beall, who displayed high ideals and intelligence in his remarks to the Senate. Senator Beall stated, "By tradition America is a God-fearing nation and prayers in public schools are a daily reminder to the country's youth that our historic separation of church and state does not imply a divorcing of God from country." In Mr. Beall's words, "The Constitution gives people freedom of religion, not freedom from religion."

I urge every responsible parent and citizen who is interested in the future course of this nation to send a letter or wire to our own U. S. Senator and House Representative requesting a reversal of this Supreme Court ruling banning prayer and devotion from public school education. As Edward Everett Hale has so ably said, "I am only one, but still I am one. I cannot do everything, but still I can do something; and because I can do something, I will not refuse to do the something that I can do." May God grant that we may maintain a representative form of government, of the people, by the people, and for the people. Alvin P. Friend, D.P.S., Deep Creek Village, Oakland, Maryland

Endurance A Test . . .

Endurance is a test of greatness. For our Nation, the test began 186 years ago in Philadelphia when 56 American patriots signed the Declaration of Independence. From that historic moment on, the bells of freedom in our land have rung loud and clear—a triumphant message to a troubled world that America is indeed a beacon of hope for oppressed, freedom-loving people.

On the anniversary of that auspicious occasion we should give humble thanks to God for the spiritual heritage won by these men of destiny. Our freedom, prosperity, and stature as a world power are attestations to their far-reaching efforts. We should rededicate ourselves to the constant support and eternal preservation of the self-evident truths which were so dear to them.

Unfortunately, in some circles today the apologetic approach to patriotism is becoming fashionable. The faith and principles which withstood the ravages of wars, subversion and crime over the years are almost passe. Any exhibitions of national pride and reverence for the American flag are merely by rote. The burning zeal of patriotism which was in the hearts of the Men of 76 in many instances has turned to selfishness, apathy, and indulgence.

To my mind, this is a dangerous trend. It is a departure from the ideals which typify the American way of life, and it is a grievous example for our impressionable youth. The seeds of doubt germinate quickly in their fertile minds. Recently, one precocious high school editor is said to have proclaimed that "patriotism has outlived its usefulness" and that to be patriotic in our time "is to be a blindly stupid human being." God forbid that such misguided observations should reflect the reasoning of any sizeable segment of our youth.

There was no diluted patriotism at Independence Hall; nor were there any combat "turncoats" at Valley Forge. These are latter-day by-products of decadent thinking. They represent a compromise of the moral and spiritual issues so vital to our survival. There can be no compromise where the cause of freedom is concerned.

Our history is replete with the names of patriots who paid the supreme sacrifice in winning and protecting our priceless heritage. These were men of action—men whose extraordinary deeds bespoke their belief in a Nation conceived in liberty and dedicated to the equality of all men. Today, perhaps as never before, America has need for deeds of extraordinary deeds, men and women with the moral strength and courage of our forefathers. The smoldering embers of patriotism should be fanned into a flaming spirit of loyalty so that the whole would know Americans will stand, fight, and die for the dignity of man.

We of law enforcement share in this noble cause. We must not only help preserve the high ideals of our great Republic but we must also be certain that there is no invasion of the rights and liberties of the individual from any source.

As patriotic Americans, let us not fail the test of greatness. On the contrary, let us assure that this Nation, under God, shall remain free, and that our Government of the people, by the people, and for the people will endure. John Edgar Hoover, Federal Bureau of Investigation, speaking to law enforcement officers.

Wake Up America . . .

Mr. Editor, your column in last week's paper was well spoken and I hope it reaches many who are forgetting the meaning of our flag. Not so many years ago on the Fourth of July just about every house, automobile, or any place one looked had a flag flying. This Fourth of July I saw one car that had flags flying but not a house anywhere did I see with a flag. I want to say our flag flies every day that it is not raining.

As you stated, Krushchev remarked that the red flag would fly over the U.S.A. on the 4th. Mr. American, do you want to see that?

Well, just put pleasure before our flag and you are sure inviting just that.

So Mr. Editor, keep your good work going—and Mr. American—stop and think.

Oakland, idle Sunday, took a two-game lead as a result of second place White Rock splitting even with Rich Smith and Peg Clark. Mt. Storm batterymates, wallowed home in each game in 13-1 and 7-3 victories over Crellin.

Smith went the route in both contests, turning in two and three-hit performances to make his season record 8-5. The four other league teams were idle on Sunday.

Church Women Meet

United Lutheran Church Women of Zion church, Jennings, met July 8 at the home of Mrs. Donald Hettick. Miss Myrtle Custer introduced the topic, "Leisure That Re-Creates," to a group of nine.

The theme led each woman to examine how much leisure time she actually had and how she spent it. Suggestive types of leisure time activities fell under the categories of re-creation through self improvement, sharing in family and community creative activities.

Mrs. Joe Resh presided. Projects adopted included a package of practical items for National Lutheran Home in Washington, endeavor to make the local organization 100 percent life membership, and presentation of altar flowers in memory of a late pastor and on veterans' day.

Lutheran mission in Malaya will be discussed at the August meeting, with Mrs. Joe Resh as leader. The quarterly thank offering will be received.

Prior to the meeting the group entertained children who had attended vacation church school at a picnic dinner. Thirty-three attended. The school was held June 18-29 with 28 studying "Let's Learn About God." A correlated art projects period was held in conjunction. Nine had perfect attendance and sixteen received certificates for "faithful attendance."

Review of The Play

By Aza Stanton

Ah, sweet Summer! We begin another pleasurable season at the Garrett County Playhouse with a delightfully audacious comedy called "The Marriage-Go-Round." It is a well-chosen play for an "opener"—or perhaps we should say, "eye-opener."

The play was first presented by Paul Gregory at the Plymouth Theatre, New York, on October 29, 1958. It has just recently been released for Summer Theatre presentation. A long and successful run was accorded the risible Broadway effort which starred Charles Boyer and Claudette Colbert. Author Leslie Stevens, having written another play of note, "Champane Complex," weaves a highly unlikely plot in "Marriage-Go-Round." It concerns the problem encountered in a happy marriage of long standing when it is seriously threatened by a comely Swedish blonde who is "hell-bent" on having the devoted husband father a child for her. The situation is made more impossible by the fact that the husband is a somewhat straight-laced Professor of Cultural Anthropology and the wife is a Dean of Women, both of whom are considerably older than the flushed and passionate, young and lovely interloper. The play employs a labyrinthine series of switch-backs from lecture hall to parlor so skillfully handled that they are easy to follow and give the reactions of the participants explanation and understanding which might not otherwise be obtainable. We must applaud director Tom Calkins for the ingenious use of lighting and sets which provide an unusual amount of credibility.

In the cast we find two familiar personalities taking the leading roles. Neil Flanagan returns for his fifth season as the perplexed—but aroused—Professor Delville. His equally vexed wife, Content Lowell, is portrayed by Mary Ann Craig who was with us last season.

BITTINGER

The Emmanuel Lutheran Church Daily Vacation Church School held its closing day program last Saturday evening at Brennenman's grove. Each class presented a short program concerning the theme, "Let's Learn About God." The Rev. Hugo W. Schroeder, Jr., presented the children and teachers certificates, and refreshments were served. Teachers of the school in which 42 pupils attended were Margie Brennenman, Annie Buckel, Lottie Brennenman, Thelma Leichter, Evelyn Shawley, Leona Beitzel, Kay Smith, Margaret Herschberger, Lenora Buckel, Mabel Smith, Phyllis Buckel. The offerings of the school totaled $85.23 of which $25.00 was voted as a donation to the Zenith Children's Home.

Holy Communion will be offered this Sunday, July 18, at Emmanuel Lutheran Church, by the Rev. Hugo W. Schroeder, Jr., pastor. The Rev. Hugo W. Schroeder, Jr. was installed as pastor of the Bittinger Lutheran parish last Thursday evening by the Rev. Donald Anderson, president of the West Virginia Synod, and pastor of Trinity church, Keyser, W. Va. Immediately following the service, open house was held at the parsonage.

The Bittinger Community Association met last Friday evening at the community building. George Bowser was elected Trustee to succeed Elbert Buckel, whose term expired. Harley Brennenman is chairman and Robert Buckel, secretary. Kenneth Buckel was re-elected treasurer and Mrs. Bruce Brennenman, auditor, to succeed Mrs. Donald Herschberger. The group decided to paint the upstairs interior of the building, install new lights, and finish the new floor as soon as possible. The Association adopted a resolution seeking resignation or dismissal of Superintendent of Both of these "old-timers" turn in excellent performances, although neither quite appears to be of the vintage one would expect from a Professor of Cultural Anthropology and a Dean of Women to be. Mr. Flanagan—in his clipped, vaudeville manner—personifies a somewhat jocular gentleman with a quixotic desire to cling to marital solidity and tranquility. His French extraction, reference to which seems to be regularly cropping up in the dialogue, is otherwise not apparent. Poised and vivacious Miss Craig plays the slightly phrenetic but even-tempered Content Lowell (Mrs. Paul Delville) who trusts her husband—up to a point—with droll good humor. Aside from the fact that she appears a bit young for a woman of such august stature, Miss Craig's performance is unimpeachable.

Newcomer Patti Dillon, bedecked in golden tresses (and sometimes not a great deal more) is the Swedish home-wrecker Katrin Sveg. Judging from this first performance, we profess that she will be a welcome addition to the Playhouse Company. Possessing grace and charm, Miss Dillon is an actress of considerable ability. In this effort her accent is convincing and her portrayal leaves little to be desired.

In the minor role of Ross Barnett another newcomer, Jay Senter, provides better than an average performance. Although not quite as polished as his colleagues, Mr. Senter is a likable young man with evident acting possibilities.

"Marriage-Go-Round" is a play we heartily recommend for adult consumption. We assure you that this play is a completely enjoyable one.

Elaborate Plans For Girl Scout Day Camp Arranged By Leaders

A girl scout day camp for members of the entire area will open at Herrington Manor on Monday, July 16, and will continue through Friday, July 20.

Saw Mill Crew In The Early Days

The old photograph this week was furnished by Ralph R. Humberston, formerly of Friendsville, who now resides in Oakland. He put the date as 1901, and said it is part of the sawmill crew of the Meadow Mountain Lumber company which operated at that time in the Friendsville area.

Second row, Alva Bittle and Sam Gurlie.

Third row: Joe VanSickle, Ed Wintermute, Marcell Coddington, Linda Friend, Jerry Nugent, Charles London, Jacob VanSickle, Charles Linstron, Lott VanSickle and Ed Johnson.

Mr. Humberston said so far as he knew, only three of the group are still living. Walter Humberston, Linda Friend and Asa Griffith.

Robert Keister gained the nod over Dave Wilson in a southpaw pitching duel Sunday at Frostburg to give the Grantsville Sluggers a 5-2 decision over the Pen-Mar baseball league leaders.

The win gave Grantsville a 2-1 edge in the series and reduced Frostburg's lead to 1½ games. It was Keister's second straight win over Frostburg and the victory gave the Grantsville man a 6-2 record for the campaign.

Trailing 2-1 Grantsville won the game with a three-run explosion in the 7th and added another tally in the ninth.

The loss was the first in three decisions for Dave Wilson who was 3-0 for West Virginia university this year.

Ronnie Broadwater belted a homer, Clyde Broadwater banged a double and single and Junie Perry lapped a triple and single to pace the Grantsville hitters.

Grantsville, now second in the league, has an 11-4 record. Barreville is close behind with 10 wins and 6 losses.

Harvest time makes a man think. The bread of life gives us has to be cut, threshed, shipped, baked, wrapped and delivered before it ever reaches our mouths. And long before, it had to be sowed in a ploughed field, cultivated, irrigated, and fretted over a thousand times. Lots of work in it for man. No gift wrapping with a ribbon around it. But don't think we could get along without God! Leave out His part and there would be no harvest — no point in all our work. So wheat inspires worship! And every Sunday in Church reminds us that we never labor alone . . . that our labors gain fruitfulness from God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Bible Material: Habakkuk, 2 Kings 21:21-27 Devotional Reading: Ps. 111:7-15

O, God—Why? Lesson for July 15, 1962

DOES it seem to you that this world doesn't make sense? Move over, you've got company. The bench that will seat all the people who find this world a maddening puzzle, will have to be a long one. And you will find distinguished company there. Here comes a man in the robes of a far-away land. Yet you can tell from the look in his eye that he is one of the world's truly distinguished men. For he has about him the look of a genuine prophet, a man of God. Habakkuk does not come to the inquirer's bench at first like a man with all the answers. He brings questions, not answers. The few pages that remain to us of his prophecies are unique, for other prophets come to us with their minds made up; Habakkuk (so to speak) makes up his mind in public. The answer he seeks comes to him, not from him.

A Time of Violence

Habakkuk breaks out with a cry of "how long," and "why?" He lived in the time when the nation of Judah was in the grip of what today we call a crime wave . . . only that was more like a tide. It was a time of violence, of brutality and lawlessness, of perverted "justice." What Habakkuk cannot understand is why God does not at once put a stop to it. He was not the first nor the last man to be so discouraged about the state of the world that he gives up hope of human help and believes that only some sudden act of God can sweep the many evils aside and usher in peace and justice. But God stays his hand. It seems clear to Habakkuk that God will not intervene—and this only adds to his desperation. God does not always do what we want him to do, and, particularly, God does not always do what we want him to do when we want him to do it. We are like children—impatient if God does not operate on our schedule. But God has his own plans and times. He never comes too late.

Scourge of God

Now the Lord gives Habakkuk an answer, an amazing answer, "I am raising the Chaldeans," God tells the prophet. That would be as shocking in Habakkuk's ears as if some one were to tell us that God is raising the Russians. Chapter 1:5-11 gives a grim picture of the Chaldeans. Any Israelites would have agreed 100% with it. This was a cruel, strong, ruthless, plundering, Satyrical, atheist nation. They are well armed, "they come for violence; terror of them goes before them."

God does not paint them in pretty colors. What would seem strange and incredible to Habakkuk is not the darkly violent description of the Chaldeans, the nation all other nations feared and hated; what Habakkuk would find all but impossible to believe was that God would stir them up.

Yet that was the fact. Those cruel people were "the scourge of God," to punish the people of God for their own sins. The prophet's question, we remember, was, "Why doesn't God do something about the sinfulness of this nation?" God's answer is, "I am even now preparing a terrible scourge with which to lash this people for their crimes. And the name of the scourge is—Chaldeans!"

A Lesson for Faith

This answer still does not satisfy the unhappy prophet. How is it that a just and good God, to say nothing of his wisdom—how is it he will use such a wicked nation as the Chaldeans to punish his own people? Space fails to tell all that Habakkuk learned in this time of crisis about the ways of God. One thing was that God is in control. He sets bounds to evil. Neither on this earth nor anywhere in his creation does God offer his back to Satan. There here does God relinquish control.

Another thing the prophet learns is that we have to look beneath the surface of things to see the truth. All things must be judged, not by what can be seen in a moment's glance, but by the long run. Habakkuk learns that God does not pay all his accounts in October, but God does pay. "The arrogant man shall not abide," as Hitler's ghost could tell you. He who would understand the ways of God must be a patient man as well as a man of faith, in contact with the mighty God, shall forever live.

Resolution Passed By House

Today as I report to you, I have a special pleasure. My older son, Charlie, who will be three years old this summer, is present here in the studio in Washington. He's making one of his first visits to the Capitol. If you hear any noises—the sound of a small voice in the background—you'll know that is Charlie, although he has promised to sit very quietly during this broadcast.

Last week the House of Representatives passed a bill, which is of particular local interest to all of us in the Sixth Congressional District and in Maryland. That is a bill to designate September 17, 1962, as Antietam Day. If the Senate concurs, as I hope and believe that it will, the President will be requested to proclaim September 17 of this year as Antietam Day, to be observed throughout the nation in all of the 50 states by flying the flag at half mast until noon and then hoisting it to the peak of the flagpoles as a means of commemorating those who died on that bloodiest day of conflict in the Civil War a century ago. It will serve as well to reaffirm our loyalty to the United States of America in recognition of the heritage of American freedom and unity. This will be an appropriate climax to the splendid commemoration program which has been prepared by the people of Maryland and which will begin near the end of August of this year and will carry on until it reaches the Centennial Date of September 17.

I know that practically everyone will want to take some part in the Antietam Centennial Celebration. It was a most important battle during the Civil War and as you all know was fought near the village of Sharpsburg in Washington county. The Army of the Potomac under the command of General George B. McClellan and the Army of Northern Virginia under the command of General Robert E. Lee met there in the bloodiest single day of conflict in the Civil War and perhaps of all recorded warfare. It was the first time that Union territory was penetrated in a substantial way by Confederate forces and it was one of the most decisive battles of the Civil War.

It was, in a sense, a turning point in the conflict between the States, and it was the Battle of Antietam which gave President Lincoln the confidence to issue the preliminary announcement of his intention to give freedom to the slaves through the Emancipation Proclamation. In that battle, there were in both armies—in the blue uniform and in the gray uniform—soldiers who were fighting for their concept of constitutional government and the dignity of man. Certainly we today understand what they were fighting for, because the struggle to bring these concepts into universal practice still continues.

The Battle of Antietam will be commemorated this year both in action, to tell the story of heroism and sacrifice—and I hope in the hearts of all of us, in remembrance. It will help us to recall again this year as we should every year that this nation was conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal and it will cause us to remember that this nation has been tested and has endured.

SENATE CLOAKROOM
by Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R. Md.)

Trade Bill Passes House As Expected—There was never any doubt about the Administration's Trade Bill getting through. Very little opposition was voiced in the House of Representatives, where a big block of Democrats joined a big block of Republicans to pass the measure with votes to spare. This is not a partisan matter. Former Presidents Eisenhower and Hoover, former Republican Nominees Landon, Dewey and Nixon and other Republican leaders backed the measure strongly. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce, which opposes most of the Kennedy program on the grounds of its being wasteful and irresponsible, backs the Trade Bill.

The bill, which now comes to the Senate for consideration, was designed to take the place of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. It gives the President power to negotiate reciprocal tariff cuts to meet the new competitive situation arising from the emergence of the European Common Market. There is general agreement that the President should have wide negotiating authority in order to meet the day-by-day challenge of the Common Market. I believe the bill will be accepted by the Senate without delay.

Defense Bill: Biggest in History—We have passed unanimously the biggest peacetime Defense Bill in history — $48,300,000,000. Here's a breakdown: Weapons, $17,000,000,000; Research, $7,000,000,000; Military Pay, $13,000,000,000; Food, clothes, beds and barracks, $11,300,000,000.

With 48 million dollars, there's bound to be some waste. Former President Eisenhower believes the Defense budget should be reduced, that military requests have a habit of creeping up faster than necessary; that there is nothing sacred about Defense spending and that we should not hesitate to prune it. The entire Defense budget was worked over by our best military brains and examined closely by the Bureau of the Budget before being studied by our committees of the Senate and House. Our military experts explained and defended the budget, item by item, and, as for me, I decided that if there were any doubt, it should be resolved in their favor; that if we should ever it should be on the side of our national safety.

"Off-Shore Islands"—President Kennedy's Reassurance—On September 30, 1960, in a television interview, Candidate Kennedy said: "Under the Eisenhower doctrine... we have stated that we would defend Quemoy and Matsu if it was part of an attack on the island of Formosa.... On what basis? Quemoy and Matsu are not essential to the defense of Formosa." "This statement was, to the Chinese Reds, 'an invitation to attack' the two islands, according to Admiral Radford, former Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—an invitation the Reds appeared about to accept."

However, despite what he said when he was a candidate for election, President Kennedy said at his press conference on June 27, 1962: "I support administration policy towards Quemoy and Matsu over the last five years."

This unequivocal adoption of the Eisenhower-Dulles stand on Quemoy and Matsu, a stand which has effectively checked Red China, is reassuring to us all.

State Department Against "Victory"—Here is a direct quotation from a State Department report explaining its reasons for deleting the word "victory" from Government officials' speeches: "The word 'victory' has a militaristic and aggressive ring.... It also implies an all or nothing approach, leaving no room for accommodation."

Schools: A Progress Report—Here are statistics on public elementary and secondary schools, comparing the school years ending June, 1956, and June 1962:

Enrollment, 30,532,166; 37,504,190. Number of classroom teachers, 1,135,930; 1,462,859. Total expenditures, $11,000,000,000; $18,100,000,000. Total expenditures per pupil, $388; $524. Average salary for teaching staff, $4,156; $5,716. Number of classrooms, 1,038,000; 1,385,100. Number of high school graduates, 1,414,800; 1,880,000.

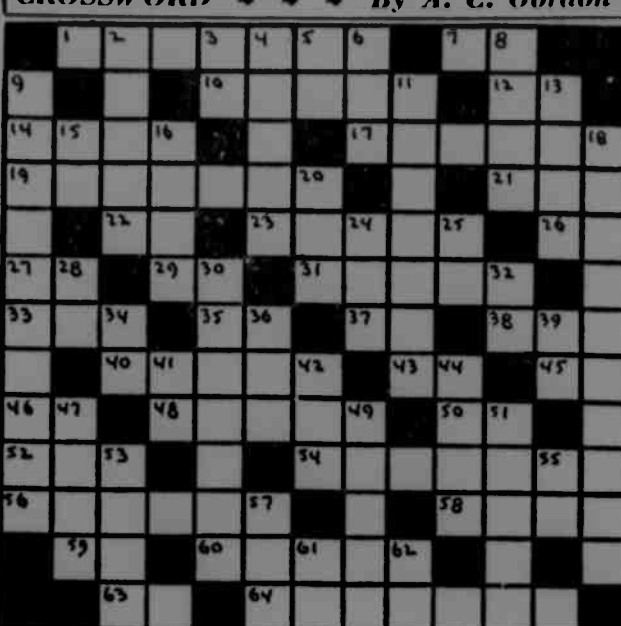

Recent studies have shown that there is no shortage of college classrooms and facilities, that there is ample space for every qualified high school graduate to attend an accredited college. Only 25 to 50 of the nation's 2,000 institutions of higher learning have more qualified applicants than they can handle. The illusion of shortages is caused by the fact that 50 percent of the applicants apply at 10 percent of the colleges and the fact that the typical college applicant files three or four applications to different institutions. One research study showed that 249 accredited colleges could have accepted 30,000 additional freshmen last fall and 40,000 at the beginning of the second semester. A study of 60 mid-western colleges showed that classrooms are used only about 40 percent of the time they could be used, and laboratories only about 25 percent of the time. These colleges, and probably many hundreds of others, could have increased enrollment by 50 percent without putting up a single new classroom or laboratory. Overcrowding is a myth.

You Pay Dear for "Federal Aid"—Figures have just been released which show how much the "Federal aid" in each of the States costs the people of the respective States in 1961. Some States fared much better than others. Generally speaking, the "aid" programs tend to help the poorer States at the expense of the wealthier ones. One State received over 4 percent of the total while paying in only about 1.10th of 1 percent of the total Federal taxes for this "aid". Maryland and six other wealthy States were at the other extreme, receiving the least for what they paid in.

"Federal aid" money to the State of Maryland, its counties and cities and its individual citizens amounted to 1.32 percent of the total for the United States, while its share of the tax burden was 1.94 percent of its "benefit-to-burden" ratio 68 percent. In other words, each 68 cents' worth of "aid" Maryland received from the Federal government cost the Maryland people $1. More "Federal aid" anyone?

"The Government is My Shepherd"—Someone has written a parody on the Twenty-third Psalm to ridicule the trend toward paternalistic government in Washington. It would apply to those who look to the Federal government for all kinds of "aid": "The Government is my shepherd; I shall not want. It alloweth me to lie down on good jobs; it leadeth me beside the still factories. It destroyeth my initiative; it leadeth me in the paths of a parasite for politics' sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of business and deficit spending, I will fear no evil: for the Government is with me; its monthly free checks they comfort me. It pre-empt an economic Utopia for me out of the earnings of my grandchildren; it fillth my head with false security; my inefficiency runneth over. Surely the Government shall care for all my wishes all the days of my life; and I will dwell in a fool's paradise for ever."

Sermonette By Area Ministers

The Church in Your Town
By The Rev. J. Stanley Earhart,
Pastor, Oak Park Church of the Brethren

Think about the church in your town—your church and mine. The church was here before we were born. The church will be here after we are gone. Churches were built early in the life of each community. Our forefathers knew that they needed the influence of worship and fellowship in God's family. When our land was still a wilderness the church began to exert its influence upon the lives of the pioneers.

It has something to say to us as a building. It is a place to which all may come—its doors are open. Light is shining from its windows, reminding all people of the Light of the world. Its windows and its steeple or towers all point the eyes and hearts of humanity toward the heavens from whence our blessings flow. Built of brick or stone or sturdy timbers, it stands as a solid testimony for righteousness.

neers. On every crossroads and at each street corner the church has been built. Each man is able to express himself with a free spirit of devotion. Let us be thankful for the church in our town.

It has something to say to us as a building. It is a place to which all may come—its doors are open. Light is shining from its windows, reminding all people of the Light of the world. Its windows and its steeple or towers all point the eyes and hearts of humanity toward the heavens from whence our blessings flow. Built of brick or stone or sturdy timbers, it stands as a solid testimony for righteousness.

and as a constant critic of sin. The cross, often a part of the architecture, tells of the value of the soul, of men and provides a clue by which they may find their way into the favor of God.

The Church has something to say about our heritage. The stream of history is closely allied to the life of the church. The church has noted the rise and fall of nations and it has been the observer of the successes and failures of mankind. The best of all the generations of the past can be found in the church. What we are as a nation has been determined by the influence of religious men upon our constitutional character and upon the institutions which have been founded. The worth and dignity of the individual have been enhanced by the message of the church. The church has been a forerunner in providing a satisfactory answer to the human thirst for knowledge. Social equality, economic justice, international understanding and a peaceful world have all been a part of the dream of the church for generations.

The church in your town is more than a building and it is more than a depository of the heritage of the past. It provides us with a strength and stability so necessary in any generation. Amid varying winds of doctrine, it upholds the truth.

Demands For More Power—President Kennedy, by latest count, has made, in his messages to Congress, 62 demands for more spending and 25 demands for more presidential power—all within the first four-and-a-half months of this year. This situation brought former President Eisenhower to Washington last week to warn against the deadly trend in government, and he cited as particularly dangerous President Kennedy's proposal that he, President Kennedy, be given (a) authority to modify income taxes whenever he might choose, (b) authority to regiment all agriculture, a request for authority, according to the former President, "more sweeping and repressive than any authority ever before sought over any segment of the nation's economy," and (c) authority to finance, whenever and whenever he (President Kennedy) pleases, large-scale emergency public works by using funds dedicated to other purposes by the Congress.

All the demands for more power are disturbing, but I find perhaps most disturbing this last proposal—the one for authority to start large-scale projects whenever President Kennedy pleases, financing them with money Congress has authorized for other Government activities. For one thing, this would make a mockery of the work of the Congress. Committees of the Senate and the House arrive at a figure to be authorized for the activities of a given Government agency after long and arduous study, and the exact amount finally authorized, usually after thoughtful debate, represents the majority opinion of 433 Congressmen and 100 Senators. To have President Kennedy throw all this work aside and grab the authorized money for some project of his own choosing would be contrary to the basic American concept of government. President Kennedy's proposal would permit him to reach into the funds authorized as an emergency shield to protect small depositors in Federally-insured banks and savings-and-loan associations. In the Public Works Acceleration Act of 1962, now before the Senate, the bill which gives the President what he wants in this respect, the list of funds he may tamper with includes those for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

In a statement which he issued to warn the people and their elected Representatives and Senators about the dangers inherent in the grab for more presidential power, former President Eisenhower had this to say:

"... the real threat to liberty in this Republic will come not from any sudden, calculated assault; rather, the threat to our liberties will be primarily found in a steady erosion of self-reliant citizenship, and in excessive power concentration, resulting from the lodging of more and more decisions in an ever-growing Federal bureaucracy."

What Happened To The Monroe Doctrine?—According to figures published in the Soviet press, 135 Soviet ships carried cargo to Cuba in one 3-month period. The cargo included guns, heavy artillery, and ammunition. It is apparent that the Soviets want the world to know that they are building up military strength at our front door, at a distance from our coast less than the distance between Washington and Philadelphia. To add insult to injury, the Russians are using our Panama Canal for some of their shipping to Cuba, and insisting that we have no right to check the cargos of ships passing through.

Government Waste—On a Grand Scale—Testimony has been given before the Senate Appropriations Committee calling attention to glaring examples of wasteful Government procurement, where the taxpayers lost as much as 97 cents on the dollar. The amount of sheer waste might be enough, if halted, to balance the budget. A number of transactions were cited where the Government purchased items, put them in warehouses, paid for storage maintenance, and then, a few years later, sold the never-used items at tremendous losses. The list of such transactions is endless. Here are a few examples:

Ten pile-driving rigs, bought for Actually, the net loss is even higher when storage and disposal costs are taken into consideration.

Falsehoods To Advance Socialized Medicine—There has come to my attention a handbill printed in Chinese characters which was given wide circulation in and around New York City last week. I am told that the handbill said to the hundreds of thousands of Chinese in that area that the King-Anderson Bill (the much-touted "medicare" bill) would give all of them free rent, free food, free clothing, free medicine, free nursing, free doctor's care and free hospitalization, and it exhorted them to come to a big "medicare" mass meeting at Madison Square Garden to "make a big show for television viewers." Now, of course, the King-Anderson Bill would do none of these things claimed for it. Some of the people who want to push this and other socialistic schemes are resorting to lies to win support. The ballyhoosers for the "medicare" scheme have cruelly deceived the elderly. Most of these with whom I've talked did not seem to understand that, unless they were already drawing Social Security benefits, the King-Anderson bill would not help them. I have explained that "medicare," the King-Anderson plan, would pay no doctor's bills, would cover no hospital bills until they had paid the first $50 and wouldn't do a thing for those not having Social Security, and then only after they were 65.

I do not know who is responsible for the hoax on the New York Chinese, or for the cruel deception of the elderly, but I think that the White House, which has taken the lead in promoting the "medicare" plan should make it known that it is not in sympathy with the deceptive claims being made for it.

Cottonpicking Scandal: Gifts, Resignations!—I understand that when the whole truth is revealed the scandal involving Billie Sol Estes of Texas and his "hoax" in the Administration in Washington will make "Teapot Dome" look like peanuts.

Titov Didn't Tell Much—Soviet astronaut Gherman S. Titov and his attractive wife, on their visit to the United States, were, generally speaking, able good-will ambassadors for the Soviet Union, but they concealed much more than they imparted. When Titov appeared before an 18-nation meeting of space scientists in Washington, he refused to admit even one Soviet failure in their satellite-rocket experiments (and few believe him) and he failed to talk details concerning his flight and spacecraft. By contrast, American astronaut John Glenn, appearing before the same group of world scientists, went into great detail about his space vehicle and readily admitted earlier United States failures.

Sudan Gets Secretaries

Course completed, her new profession begins.

"Required: Experienced shorthand-typist for permanent employment." Advertisements like this appear constantly in Sudan newspapers. They point out clearly the current demand for competent local girls to enter the supporting roles of modern business and government operations as Sudan develops in all fields.

Up to two years ago it was exceptional to find a local secretary in any office. But in 1953 the Sudanese Ministry of Education began doing something about the situation. The Girls' Secretarial School was opened, designed to give Sudanese young women thorough training in office procedure and secretarial practice—in Arabic and English.

Only young women who have completed their high-school education are accepted for the two-year course, and at present there are thirty Sudanese girls enrolled. Arabic and English typewriting, shorthand, bookkeeping and dictation are the main subjects in the curriculum.

Particularly since the secretarial profession is a new concept to most Sudanese young women, during the course an attempt is made to give students as much practical knowledge as possible. Tours are arranged for them to government offices, commercial concerns, and the accounting department of some company. A series of films showing different aspects of office and secretarial work are now available at the school, and outside lecturers are invited to give talks on specialized subjects. Also, each student spends six weeks on-the-job training in some government office during her first summer vacation.

To earn her diploma, each girl must pass all subjects and reach a speed of 90 words-per-minute in shorthand, 40 wpm in English typewriting and 30 wpm in Arabic typing.

The first graduates of the Girls' Secretarial School took up professional secretarial positions in the early summer of 1960. The eager young ladies filled vacancies in companies, embassies and Sudanese government departments. The demand for graduates was great—and encouraging.

Everyone connected with it is pleased with the progress and results of the school, the budding secretaries in particular. The physical aspects of the classrooms themselves are being improved, new office equipment is being installed, and interest and enrollment are increasing rapidly. The relatively novel idea of girl secretaries, and secretarial training, is making a big hit in the Sudan.

THE AMERICAN WAY

HOW TO KILL A FREE PRESS—EDITOR'S NOTE: Guest columnist Raymond C. Baker is a newspaperman who knows what skyrocketing costs are doing to America's free press.

The United States postal service, largest single revenue-producing enterprise in the world, is only slightly more modern than the extinct buggy whip factory and far behind the old model-T Ford in research and development.

As strange as this may seem in a nation that leads all others in technological development, the postal system is hardly as modern as the average mom'n pop grocery store, to say nothing of the up-to-date super market.

During the past 12 years, the post office has spent about 33 cents—out of every $100 of appropriation for research, development and mechanization. This compares with an average for all industry of $3 out of every $100 of budget for research and development, exclusive of mechanization which is considered capital investment. Some industries, such as chemicals and electronics, spend much more for research.

Postmaster General Day is back this year asking Congress for a $4.5 billion budget. But he is earmarking only $116 million of this fantastic sum for research and development and another $27 million for mechanization, a pace obviously much too leisurely to achieve savings and reduce expenditures and postal rates.

Instead of a large scale modernization program, the Postmaster General is back before Congress with the hardly perennial increased rates to make up an $850 million gap between receipts and expenditures. He seeks a one-cent increase on first class mail which, in his own words, is still a bargain at five cents. Since business accounts for about 75 percent of all first class mail, this increase would cost the average family only about one-half cent a day.

Mysterious Objects In The Sky—Famed test pilot Joe Walker says film taken during his recent flight in the rocket-powered X-15 experimental plane to a record height of 246,700 feet showed five or six mysterious objects in the sky. Col. Glenn and Soviet's Major Titov both reported sighting strange objects during orbital flight around the earth. Colonel Glenn's were glowing, firefly-like objects, some flying faster than his orbiting capsule, some slower. The Russian was typically close-mouthed about his mysterious objects. Walker says his jets, "disk-like."

But where, increases strike hardest are against weekly and daily newspapers and magazines. Publishers already have had to take an 89 percent increase in postage rates since 1951, and this would add another 34 per cent rise on present rates. First class mail has risen only 33 1/2 per cent in the same period.

Many weeklies, dailies and magazines could not take such an onerous hike. It would mean extinction for them, even though they have been studious in improving operations to cut costs at every corner. A postal increase, however, is nothing publishers can control.

In spite of the fact that many publications are just about breaking even, the post office insists that they can take a sizeable increase in postal rates without being hurt. Senator Olin Johnston of South Carolina, chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, and members of his committee, are conducting a broad inquiry on postal rates and have made it clear that his committee would adjust rates on a basis that is "equitable, sound and defensible."

Committee members have made it apparent that they hold a high regard for the nation's press. But from testimony before the committee, it is questionable whether the postal establishment has the same regard for the many important services the press renders the reading public and the government. One official argued that second class rates should be increased because publishers are constantly reaching out for greater circulation to increase advertising revenues and consequently, are placing a greater burden on the postal establishment.

Why the post office would even think of curtailing circulation must have been something of a mystery to the Senators on the committee. Each knows, just as government economists and tax experts know, that newspaper and magazine advertising not only contributes measurably to a better way of life, but helps assure a healthy economic climate for the nation.

Everyone, including you, the reader, has a stake in the postal bill H. R. 7927, because it can mean the end of at least part of America's free press.

Your senators are interested in our opinion. So let them know how you feel about their mail publications.

CAPITOL COMMENT

Charles "Mac" Mathison
Congressman, 8th District, Maryland

New Depreciation Allowances

There has been a great deal of legislative activity in Washington during the past week. The Senate Finance Committee has been studying and acting upon portions of President's Tax Program; you have probably followed the developments in this interesting and heated debate in the Senate. In the House there has been a very lively debate on the Foreign Aid program. The news from Washington this week which is going to have the most impact on your lives and the taxes you pay is not from the Legislative Branch, however, but from the Executive.

An order has been issued by the Secretary of the Treasury, revising depreciation rates, which will affect every American to some degree. I personally have been advocating a reform and revision of depreciation rates for some time; therefore, I welcome the action that the Secretary of the Treasury has taken. I still believe that this action would be more appropriate if it were to come through the legislative process. Nevertheless, I believe that this executive action, which follows the practice of recent years, will be helpful.

First of all, what is depreciation? It is a bookkeeping device which is intended to compensate those who have made capital investments or improvements in business, farming, industry or similar fields of endeavor, for the fact that they are wearing out their equipment or buildings in the course of doing business. It gives them an opportunity to refund the cost of equipment, machinery and buildings as they are wearing out, without taxing them on the funds set aside for replacement. Now, this concept is somewhat complicated, but it is expressed very simply in the fact that there is a stated life for a given piece of business property, a machine, a building, or a retail fixture that is used in the business. The stated life, that is, the number of years of life expectancy, will govern the percentage of cost that is written off, or depreciated, each year.

The reason we have needed reform of our depreciation practices is that the old tables which have been used by the Treasury Department for a good many years have become completely unrealistic. They have been based on business practices of years by, and they have not reflected the very quick pace of economic and technological changes which have characterized every form of American business. Farming is a good example. Years ago a man might have had only one piece of major machinery on his farm, a tractor, and that would have lasted him many, many years with good care and maintenance. Today a farmer not only has many kinds of equipment but it becomes obsolete very quickly. A new kind of hay baler may be introduced which saves labor or bales hay faster than the farmer's present machine. In such cases the time within which a given piece of machinery may become obsolete is shorter and the depreciation rate should be greater.

We have accomplished this result to some degree by the action of the government this week. I hope that Secretary of the Treasury Dillon is right when he says that the new guidelines and procedures for determining depreciation on machinery and equipment used by American business constitutes a fundamental reform in the tax treatment of depreciation which will provide a major stimulus to economic growth.

Observe Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. DeWitt of Mt. Lake Park was the scene of a golden wedding anniversary celebration on July 15.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt were married 50 years ago, on July 14, in Asher Glade, and have been lifelong residents of this county.

Some 70 friends and relatives were guests of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt, and their immediate family at an open house and buffet dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt had all their children home at the same time for the first time in 24 years. One son flew home from Germany for the occasion. Four generations were present.

Those of the immediate family celebrating with their parents were Mr. and Mrs. Everett Friend, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Ross, Bel Air; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Proudfoot, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Paul DeWitt, Mt. Lake Park; Mr. and Mrs. George Hanna, Jr., Bel Air; and Sfc. and Mrs. Maxwell DeWitt, Frankfurt, Germany and Oakland.

Fined For Driving Under The Influence

William Edward Simpson, 43, of East McKeesport, Pa., appeared before Trial Magistrate Robert Maroney yesterday on three motor vehicle charges. He was found guilty on all three.

For operating under the influence of liquor, he was fined $100; for reckless driving, $15.00, and for operating on an expired license, $10.00.

He was sentenced to the county jail in default of fine, but appeared before the magistrate and paid the sums and was released.

Big Government: Whose Fault?

More alarming proof has recently come to light which vindicates the real concern of many of us that the Federal Government has attained awesome power over the nation's economy—and is seeking increased controls. The latest revelation occurred when Budget Director David Bell declared during a Congressional hearing that the Administration is studying ways to put ceilings on the salaries paid top executives and experts of defense firms which do business with the Federal Government.

Mr. Bell suggested that some private research and development salaries above $25,000 would be controlled through an administrative order from the Government or those companies which refused to comply with the order would be denied contracts. The Budget Director conceded that many defense and space firms would have no alternative but to accept the salary scales or "fold up shop."

In other words, the Administration appears to be annoyed because certain executives, in its opinion, are making too much money and feels that it is the duty of the Government to control these wages. One possible extension of this policy is that the pire this year are: Mrs. Harold Georg and Mrs. John Schlossnagle, both of Accident.

Assisting with the local meeting are the following committee chairmen: foods, Mrs. Luther Bowen; decorations, Mrs. Donald Fratz; greeting, Mrs. Walter Harman; ribbons, Mrs. Walter Margroff; ushering, Mr. Robert Edward; entertainment, Mrs. Charles Bosner.

Federal Government would attempt to regulate the salary of every business firm which receives a Federal contract.

As we are all aware, the Government has attempted to regulate income through the graduated income tax, and it could also reduce to a more or less common denominator the salaries of employees in thousands of companies.

—If it pursues to a logical end the above policy outlined by Mr. Bell, because the Federal Government operates in almost every metropolis and hamlet of the land there are very few areas of our economy which are not touched by Washington. For example, the Government owns $122 billion of military weapons, equipment and supplies; it has $15 billion of farm commodities and stockpiled strategic materials; it owns about 758 million acres of land (1 out of every 3 acres in the country); and it owns 421,360 buildings with nearly 2.5 billion square feet of floor space in the United States.

And yet, why do we have such a big Government? Maurice Stans, one of the nation's outstanding economists, has stated: "The more we ask Government to take over our problems and with them a larger share of our incomes to finance their handling, the more the Government will grow. And the more it grows and takes climb, the less freedom of choice will remain for us in our personal and community affairs."

Park Attendance 92,960

State parks in Maryland attracted 92,960 visitors last weekend, with Patapsco State park leading with 45,771.

At Swallow Falls, there were 1,125 visitors; Herrington Manor, 1,809; New Germany, 3,040; Deep Creek Lake, 3,596; Potomac State Forest, 96.

Letter to The Editor

Dear Sir:

It is time that every person that wants to see the best for this area, do something to bring it about. Every so often the politicians fail in their responsibility to an area under their care and then that area suffers greatly. The politicians have been failing us in one of our greatest needs. Just one or two office holders have been doing a little bit to keep the PRICE HOSPITAL open so that we will have a place to take our sick and dying. We have signed petitions that have little effect. WE have been told that there is one course left to us and that is to write the Governor of the state and ask that he reverse the decision until something can be done. We don't need to tell you how needed this HOSPITAL is to this area. Where would we take our loved ones next winter when the roads to Somerset and to Meyersdale are drifted shut and we must have hospital care within a few minutes to prevent permanent injury or death? If you want the PRICE Hospital to stay open then write to GOVERNOR DAVID L. LAWRENCE, EXECUTIVE MANSION, HARRISBURG, PENNA. TODAY. Ask him, in your words, to keep the hospital open.

—Friendsville Resident
Editor's Note: The Price Hospital is located in Confluence, Pa. and last week gave notice to its employees that it would be closed as of July 15. The hospital had previously been used on occasion by residents of the northern part of this county, who contend it is more accessible during winter months than other institutions. It is privately operated.

night at the lake location was a record one for attendance, with 217 persons in the audience. Thursday night marked the third performance of the season's first play. This week's performance of "Someone Waiting" is also being given at Dennett Road.

Putting on Friday night's show was not an easy task, Yell declared. He said the players lost all of their costumes and properties, except the leading lady's blonde wig, and they would have lost that, too, except that Patty Dillon wore it to her living quarters the night before the fire. She did lose her shoes, however.

Mrs. Yell worked all day Friday sewing and gathering costumes for the modern-dress production. The actors used some of their clothes and borrowed others. Converting the production on a moment's notice from a theatre in the round to a conventional stage was difficult, Yell said, but it was accomplished in time to permit showing Friday evening.

The actors live at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Yell, Hemlock Hollow, near Gortner. The theatre was begun in 1955. During the winter months, Yell is associate professor of drama at the University of New Mexico.

Yell expressed his appreciation to all those who had assisted following the fire, and expressed his determination to keep the theatre operating.

The American Way

What And Who Is A Traitor?

By Tom Anderson

(Editor's Note: This J. Anderson, publisher of Farm and Ranch and five other farm publications, is the most-quoted farm editor in America.)

What and who is a traitor? Most American patriots would agree that Dr. Klaus Fuchs and the Rosenbergs, who gave the A-Bomb secrets to the Communists, were traitors. Some pacifists, of course, believe these traitors accomplished a great spoke for peace by converting many nations from our side to "neutrality." For his monstrous crime which could yet enslave the whole world, Fuchs, a citizen of Great Britain, served 9½ years in prison and is now free and living in Russia.

Up to 1952 the Russians hadn't made an A-bomb. With the help of American traitors, they just walked out of our plants with the parts and put them together. Harry Dexter White, while serving in Henry Morgenthau's Treasury Department, shipped some of our money plates to the Russians. They printed hundreds of dollars of our money—and may still be doing it. After he did this, white was promoted.

Harry Bridges, Labor Star of our 50th State, announced that if China Kai-shek were to send troops from Formosa to Red China, he, Bridges, would have his union boycott and tie up all West Coast and Hawaiian shipping to prevent U. S. troops and arms from reaching Formosa. Bridges, who should be tried for treason, is riding high. And Congress lacks the courage and morality to pass a labor bill which will free the enslaved American worker from traitors, gangsters, and international Socialist leaders.

Some Administration officials have lied about the fact that we and our "allies" are funneling our war materials into the Russian bloc. So some day our own weapons may help destroy us. Guess who used to be in charge of the committee which decided what could be shipped to the Communist Bloc? William Remington, who was convicted of perjury later for falsely denying membership in the Communist Party.

Why were the State Department men most responsible for replacing Batista with Castro promoted instead of fired? Who is responsible for our subsidization of the enemy regimes in Yugoslavia and Poland? Why not demand a Congressional investigation of our State Department and a full accounting of our official relations with the Soviets since 1933?

Many weak-kneed or lame-brained people in the State Department, Congress and Big Business want to recognize, give aid to, and do business with Red China. Anything for "peace." Anything for a dollar. Most of these same leaders recommend killing the Connally Amendment which has protected America from abiding by certain decisions of the World Court which is made up of seven Communists, seven "neutrals," and one American, whose alliances and loyalties are fiercely debated. Our "liberal" leaders want to force America to abide by the decisions of that Court! At the present rate of "containment," in a few years Russia will have most of the world's souls and real estate. And Red China will have the Bomb. We are now being told that our only choice is to sacrifice our sovereignty and freedom by turning everything over to the U. N. This is the choice of being clawed to death by a ferocious bear or hugged to death by a friendly boa constrictor.

Some believe that the only answer to nuclear destruction is to level

Sphinx Reveals Secrets

The Sphinx and the Pyramids, in Sun et Lumiere.

"I am an honest guard to the immortal Pharaohs," explained the great Sphinx from behind his inscrutable smile as bright floodlights lit up his lion-shaped figure reclining majestically on the white desert sands near Cairo.

"I was once known to be a Pharaoh and ancient Egyptians worshipped me. Different kings called me by various names," the sphinx boasted as it unraveled past glories of the Pharaohs and explained why the ancient Egyptians built him.

This is all part of the Sun et Lumiere—sound and light—display at the foot of the famous Pyramids and Sphinx on the outskirts of Cairo.

The show, similar to the Sun et Lumiere exhibit at the Parthenon in Greece, takes the audience back 45 centuries in history through music, sound and light effects. Held in the open air, the show is sponsored by the United Arab Republic Ministry of Culture.

"You will literally live with the ancient Egyptians," says a Ministry brochure.

The Sphinx gives two performances every evening, the first in Arabic and the second in either English, French, German or Spanish, depending on the day of the week. Admission to the European show, which begins at 9:30 p.m., is one dollar and a half.

With floodlights focused on the face of this mysterious monument, it seems as though the expression of the Sphinx changes as the story unfolds.

Other voices, mostly of the pharaohs or high priests, join in the performance. At one point the memory of the Sphinx falls him and he forgets the name of a certain pharaoh. Another voice, that of a palace maiden, interrupts and comes to his aid.

Attractive, dark-eyed Egyptian girls, with graceful features reminiscent of the beautiful Nefertiti, have been specially selected to seat the audience and act as tourist guides.

The Sun et Lumiere display at the pyramids was begun at the end of 1960 at a cost of three million dollars. The recording of the European program was made in English, French and German studios. A similar program is planned for some of the other magnificent ancient Egyptian sites such as the Valley of the Kings in Luxor and the Temple of Karnak.

of $22,500, while Miss Patton received $25,000. Their parents each received $700 as medical expenses.

In opening statements Tuesday attorneys for Roy Olen Hinkle, Jr. and Miss Frances Dixon claimed that Campbell failed to open the emergency door of the bus at the time of the accident.

The lawyers also alleged that the driver failed to remain in the vehicle to help stem panic among the 26 children who occupied it. The attorneys also accused the railroad crew of having failed to operate the St. Louis to Baltimore train in a prudent manner.

Hinkle testified that he saw the lights of a train just before the collision and saw the driver, LeRoy Campbell, doing something with the bus at the last minute, but he did not know exactly what it was.

Hinkle, through his attorneys, is claiming $140,000.

Hinkle told the jury of seven men and five women that he recalled the bus's having apparently stopped. He looked up at that moment and saw no train; the lights appearing afterward, he said. He said he saw no signals and heard no bell, prior to the accident. Counsel for the railroad claimed Campbell was responsible for the accident, saying he became excited and was negligent.

Yesterday, the bus driver testified he did not hear warning bells or a whistle or see signal lights prior to the collision. Campbell said he had an unimpeded view of the track when the accident happened.

He said the vehicle stalled on the track and he tried to move it by pushing the starter button. This failed, he testified, so he ordered the children off the bus after having first opened the door for them.

Miss Dixon also testified, and claimed she did hear bells, but did not see the train, and remembered little after the collision.

A 12 year old boy was lost for three days in snow in Utah mountains and survived.

How To Love
Rev. Luther Seibert
Pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, Md.

In a society which loves to make love in its movies, TV, magazines, books, drama, parks, beaches and drive-ins, our title could prove misleading. We may relax for the great Lover we will talk about is a very unromantic carpenter who never had a girl friend or wife.

The word Love is mentioned over 200 times in the Old Testament and over 200 times in the New Testament. It is one of the key words in the Christian vocabulary. Sunday after Sunday the Christian Church preaches and teaches about Love, God's Love for man, man's love for God, and man's love for his fellow man. This is all very lovely, but perhaps the Church has been too abstract or theoretical in trying to make us Christian Lovers. We perhaps spend too much time considering how wonderful Christian Love is and too little time finding out how actually to use it regularly in our daily living.

Christian Love does sound very wonderful and nice when we hear about someone else doing the loving, such as Jesus and his original disciples. But when it becomes our turn to Love as Christians, then we see how much work is involved and how difficult Christian Love is to practice. I John 3:18 says, "little children, let us not love in word or speech but in deed and in truth." The Danish poet Kierkegaard says, "To the Christian Love is the works of love. To say that love is a feeling or anything of the kind is an unchristian conception of love. That is the aesthetic definition and therefore fits the erotic and everything of that nature. But to the Christian Love is the works of love. Christ's love was not an inner feeling, a full heart etc., it was the work of love which was his life."

Kierkegaard also says, "And when eternity says, 'Thou shalt love,' then it assumes the responsibility for guaranteeing that it can be done." I John 3:13 says, "Do not wonder, brethren, that the world hates you. We must do our loving in a world that hates us. Thus Christian Love is often a one-

father, U. G. Ford.

Miss Josie Weimer attended the Weimer reunion at Swallow Falls, Sunday.

George Deacon, of Wheeling, W. Va., visited his wife over the weekend.

MARRIED

Zinn - Williams. The wedding of Nancy Pauline Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy B. Williams, of St. Leonard, and Charles Edwin Zinn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Zinn, Lashby, took place on Saturday, June 23, at 3:30 p. m., at Christ Episcopal church, Port Republic. The double-ring ceremony performed by the Rev. William M. Plummer, Jr., in the presence of many relatives and friends was followed by a reception at the home of the bride.

Mrs. Robert Harkness, church organist, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied the Rev. William M. Plummer, Jr., who sang "The Lord's Prayer," and Miss Anne Mohler who sang "O Perfect Love" and "Ave Maria" before the service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a scalloped neckline of delicate lace and three-quarter length sleeves. The full flowing skirt ended in a sweeping train. Her finger-tip veil of silk illusion was attached to a Swedish pearl crown. She carried a cascade of white carnations and sweetheart roses with ivy.

Mrs. Henry Wegner, sister of the bride was matron of honor. She wore a full length gown of pink silk organza with a scoop neckline and hooped skirt. Her head-dress was of matching pink and she carried a bouquet of white sided romance. It is difficult for Christian Love to be selfish when the possibility for no return is great. Every day Christ continues to Love people who do not love Him, and so should we.

We do not find Christ only Loving in His Sermons, rather we find Him Loving in homes, in the street, in the presence of enemies, and with hums, thieves and whorers. This shows us Christian Love is painful, not painless. It leads us where we do not want to go, makes us do what we do not want to do. I John 3:16 "By this we know love, that he laid down his life for us." Christ did not want to go to the Cross, but He went anyway!

Christian Love always involves giving of ourselves to others. I John 3:17 "But if any one has the world's goods and sees his brother in need, yet closes his heart against him, how does God's love abide in him?" In summary, HATE, PAIN, and GIVING, these are the three things our text tells us we must put up with if we are to become Christian Lovers. Surely there must be an easier way, for this sounds too much like the Cross. Christians are in for real trouble when they realize Christian Love is not an idea but a living experience. And so are the people they Love!

Marguerite daisies. The bridesmaids were Miss Joyce Grover, Miss Carole Anne Humphreys and Mrs. Wayne Greene, friends of the bride and Mrs. William Greene, sister of the bride. All were attired in aqua silk organza and headresses made in the same style as the matron of honor. They carried bouquets of pink Marguerite daisies.

The bride's niece, Mary Annette Wegner, acted as flower girl, and her nephew Robert McCready, as ring-bearer.

Donas McCready, brother-in-law of the bride served as best man. The ushers were Edward Lucas, friend of the groom; William Greene, brother-in-law of the bride; Robert Williams, brother of the bride; and Harry Zinn, brother of the groom. All wore summer tuxedos.

The mother of the bride was attired in a dress of blue embroidered organza with matching accessories. Pink crepe with white accessories was worn by the mother of the groom. Both wore corsages of cymbidium orchids.

For their wedding trip to Niagara Falls and other points of interest, the bride wore a white Arnel jersey dress with white and gold jacket. Her corsage was of white Marguerite daisies.

Upon their return, the couple will reside at Broomes Island. Mrs. Zinn, a graduate of Calvert County High School, is employed by the Navy Department in Washington, D. C., and the groom, also a graduate of Calvert County High School, is an employee of Solomons Mobile Station.

Among the many out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. Harold Miller, Grantsville; Mrs. Paul Benner, Hagerstown; Dr. and Mrs. Anson Solem, Silver Spring; Mrs. W. E. Bishoff and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wegner and children, Norfolk, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Whitfield, of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Miller, Personal income and industry, Casteel, Freehold, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bracken and family, Pa.; Baltimore, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Custer, Newark, Del.

THE CASE OF MR. & MRS. LAWRENCE FAITH

To The Citizens of Garrett County:

This material is presented and paid for by the persons indicated below in an effort to bring before the public, acts of shocking injustice committed by certain school staff members and the School Board against two Garrett County school teachers.

Mr. Lawrence Faith—VO-Ag teacher at Northern High School from September, 1955, to July, 1962, teacher at Grantsville before consolidation; graduate of the University of Maryland; resident of Grantsville, Maryland for 13 years, has taught VO-Ag some 22 years interrupted by military service. Mr. Faith was president of the Md. VO-Ag Teachers' Association for the school year 1961-62, was an honor student and only a few credits short of earning a Master's degree in Agricultural Education.

Mrs. Florence Faith—native of Garrett County; daughter of Mrs. Davis and the late Dr. Davis; mother of four children; attended the University of Maryland two years and later graduated from Frostburg State Teachers' College in 1961 with honors. She began teaching at Loch Lynn in January, 1961 and was transferred to Accident Elementary School for the school term 1961-62 to teach first and second grades.

On June 4, 1962 Mr. Faith was transferred to teach Junior High grades in the school at Kitzmiller. Mrs. Faith was dismissed without mention of recommendation. So far, none of us have seen a copy of the minutes of the meeting when this action was taken.

THE BASIC ISSUE IS BETWEEN MR. FAITH AND THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS TOGETHER WITH THE SCHOOL BOARD.

HERE ARE THE FACTS:

1. In the summer of '61, Mr. Faith was given a schedule including classes in science. Mr. Faith stated that he already had a full load in that he was largely responsible for operating the largest VO-Ag program in the State. The average VO-Ag teacher was responsible for 34 boys while Mr. Faith was responsible for nearly 70. The schedule was then changed to include all single periods. This arrangement did not qualify for Federal funds necessary for a strong VO-Ag program. To qualify for such funds, at least one double period must be provided. (Mr. Faith was told that his schedule change had been ordered by the Superintendent.)

2. Mr. Faith had been told in 1960 and 1961 to prepare for a one-man department that he alone would operate.

3. He had seen the VO-Ag money allotment cut from some $700.00 to $275.00 over the last six years.

4. He knew that the shop at Northern was inadequately equipped, and wired, and poorly heated.

5. He foresaw a possibility of a cut in Federal funds which might have eliminated a summer program.

6. Mr. Faith felt it wrong to cut down on this program until something as good or better had been provided for the boys at Northern. He made it clear that he did not stand in the way of progress.

7. These problems were discussed by Mr. Faith at length with the school administration. During a conference with school authorities in August, '61, he was told that it was too late to change the schedule and that all things must remain as is.

NOW, MR. FAITH BEING FACED WITH THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE LARGEST VO-AG DEPARTMENT IN THE STATE, A REDUCED MONEY ALLOTMENT, A CURTAILED VO-Ag SCHEDULE, ADDED SCIENCE TEACHING, WORK-OUT SHOP, TOOLS, AND HAVING BEEN STOPPED IN SCHOOL CHANNELS, PRESENTED THE PROBLEM TO THE GARRETT COUNTY FARM BUREAU.

Immediately the Superintendent summoned the interested parties to a meeting on or about August 18, 1961, at the School Board office. The Superintendent appeared very much upset. The School Board members present revealed that they had never heard of any problems in the VO-Ag Department at Northern. They claimed that if they had known a problem existed, it could have been averted. (But how was the Board ever to know a problem existed when information was being cut off in school channels before it reached them?)

In spite of the fact that Mr. Faith was told that it was too late to change the schedule a few days earlier, during this meeting a new schedule was presented. This schedule was changed once more a few days before school started. Result: Mr. Faith was scheduled classes every minute of the school day for the entire year. Some other full-time teachers were given teaching schedules of less than four days a week. The Superintendent commented to a Farm Bureau Committee on June 20, 1962, "They asked for it and we gave it to them." A school official stated that "major surgery" would be needed to correct the schedule when school started in '61. Some youngsters had as many as three lunch periods.

The Superintendent requested another meeting with the same group in October, '61; this meeting was held. Prior to and during this meeting, the Superintendent indicated that a poor job of teaching was being done in the VO-Ag shop. It was stated that the best job could not be expected with the poor shop facilities existing. A Commissioner who was present stated that he would recommend a special money allotment to improve all shop facilities. The Superintendent maneuvered ahead of him by placing a $10,000.00 shop item in the school budget. About $3,500.00 was appropriated. VO-Ag and Industrial Arts shops were improved in both high schools. The school year progressed.

One of the basic charges against Mr. Faith is one of insubordination specifically because he sought help from the Farm Bureau. Close relationship between Farm Bureau and VO-Ag departments is considered normal and desirable all over the United States. Insubordination is a serious charge. Isn't it true that other school people contact non-school groups with their problems? When have school problems NOT been public problems? School personnel with money problems are not charged with insubordination when they approach the public.

WE BRING THIS CASE TO YOU, THE PUBLIC:

Was the transfer of Lawrence Faith justified? Was the dismissal of Mrs. Faith? Were these actions fair?

We need good teachers in our schools! Why drive them away? Ask the students whom Mr. & Mrs. Faith have taught, and their parents, whether or not they are good teachers.

What do you really know about our school system and curriculum? Are you satisfied?

Are you active in your P. T. A.?

Isn't it about time that the Superintendent of Schools be truly responsible to the Board of Education, and to the people who pay his salary?

TODAY MANY OF OUR YOUNG PEOPLE ARE LEAVING OUR HIGH SCHOOLS AND ENTERING COLLEGE AND BUSINESS AT A DISTINCT DISADVANTAGE. FOR A FAR GREATER NUMBER, THEIR FORMAL EDUCATION ENDS UPON GRADUATING FROM HIGH SCHOOL. IT IS TIME FOR THE CITIZENS OF THIS COUNTY TO AROUSE THEMSELVES AND PROVIDE AN EDUCATION FOR OUR YOUNG PEOPLE THAT WILL EQUIP THEM FOR LIFE IN THE SPACE AGE!

We, the undersigned citizens of Garrett County, ask for your help!

FIRST DATE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It was in May, several years ago that Mildred moved next door. That was a break for Eric. It is so easy to get acquainted with one's neighbors.

The first date naturally called for careful strategy. You don't want to seem too eager — but you want to know what she likes . . . and what she's like. Eric's and Mildred's first date was a Youth Fellowship supper at the church.

Eric happens to be a leader of this group. And Mildred happens to be an earnest Christian girl.

Of course, happens is a very broad word. It means that Eric's and Mildred's parents had once decided that a son or a daughter ought to be given the advantage of religious training.

Now Eric and Mildred are engaged. And everybody says they were meant for each other. And the altar before which they take their vows will be the heart of the religious life of their family. Thus it happens!

Patriotism

Lesson for July 22, 1962

PATRIOTISM is called love of one's country, but it means more than that. "Country" can mean hills and valleys, rivers and mountains, as we sing in our hymn "My Country 'tis of Thee . . ."

But while these physical surroundings can stir our hearts (and even plain and ugly landscapes can seem beautiful if they spell Home), real patriotism means a love and loyalty to the people who live in the land, our fellow-citizens.

Patriot in Jail

In our time the accusation is sometimes brought against the Christian ministry that it is unpatriotic, which in the present situation usually means "communist."

This accusation is wildly false, but it is not new. Men of God—just because they were true men of God—have been called bad names like traitor, more than once.

A notable example is the Biblical prophet Jeremiah. He was easily the most unpopular man in the country. Few believed him or believed in him. From the ruling class right down to the masses, he was considered to be a bad character.

More than once he was put in jail or under house arrest as a dangerous character. Yet he was, as history accredits him, one of the great patriots of the Jewish people.

How do we know he was a patriot if his contemporaries could not see him in that light? For one thing, we now know, as his contemporaries would have known in time, that he was right. What he said would come true, did come true.

Realism

Another reason why we can see that he was a real patriot was that he did not pretend that all was well with his nation. He was brave and clear-sighted enough to speak out against abuses in church and state. He swung a strong axe against the trees of evil that overshadowed the land.

He talked very plainly about the sins and crimes of men at the top. He did not even pretend to believe that his country could come out victorious after any war they chose to get into.

He did not agree that God loved the children of Israel better than he loved any other nation, or that only in Israel could servants of God be found.

He even publicly called Nebuchadnezzar, an invading king, a servant of God. About the future of his country he had no illusions.

He saw that their only hope was to become a part of their empire; but this the Israelites could not think of doing.

Their recipe for national security was military alliance with Egypt, a suicidal policy as Jeremiah tried to tell them. So they accused Jeremiah of being an enemy of his country.

But how much is a country helped by people who can never see anything wrong in it?

A True Patriot

In all the hullabaloo over Jeremiah, people in his city either did not know, or would not notice, some facts that marked the man as a genuine patriot. For one thing, he went to some trouble to buy land, in an area already controlled by invading armies.

The prophet thus expressed in a practical (and expensive) way his conviction that (so to speak) there would always be a Judah. Furthermore, though we know he had opportunities to do so, he never went over or "defected" as we say, to the Babylonians. And at the end, so as to stay with his own people, he chose banishment, poverty and death rather than live in comfort in Babylon.

In the one-sided war between his country and Babylon, he could see that Babylon was stronger by far, but his own people were his own, and he loved them.

Prof. Harold Berman once said: "If we really want to defeat communism there is only one way to do it . . . It is the one thing that people who talk about fighting communism generally fail to mention. We must construct a social order in which the goals of justice, mercy and morality take precedence over economic security, political power and technological progress." Some would call the writer of such lines no patriot; but what he says is in the noble tradition of Jeremiah the prophet.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

WEEKLY SERMON
Pastor P. F. Nieuwkoop

OVERLY TOLERANT

Is discrimination always wrong? According to some people it is not, except in the field of religion. We should discriminate in the matters of business, matters of politics, choosing a Medical Doctor, or buying our groceries. But when it comes to our faith there are so many that say, "It makes no difference which church I join for one church is as good as another," which is just another way of saying, "It doesn't matter what you believe as long as you are sincere." I take issue with such broad tolerance.

It would lead people into deep trouble if they would practice such tolerance in secular life. The Bible plainly tells us that error is as prevalent in the world today as truth. Two systems of thought bid for your support — truth and error. We are urged in scriptures to "Prove what is that good and acceptable and perfect will of God," and again, "Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits, whether they be of God." When your eternal destiny depends upon your taking the right way, you had better be sure that the way you take is right. The Word of God is a chart and compass and the right handling of it will guide aright the person who really wants to know.

Pictures Out Of The Past

Route 40 Scene In Grantsville, 1909

The old picture scene this week moves to Grantsville, the first time this community has appeared in the series.

The view is of U. S. Route 40 looking toward the west, in 1909. Many of the buildings shown are still standing, and others have been constructed in the intervening years. The Casselman hotel is shown in the left foreground.

The condition of Route 40 is interesting. The highway, which at that time and still is, one of the main east-west thoroughfares, is as yet unpaved. It was not until 1912 that the road was hard surfaced.

A newspaper account of September 12, 1912, relates:

"Hoblitzell and Price, road builders and contractors, have begun rebuilding the National Pike at Grantsville. They started Monday and will work eastward toward Frostburg. This firm is well equipped with the latest road machinery and is composed of practical men who have done considerable road building in and around Oakland. They started on the National Pike with fifty men and ample equipment."

This work was under State Road Commission contract at $34-212.38.

Casselman Valley Homemakers Meet

The Casselman Valley Homemakers met recently at the home of Mrs. Donald Newman with Mrs. Clayton Livingood as co-hostess. Mrs. Gloria Cline read the scripture, Mrs. D. W. Klotz gave the thought and Mrs. James Hanson led group singing, with Deane Savage at the piano.

Jack Doolan, hair stylist from LaVale, gave a demonstration. Mrs. Clinton Irwin presided at the business meeting and minutes were read by Mrs. Gloria Cline.

The club elected Mrs. Clayton Edwards as vice president and Mrs. Robert Diehl as secretary.

Mrs. Martin Tressler spoke on the correct way to fold a sheet.

The club decided not to have a picnic this year but to attend the Playhouse and eat out on August 11.

To Attend Convention

Jehovah's Witnesses of the Oakland congregation have been invited to attend a three-day convention in Charleston, W. Va., to be held in the Watt Powell Ball Park August 3-5.

John Weber, overseer of the Oakland congregation, announced that he plans to lead a delegation of three to the assembly.

The local congregation has been asked to supply volunteers to man the more than 20 departments set up for this convention.

The cadets, ages 14-19, are participating in a program designed to help them meet their requirements in the C. A. P.

White Rock, Oakland Split Double Bill

White Rock split a doubleheader with front running Oakland and Loch Linn and Mt. Storm copped twin bills Sunday in the Town and Country Softball League.

In splitting even with White Rock, Oakland maintained its two game lead. Irving Wolfe (7-1) gained a 9-5 decision over Mervia "Lefty" Slagle in the opener. It was Slagle's first loss in nine outings.

Dan Slagle (6-3) beat George Stewart in the nightcap, 14-1. Stewart was 8-0 until Sunday's setback.

Dick Reckner received credit for both victories as Loch Linn downed Kitzmiller, 11-9 in eight innings, and 7-1. Reckner is 4-1 for the season.

Rich Smith, of Cumberland, got credit for a double win as Mt. Storm took Swallow Falls into camp, 7-3 and 16-10.

The National Guard-Crellin twin bill at Terra Alta was rained out.

Review of The Play

Having seen all of the plays (with the exception of one or two presented by the Garrett County Playhouse, since its opening in July, 1955, it becomes most difficult to be entirely objective in attempting to review "Someone Waiting," the second offering of the 1962 season.

I suppose many of us who have followed the endeavors of Gene and Barbara Yell and their various troupe since "Blithe Spirit," their first offering have adopted a somewhat possessive and paternalistic feeling toward our summer theatre. Elsewhere in The Republican this week you will read of the terrible devastating fire which literally took the Playhouse, located in the barn, up in the air in smoke so to speak. Hence an old friend whom we had looked forward each year toward seeing is gone—and as such never to be seen again. Yes, the Playhouse we know on Deep Creek Lake is gone but the spirit of the organization continues to live.

With this thought in mind one gives up all ideas of objectivity and decides herein (at least for the present) to be subjective in thoughts and opinions concerning the Garrett County Playhouse and its current offering.

Some weeks ago while traveling with my wife and a friend, the conversation somehow or another was turned to the topic of quotations, or in many instances "clipses" and someone spoke of "Truth rising like the Phoenix from the ashes." It was pointed out by a more erudite member of the group that such use of the word Phoenix was incorrect. This led to some source reading concerning the mythical bird the Phoenix. This is the fabulous resplendent male bird who is destroyed by flames and who later arises from the pyre more beautiful and gorgeous than ever. It is the feeling of this reviewer that the tragedy which occurred this past Friday morning might be the means of our having a new summer theatre in the future more in keeping with the modern arena type of presentation than ever possible in the old barn. If it would not be out of order might I put forward the suggestion that a group be set up to obtain subscriptions from ticket holders and other friends of the Playhouse in order that a new structure be erected to properly house our finest summer activity—namely the Playhouse. I feel sure that all will agree, at least for the summer theatre in this area, that an arena type of presentation to be located on the lake is a must if the Playhouse is to continue.

So why not let us consider the thought of a "Phoenix Fund" with each contributor receiving a tail feather from the mythical bird.

Since all of our local experiences have been with arena presentations it seems strange to go out to the Dennett Road school auditorium and see this week's play presented on a stage, in the more stylized type of the theatrical presentation.

Tom Calkins, the director, and his technical staff are to be congratulated for the manner in which they have so quickly adapted themselves to playing on a somewhat small and cramped stage with no settings and little possibility of special lighting.

To prevent this from being considered entirely a paeanyric the following facts pertain to this week's show.

"Someone Waiting" by Emily Williams is a psychological type of murder thriller which the British playwrights seem to delight in doing. An earlier play by this same author, "Night Must Fall" was done here some seasons ago. The former is a better knit play. It is interesting that two members of the cast of "Night Must Fall" are also present in this week's show.

The principal objection is that "Someone Waiting" is too long, drags in spots, and too wordy. Perhaps by tomorrow night Tom Calkins will have cut out about fifteen minutes of dialogue. Those engaged in this week's offering really get their teeth into the proceedings and in spite of the author's loquacity, give an excellent performance under somewhat trying physical circumstances, including poor acoustics. The play, though it has a cast of nine, is really a two or possibly three person show. These principal roles are capably handled by Neil Flanagan and a welcome newcomer to the local group, Bob McKnight. Helene Paige, an old friend from earlier days whom we are happy to see return, has the most meaty role. These three persons not too local.

In supporting roles are Steven Ben Israel, Amy Atkins, Mary Ann Craig and Patty Dillon. In walk-ons are Jennifer Yell and Jim Gates. All contribute their part to a relatively tight, well delineated, over all performance.

We purposely not told you much of the plot for we think you will enjoy it much more if you don't know too much concerning why or who done it. We hope though we have stimulated your thoughts and interest sufficient to go out and see what's there and to seriously think about the future.

Next week, Elwood P. David will bring his lovable, fantastic friend "Harvey" to us for a week's visit which should call for the SRO sign each night at the Dennett Road school. This will be good entertainment for the whole family, including Aunt Minnie, who looks at some theatrical fare with a jaundiced eye.

—E. I. Baumgartner, M. D.

$1,000 For Scientific Equipment

Henry W. McComas, administrator of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, Md., is shown with a check for $1,000 from the hospital auxiliary at a dinner meeting on Saturday evening, July 14, for the purchase of scientific equipment. The presentation was made by Mrs. Kermit Glatfelter, president of the auxiliary.

Mr. McComas was the speaker at the dinner held in the Hinebaugh dining room. Mr. McComas remarked, "This has been a century of scientific miracles. It has brought the most amazing strides in health care ever concentrated in such a brief period. Twenty years have been added to the life span. More babies are living to grow up, and more mothers and fathers are living to nurture their children. He also declared, "The changing composition of the population points to an ever increasing concern with preventive care, with chronic illness and with rehabilitation. We are now a nation of over 179 million. If the present rate of population increase continues, it is estimated that by 1977 we will exceed 216 million. It is also predicted that by 1975 ten percent of the population will be aged 65 or over, a tribute to the advances in health care but presenting special problems in caring for an aging population."

Farm Queen Contest Set For August 7

Court Awards $55,000 Damages in Bus Accident

Carroll County Jury Deliberates Two Hours in Reaching Verdict

Two children injured nearly three years ago when a train smashed into a school bus at Mt. Lake Park were awarded a total of $55,000 in damages Friday by a Carroll County Circuit court jury.

The award, which wound up a four day trial moved to Westminster from this county, came after one hour and 58 minutes of deliberation.

Roy Olen Hinkle, Jr., 15, who was seeking $140,000 damages, received $25,000, and his father an additional $1,891.28 for medical expenses.

Frances Dixon, 17, who sought $100,000 damages, was awarded $30,000 and her father $839 for medical bills.

Both Hinkle and Miss Dixon named the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and Leroy Campbell, 52, the bus driver, as defendants.

The train-bus collision happened on September 10, 1959. Seven children were killed and 11 others injured. Twenty-six students were riding the bus.

The railroad argued that the bus driver should have heard the train or seen its signals. The carrier's attorney claimed Campbell became excited and did not act properly.

Campbell testified during the trial that he did not see the train after his bus stalled on the track at Mt. Lake Park. He said, however, he had instructed the passengers to get off the bus.

Both Campbell and the railroad assumed equal liability under the award.

"Seven Keys" Next Playhouse Offering

The most popular play from the pen of the beloved George M. Cohan, a play which combines both the thrills of a mystery melodrama and the laughs of a farce comedy, has been chosen as the next presentation of the Garrett County Playhouse.

This is "Seven Keys to Baldpate" which will open at the Blue Barn on Tuesday, July 31 and continue through Saturday of next week.

The hectic goings-on at Baldpate Inn, a summer hotel, begin when William Magee, a writer of who done it fiction, goes there in the dead of winter to win a bet by turning out a 10,000 word story in 24 hours.

Believing that he has the only key in existence to the isolated inn, the peace and quiet he sought, there is shortly broken in on by pistol shots, shrieks, corpses, double dealing and general pandemonium after the possessors of six other keys to Baldpate, one after another, turn the lock. The harried novelist is confronted by a crook, an adventuress, a grafting mayor, a ghostly hermit, a corrupt corporation president and his aide, and a beautiful girl reporter.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" is representative of the scores of phenomenal stage successes by the great "Yankee Doodle Dandy," George M. Cohan. Since its original highly successful Broadway run, it has become one of the most popular items in the repertoires of theatres throughout the country.

"Harvey" is the presentation this week at the Donnett Road school, temporary quarters of the Playhouse troupe.

A full cast has been corralled for next week's production and the parts are distributed as follows: Elliott Quimby, Jim Gates, Mrs. Quimby, local talent; William Hollowell Magee, Neil Flanagan, John Bland, Larry Kingsley, Mary Norton, Mary Ann Craig, Mrs. Rhodes, Patti Dillon, Peter the Hermit, Darrell Salk, Myra Thornhill, Helene Paige, Lou Max, Phil Jones, Jim Carcan, Steve Ben Israel, Jiggs Kennedy, Tom Calkins, and owner of Baldpate, Charles Briner.

MORE THAN KNEE HIGH—This corn was more than "knee high by the Fourth of July," Carl Sisler, his son Stephen, and Nelson Custer are standing by a field of corn on the former's farm near Red House that promises to produce a bumper crop. It was already head high when the picture was taken on the 11th of July. Carl is an active co-operator with the Garrett Soil Conservation district. During the past couple of years he has seeded some of his steeper cropland to good alfalfa stands, has installed several thousand feet of tile drains in poorly-drained areas, and has limed and fertilized all pastures on the farm. "That corn," says Carl, "is the result of doing every step as nearly right as we know or can find out."

Accident Youth Killed In Fall

Everett Nickolas Friend, 20, of Accicum, was killed Friday in a motorcycle accident, near Washington, where he was working on construction of the new Cabin John bridge.

Friend was killed when a scaffold on the bridge apparently gave way, hurling him 30 feet to the rocks below. He was pronounced dead of multiple injuries about an hour after arrival at Suburban hospital.

The victim had been employed about a month by Ruckman and Hanson company of Ft. Wayne, Ind., contractor for the bridge. He had been a construction worker for the past three years.

Born in this county March 17, 1942, he was a son of Everett C. and Marian (Hoy) Friend.

Besides his parents he is survived by his widow, Nancy Hardesty Friend, one son, Philip, at home; three sisters, Mrs. John F. Singer, Deer Park; Mrs. Frank Cook, Rockville; and Mrs. Ronald Warren, Silver Spring; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Friend, all of Sang Run.

Baby Beef Sale To Be Feature of Fair

The third annual 4-H and F.F.A. Baby Beef sale is expected to be one of the features of the sixth Garrett County agricultural fair, that will be staged August 7 to 11 at the fair grounds at McHenry.

The beef sale, however, is only one of a number of activities slated for fair week.

There will be thirty-two animals judged and sold this year according to officers of the Garrett County "Beef Producers' association, sponsor of the event. The judging will take place Thursday evening, August 9, at 5 o'clock and the annual sale will be held on Saturday evening, August 11, at 8 o'clock. Ira Mahaffey will be the auctioneer.

Last year 15 four-11 and F.F.A. members exhibited 21 steers, and the grand champion was grown by Barry Rush, of Accident. The grand champion last year brought 54 cents per pound, being purchased by Miller's Sanitary Market.

Last year a new baby beef barn was erected by the fair association to take care of this growing activity and the number to be shown (Continued on Page Four)

Blue Barn To Be New Playhouse Site July 31st

Summer Theatre, Destroyed By Fire, Will Be in New Location For Next Play

The Garrett County Playhouse, which lost its theatre barn at McHenry in a fire Friday, July 13, has found a new location on Deep Creek Lake, according to an announcement by scene Yell, manager.

A new theatre in the round will be located in what lake residents call the Blue Barn on the Beckman peninsula.

This week's production of "Harvey" will be staged in the Donnett Road school auditorium, near Oakland but the players will open in their new location on Tuesday, July 31.

Yell pointed out that attendance had been off at the school which has been used since the day of the fire. He explained that many of the residents and vacationers at the lake who normally attended the barn at McHenry had appeared reluctant to drive into Oakland for the show.

He felt a different atmosphere was created when the shows are presented in the round at a barn where the audience sits around the stage.

Pleads Guilty to 6 Forgery Charges

Hazel Sarah Friend, of Sand Flat, north of Oakland, pleaded guilty to six separate charges of forgery when given a hearing in the Circuit court yesterday afternoon before Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill.

She had been arrested July 12 on charges of forging various names on checks and getting them cashed at local stores. Charges were preferred by Wayne Wilt, deputy sheriff.

The checks involved in the court action yesterday totaled $115.50.

Judge Hamill sentenced the woman to eighteen months in the Maryland Institution for Women on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently. The sentences were suspended upon condition she make total restitution within a period of six months, that she refrain from any repetition of the activity, that she remain of good behavior. She was placed under supervision of the Parole and Probation officer.

Appeals Court Keeps Senate Present Form

The Maryland Court of Appeals, in a 4-3 decision, ruled Monday that the State Senate does not have to be apportioned on a population basis.

The lower house of the legislature had been reapportioned last May 31, giving metropolitan areas 19 more seats and control of that chamber for the first time in history. Baltimore City and the four largest suburban counties now have 79 of the 142 House seats. They have 76 percent of the state's population.

Reapportionment forces argued that the gain in House seats would mean little unless the Senate also were related to population. The Court of Appeals affirmed an Anne Arundel County Circuit court ruling that both houses need not be related to population. The Senate is based primarily on geography.

Opinions are to be filed at a later date. Voting to affirm the lower court ruling were Judges William L. Henderson, Hall Hammond, William R. Horney and James Magill. Dissenting were Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune, Stedman Prescott and Charles C. Marbury.

The ruling was expected to be appealed to the U. S. Supreme court.

Annual Regatta Due

Chairman of the registration committee is John F. Schmitt, II, of Cumberland.

The Rev. Arthur M. Bicker, of Pittsburgh, Pa., will be installed as pastor of St. John's Lutheran church (Missouri Synod), of Cove, in a special service to be held Sunday evening, August 12, at 7 o'clock. He will succeed the Rev. H. H. Droult, who is now serving a parish near Buffalo, N. Y. Since his departure in February the services have been conducted regularly by the Rev. C. F. Dauphin, pastor of Zion Ev. Lutheran congregation at Accident.

Pastor Bicker has been pastor of Zion Lutheran church in Pittsburgh the past seven years. In Pittsburgh he also was involved in several activities in area churches besides his congregational work. ## Commissioners Seek To Clarify Garrett-Allegany Boundary Line

An unusual conference was held last week in Cumma, claud between Allegany and Garrett county commissioners. The object was to clarify the boundary line separating the two counties.

Members of the county commissioners, and members of their assessing department, met with the neighboring officials concerning a short section of the boundary line in the Bloomington area.

As explained by Carl Schell, board president, when assessors for this county went to several properties in connection with their work, they were told by the property owners "we live in Allegany county and pay taxes there."

Schell explained that the local board would like to have the matter cleared up so that the properties could be assessed by the county in which they are officially located.

He said there are several lines which mark the boundary of the two counties. One was the Chisholm line, another the Harvey line but the one which the Legislature had set as the official one was known as the Bauer line.

Besides Schell, officials from this county included Commissioners Elva Garlett and Fred Glatfelter, and personnel from the assessing department.

It was brought out several years ago that Allegany county had been snow plowing a section of road in the general area of Finze, although the roadway was in Garrett county. The boundary line in that section was also termed "hazy."

Letter to The Editor

Editor, The Republican
Dear Sir:

The men and women who signed the letter entitled "The Case of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Faith" appearing on page 5 of your paper last week wish to correct several errors appearing in a front page article referring to the letter.

It was stated that there were 22 signers to the letter. The exact number of signers were 27. You referred to the letter as a petition; it was a letter, not a petition. Also, the resolution of the Bittering Community Association was "to support the other organizations of the County in seeking the resignation or dismissal of Superintendent of Schools, Willard Hawkins, and the three school board members, George D. Edwards, Maurice Brookhart and Mrs. Elsie Brady," instead of the way it appeared in your article. You stated that most of the signers were from the Grantsville-Bittering area. The signers were from the following: five from Friendsville; six from Accident; four from Grantsville; three from McHenry; one from Bittering; one from Swanton and two from Oakland.

We commend your staff for the front page article and accept the blame ourselves for not submitting more detailed information to you concerning the matter.

Thanking you on behalf of the above listed persons, I am,
Very truly yours,
Robert D. Buckel,
Swanton

Aids In Campaign
To Reduce Accidents
In Rural Sections

An action campaign to reduce farm accidents in Maryland was being put into operation by the Maryland Farm and Home Safety committee, and the Board of Directors of the Garrett County Farm Bureau is cooperating in the program.

National Farm Safety week is July 22 to 28. Robert G. Glatfelly, president of the local Farm Bureau, said that safety fact sheets would be issued periodically to focus attention on safety hints.

Glatfelly pointed out that today's farmer may use as many as thirty-five different types of machinery during the year. "This increasing variety and complexity of machinery helps get the job done faster and easier," said Glatfelly, "but it means a greater possibility for accidents."

He advised common sense and the basic rules of safe handling to apply to all machines. He listed two essential rules as: always to keep shields and guards in place when operating; and to be sure to turn off machinery before adjusting, unloading or servicing.

Agricultural groups are uniting through the Farm and Home Safety committee in an effort to reduce the "needless waste to human resources in rural areas."

Game Wardens Busy

During the fiscal year ending June 30 game wardens in the Western Maryland region apprehended 247 violators of game and fish laws. These violators were fined a total of $8,900 and costs.

Game wardens also issued 111 warning tickets to persons for minor violations. In addition the wardens enforced state boat laws, conducted 112 conservation programs for schools, civic and sports clubs.

The game wardens are Robert S. Brown, Kitzmiller; Leo G. Friend, Deep Creek Lake; Francis H. Ruge, Grantsville; Joseph L. Keating, Frostburg; Eugene V. Law, Cumberland; Lawrence F. Fiorita, Hancock; Claude J. Chise, Hagerstown; David A. Gross, Sharpsburg; and Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, Cumberland.

Review of 'The Play'

Theatre fare of a most delightful type is provided this week at the Garrett County playhouse in the offering of "Harvey", one of America's most loved fantasies. "Harvey" was written by Mary Chase and first presented by Brook Pemberton at the 48th St. Theatre in New York. The play received the Pulitzer Award for the best play of 1945. In addition, it has provided employment for many well known actors in the role of Elwood P. Dowd. Perhaps the best known was James Stewart.

The play represents the first New York success of Mary Chase. Since it is almost pure fantasy, "Harvey" upset the more prevalent theatrical belief that fantasy is lacking in popular appeal. In doing so it became one of the ten plays with the longest run in the modern day theatre.

Since this delightful stage experience has had so many exposures, it's probably not necessary to recount in detail the saga of Elwood P. Dowd, et al. It is, though, important to point out that Elwood is a charming, urbane, witty, intelligent person who brings happiness into the lives of many with whom he comes in contact. This is accomplished by Elwood and his amazing friend, Harvey, who is a six-foot, one and one-half inch white rabbit.

In spite of the problems involved in staging the play, "Harvey" emerges as a triumph for all concerned. In the arena all would have been better since each person in his own way would have been able to follow the actions of the very gregarious Harvey and his human pal.

It is somewhat difficult to give due credit to all concerned. First, a bow to Tom Calkins for an excellent job of direction and staging under conditions that are anything but ideal.

The leads this week are entrusted to the always dependable Neil Flanagan and Helen Paige.

Neil, as we have come to expect from this splendid young actor, portrays Elwood Dowd as a most delightful, lovable character. He is quite convincing and realistic in his approach to the role. Helen Paige as the sister is the twitting, thithering type of person, so determined yet so unsure that she becomes lovable without being just exasperating. Mary Ann Craig and Jim Gates as the nurse and the young psychiatrist were excellent in their roles. Other members of the resident troupe were Patti Dillon and Steven Ben Israel, whose performances contributed much to the play. Bob McKnight was a typical, somewhat disaffected proprietor of a mental institution. As an added treat this week, Tom Calkins was most convincing as the taxi driver who provided some of the best philosophy of the play. A number of local people are also used this week. Lee Thomasson is a most attractive young housemaid. Susie Smith makes a typical middle western dowager. Starr Michael is the somewhat anxious wife of the proprietor of the haven of rest; Phil Jones, however, must be awarded the palm for the best performance by a local person—his interpretation of the officious hospital attendant was excellent.

Now, having made our kudos to all involved, may we urge all and sundry to get out to Dennett road and give yourselves a treat. One admonition—should you see Harvey in person, treat him with the respect to which all leprechauns and good fairies are entitled.

About Last Week's Picture

Writing from Wilmington, Del., William G. Keller adds more information about last week's picture of Grantsville in 1909. He also calls attention to an error in designating one of the community's famous hotels.

"May I make a few comments on the picture of Grantsville in 1909 as reproduced in The Republican?"

The building designated as the Casselman Hotel is the National Hotel, operated at that time by Mr. Charles Bender. The Casselman is at the other end of Grantsville.

The gentleman standing in the street is Dr. Charles Keller, my father, who practiced dentistry in Grantsville for many years both before and after the turn of the century. The dog's name is "Penny."

The men standing on the pavement in front of The First National Bank are Dr. Bayard T. Keller, who later operated the Keller Drug Store, and Leon G. Getty, my uncle, youngest son of Senator Getty, first state senator from the new county of Garrett. Bayard Keller was my brother—wearing a straw hat.

"I enjoy The Republican each week. I was born in 1892 and lived in Grantsville until 1909—the date of the picture, so the above is accurate. I spent my working life in the Legal department of the DuPont company until I retired five years ago."

The army fired an atomic shell in connection with troop maneuvers.

Mt. Savage Edges Grantsville Team

Mt. Savage edged the Grantsville Sluggers in an 11-inning contest 7-6, on a timely hit by Bobby Green which scored Often with the deciding run after the latter had singled and stolen second base.

The win was Mt. Savage's 11th in 18 outings and enabled the team to tie Grantsville for third place, a half game back of Barrelville and one game from the lead. Grantsville sent the game into extra innings by tying the score at 6-6 in the ninth inning when Junior Perry bounced a triple off the fence in left center with Jimmie Keister aboard and Robert Keister singled him home.

Lefty Bob Keister started on the mound for Grantsville, was relieved by Jerry Ritchie in the 11th and Dave Jones who replaced Ritchie in the same inning. Ritchie was tagged with the loss. Dave Jones had a perfect day at the plate with a double and three singles. Bob Keister collected a double and single.

Noted Surgeon Dies

Dr. George E. Bennett, orthopedic surgeon of Baltimore, and renowned leader of star baseball players, died Tuesday, July 24, at his home. Death was attributed to a heart attack. He was 77.

As a member of the medical profession for 50 years, and a professor at Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, he was said to have exerted a major influence on baseball through his services to numerous stars.

Under his direction the first iron lung center in the world was organized at Children's Hospital in the early 1940's. He was a graduate of the University of Maryland School of Medicine and joined the faculty of Johns Hopkins in 1914. He was adjunct professor of Orthopedic surgery at Hopkins until 1947 when his rank became emeritus.

A feeling of personal loss was experienced in this area upon learning of his death.

It was Dr. Bennett who organized, and with the help of the Oakland Civic club, developed the League for Crippled Children.

His first contact with Garrett county was in 1927. It was in May, 1927 that Miss Anne Sloan, of Lonaconing, came to Oakland to ask the Oakland Civic club to take up this work for those in the county who were crippled.

A resume of the early activities was supplied this week by Mrs. Thekla Fundenberg Weeks, who was one of the early presidents of the civic club, who is now visiting in Oakland for the summer months.

She relates: "all civic club members entered into the work. An article in the weekly newspapers here aroused interest and two members of the club, Mrs. Milton Sineell and Miss Grace Jones made contact with a number of people, young and old. Dr. Bennett came for the first clinic here and later was assisted by Dr. George Eaton and Dr. David Weinberg. The two latter are still well known through the county.

"Many persons have had benefit from this medical care for the past thirty-five years, as the result of this early work by the Oakland Civic club. The work was carried on for a number of years, as many remember, by Miss Jones, and patients were treated in her home and in homes throughout the county. The work is still going forward through the activities of the county health department, headed by Dr. Arthur F. Jones, health officer."

Mrs. Weeks recalled that in the early years civic club meetings were held in rooms on the east side of the court house. A waiting room off the circular hall was used for the clinics as well as the bar library.

Civic club members would be there to serve lunch while patients and mothers waited.

Dr. Bennett's first contact with Allegany county came in 1926 when the groundwork for organizing the league was begun. The work spread the following year to Garrett county.

Dr. Bennett termed his work with the crippled children in this area one of the "most gratifying accomplishments of my professional life."

Here's why Dr. M. V. Ross. NEW BRIGHTON, PA. changed to GAS Heat!

Dr. Ross has resided in the Beaver Valley area since 1941. What does Dr. Ross think of Gas and electric heat? How does he compare them? Here are his answers to several important questions:

Question: Your total electric cost from December, 1960, through November, 1961, was $306.95 according to your electric bills. Do you feel this to be reasonable?

Answer: "No, I don't, since only 864 square feet of area is heated. In one month alone, I received a bill of $60.99. Being a commercial customer caused me to pay more than a residential customer, but even if I had been listed as a residential customer, I believe my electric bills still would have been quite high."

Question: Did you take any special measures to cut your electric heating costs, Doctor?

Answer: "As a matter of fact, I did. I used tape to seal off one door where air was entering in spite of weather stripping. I also sealed off my window air conditioner."

Question: How large is your building?

Question: Does the building meet electric heat requirements, Doctor?

Answer: "Yes. It's fully insulated and has storm doors and windows throughout."

Question: Do you have other electrical appliances?

Answer: "I have several small pieces of equipment, but they are not regularly used. I also have a window air conditioner in one room. And, I had an electric water heater which I never used because of the apparent high cost of operation. I plan to install a Gas water heater."

Question: In summing up, would you recommend electric heat to anyone?

Answer: "Frankly, no. After my experiences, I could not honestly recommend it to anyone."

Question: Even though you've had Gas heat just a short time, are you satisfied with its operation and cost?

Answer: "Very much so. In fact, my Gas heating bill for the first 20 days ending February 6, 1962, was only $7.15."

The Conservatives . . .

The average American is a person of high character and possessed of generous instincts. By nature he is deeply sympathetic toward anything which will relieve suffering and need. The political party does not enter in. But the method of accomplishing our relief programs leads to a sharp split in American philosophy between the so-called liberal and the so-called conservative.

The sincere conservative believes we are undermining the best system of government ever devised by overburdening it through an improper approach to the idea of human welfare. The conservative believes that taking money or goods from some and giving it to others by law is fundamentally wrong. He believes it destroys character of both parties. It turns politicians into dishonest rascals who pose as benefactors of the underprivileged and use the public's money to purchase votes by promising more and bigger handouts. The process embitters those who feel they are unjustly taxed to supply these funds and occasionally makes chiselers out of some who receive them.

The conservative believes that in the long run the welfare state idea will destroy the freedom of all who enter into it because it dissipates their wealth, saps their initiative, discourages thrift and tends to reduce its citizens to a lower common denominator level.

He does not regard government as the proper instrument for the unfortunate, but rather that this is a function best handled as voluntary Christian charity carried on by individuals, institutions, churches, clubs, private organizations.

By any standard it should be clear that we can never legislate need, suffering or economic inequity out of existence. These things must be accomplished through positive changes in the heart and minds of men. And it is the conservative's fervent hope that our system of government will be strong enough to withstand the ravages of socialistic schemes and pressures until the whole nation will come to realize that we have been pointing our efforts in the wrong direction.—Wayne Herald, Wayne, Nebraska

Doman began his coaching work early this week, having been tentatively hired about ten days ago. The announcement was withheld until the appointment was confirmed by the superintendent, who just returned to Oakland Monday after having been attending a summer institute in the humanities at Colorado college upon a fellowship.

Doman, whose home is at Fredericktown, Pa., succeeds Earl "Whitey" Adolphson, who resigned recently after having served as head grid mentor for the Highlanders during the seasons of 1959, 1960 and 1961 when his teams won 15 games and lost 11. His 1961 team posted a 6-3 record.

A 200-pounder, Doman was regarded as a defensive stalwart and a rugged blocker when he played with the Mountaineers. He earned football letters at W. V. U. in 1955, 1956 and 1957 while playing for teams coached by the late Art Lewis. During the three seasons he played varsity ball at W. V. U., the Mountaineers won 21 games, lost eight and played one tie.

Doman, along with Sam Huff, now a tackle for the New York Giants of the National Football League, was selected on the Academic All-America team in 1955.

Three Fires Occur; Little Consequence

Three fires were reported during the week-end by the Oakland Volunteer Fire department, none of the three of any consequence. The first call came from the home of Rex Teagarden, High street, Extended, last Saturday afternoon at 2:30, where there was a leak in the gas stove in the kitchen. A pilot light caused an explosion.

The fire was out on arrival of the department and there was no appreciable damage. Another call at 4:23 was the result of an automobile on fire at Cabin Lodge, Deep Creek Lake. The department truck was contacted by radio that the fire was out so the trip was not completed.

Sunday afternoon at 1:30 the department was called to Cornish Manor where a fire occurred in a barn which was being razed. Workers were burning out a hornet's nest when the gable ignited. The blaze was extinguished with no damage.

National Sailing Event Being Held

This is the week for deciding the Rebel class national sailing championship, with competition to be held this year at the Deep Creek Yacht club on Deep Creek Lake. Events are being held Wednesday through Saturday. It is the first national competition ever scheduled in this area.

Some fifty of the 16-foot fiberglass Rebels from eight states are competing. Defending national champion is David C. Mahan, Morgantown, W. Va., and member of the host club.

Mahan captured the Maryland State Rebel crown last year at Turkey Neck and went on to win the national title on Lake Erie. He lost out for the 1962 state championship at the Deep Creek Yacht club last week-end.

The races will be sailed over a triangular course in front of the club house.

Kauffman, Herndon State Sail Champs

Ray Kauffman of the Manhasset Bay Yacht club, New York, on Sunday won the Maryland State Sloop sailing championship from two former state champions at the Deep Creek Yacht club regatta on Deep Creek Lake.

Kauffman's margin over former champion Stoy Brown of the boat club and Baltimore was small, 4:64 to 4:62. He caught Brown on the final leg of the course in the last of the three races that decided the event. Julius Kroege, another one-time state champion of Silver Lake Yacht club, Rochester, N. Y., was third. Nineteen Snipes made up the field.

In the Rebel competition Lewis Herndon of Island Bay Yacht club, Springfield, Ill., became the state champion. He is commodore of the Rebel class national association.

He defeated Ludwig Fromme of the Toledo Sailing club, Toledo, O., who was second, and Dave Mahan, present national champion, Morgantown, W. Va., and the host Deep Creek Yacht club. He won by a substantial margin.

All three will be staying over for the nationals which begin today and last until Saturday. About 30 to 60 are expected to enter. Twenty-one competed in the field Sunday.

Emmett Echels, Pittsburgh and the Deep Creek Yacht club, won the 12-foot state Flying Scot event, nosing out Earl Zepp, of Deep Creek and Don Holt, Morgantown, W. Va. Jim Crawford, Mohican, South Carolina, won the Jet Fourteen. Sally Jane McClintock, Pittsburgh, was second and third place went to Don Chambers of Mohican Sailing club, Manfield, O.

The Jet Fourteen field consisted of six boats and is a new class being developed at the host club. Average wind conditions existed throughout the day. The 58 entries in the two-day competition was a record.

In the Saturday events Earl Zepp took a first with Don Becler, Washington, second, and Gordon K. Douglass, Oakland, designer of the class, third, in the Flying Scot event.

The next visit to Oakland will be on Saturday, September 8, it was announced by Mrs. Stemple.

Judge Hamill Adds 6 Months In Appeal

After hearing an appeal yesterday afternoon concerning an assault and battery case against Maxine Harvey, of Kitzmiller, Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill remarked he didn't believe the trial magistrate had been severe enough. He affirmed the magistrate's decision and added an additional six months to the woman's sentence.

She had pleaded not guilty to the charge. She was found guilty by Trial Magistrate Robert M. Maroney two weeks ago and sentenced to six months in the House of Correction. She appealed. Judge Hamill found her guilty also and raised the sentence to one year in the Maryland Institution for women.

The assault was on Robert Copeland, Copeland testified before Magistrate Maroney that the woman had used a butcher knife to stab him about the neck. Testifying yesterday before Judge Hamill he said the wound had occurred while he was shaving and that she had not stabbed him.

Taking note of the discrepancy Judge Hamill told the state's attorney to present the matter to the September grand jury for a possible indictment on perjury.

Two weeks ago Copeland had also been charged with assault against the Harvey woman after Copeland allegedly beat her up. Both were found guilty at the time and Copeland also was sentenced to serve six months in the House of Correction. He did not appeal.

The Harvey woman is on parole from Mineral county, W. Va., for shooting a man a year or so ago.

Other Cases Heard

In other cases heard before Magistrate Maroney, Lloyd Smiley was termed guilty of reckless driving and sentenced to serve 10 days in jail but the sentence was suspended.

Maroney said Smiley was attempting to pass another automobile west of Deer Park when an armored car in back of him attempted to pass the Smiley car. Smiley was charged with running the armored car off the road.

In still another case Elmer Fike, Mt. Lake Park, charged with assault and battery upon Jane Fike, pleaded not guilty but was found guilty at a hearing and sentenced to 30 days in jail. This sentence was suspended upon condition he remain of good behavior.

Park Attendance Off

Attendance at state parks and recreation areas was off last week-end. The Department of Forests and Parks said the number using facilities in the state was 99,706, about 5,000 fewer than for the same week-end in 1961 and 20,000 fewer than the previous week-end.

Attendance was up at Potomac State Forest from 73 to 115. Big Run was up 1,618 to 2,711. Other attendance figures were: Swallow Falls, 1,765 to 2,380; Herndon Manor, 2,536 to 3,840; New Germany, 1,818 to 2,766; Dan's Mountain, 450 to 595; Allegany county and Deep Creek Lake, 3,995 to 5,464.

Prior to his employment by the roads commission Mr. Kahl worked as a bookkeeper for Northern Natural Gas company, a position he took in 1920. Ten years later he became bookkeeper for H. W. Kahl and Sons. From 1917 to 1919 Mr. Kahl served in the army during the first world war. ## Civil Air Patrol To Offer Air Rides

Free airplane rides are being offered by the Civil Air patrol squadron during the Garrett county fair next week, it was announced. One free ride will be offered each day.

The unit will have the plane on display and also some of the equipment. The manner of selecting the person each day will be held at the squadron's food stand which will be operated again this year.

Money realized from the sale of food will be used to purchase uniforms, educational and instruction material for the cadets who are boys and girls 14 to 18 years of age. Most of the equipment is furnished by the squadron by the U. S. air force but the responsibility for paying for maintenance is up to the organization. One of the big costs is the expense of gasoline and oil used to fly cadets and senior members on orientation flights.

The squadron is available to assist anyone in emergency work.

"Male Animal" to Be Next Play Offering

The Garrett County Playhouse opened Tuesday night in a new theatre in the round in the Blue Barn on Beckman's Peninsula on Deep Creek Lake.

The barn has been leased from William Kight, Cumberland and during the past two weeks has been converted into a place similar to the one destroyed by fire on July 13.

This week the players are presenting "Seven Keys to Baldpate" by George M. Cohan.

Next week, August 7 through 11, the Summer Theatre will present "The Male Animal" a play by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent. The comedy hit kids college life and college minds, and will be given with a full cast along with some local talent.

"The Male Animal" is considered a good natured but unsparing lampoon of college football heroes, radical students, stuffed-shirt trustees and campus "red" scares. The story concerns the harassment of a young professor who has casually announced that he will read Vannevar's letter in his class as an example of the powerful writing of an untutored man. When some trustees with underdeveloped minds get wind of the proposal, the reading of the letter snowballs into an issue of academic freedom.

Consistent to the main theme is the story of the professor's wife who toys with the notion of running away with a brawny football coach, and a parallel triangle between a sweet young coed, a radical student and a football star.

In March, 1958, the play was presented on television on Playhouse 90 and featured Andy Griffith, Edmond O'Brien, Ann Rutherford and Charles Ruggles. It ran for over eight months when first presented on Broadway and described as "not only vastly amusing but also vastly refreshing in its intelligent liberalism."

New Organization Formed Recently At Meeting of Citizens

A new organization, "Citizens for a Garrett County," was effected at a meeting in the Accident Fire hall recently, and elected Ray Gioni, Grantsville, president; Harland Bowman, McHenry, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Buckel, Swanton, secretary; and Mrs. Guy Stanton, Grantsville, treasurer. A legal adviser is to be named soon.

Purpose of the organization is to "lend support to any problem of public concern (no private) that cannot be or has not been handled effectively by existing agencies, by study by a bi-partisan board of directors and by providing office space, office personnel, publicity and financial support when necessary; to lend support to any problem of public concern originating with any organized member group, provided the group requests such support."

The new organization is composed of the organization was being organized and individuals.

The members present authorized Mr. Gioni to name a committee to draw up a constitution and remain legal counsel to draw up articles of incorporation.

The new president pointed out that the organization was designed to handle problems of many kinds in a fair and equitable manner. Prior to the actual organization Robert L. Gloffely, commander of the Accident American Legion most acted as temporary chairman.

Gas Production In Three Months Is Up Slightly

County Receives Check For $14,089.22, An Increase Of $1,516.92

The quarterly report of the production from the local natural gas field showed a slight increase of $1,516.92 over the last period, it was revealed this week by the County Commissioners' office which received a check for $14,089.22. The check three months ago was $12,572.30 and the one prior to that was $14,716.90.

The report this week was the second for the new year. The first $50,000 received in a year goes toward liquidation of the school building debt, and up to $25,000 above that goes toward the expenses of the Garrett County Memorial hospital. The two checks this year total $26,661.52.

The report showed that 785,600 cubic feet of gas had been taken from the wells of the area compared to 655,860,000 the previous ninety days. The report today covers the period April 1 to June 30 and showed an average of more than 8 and one-half million per day. The amount received for marketable gas was $201,274.34 compared to $179,051.29 for previous quarter. Some checks for a three months period have run as high as $28,000.

Thirty-two wells were listed as producing gas, one less than the previous report. The one missing this time was the Doerr Well.

Seventeen wells were listed under joint ownership of O. Eberly, Robert Eberly, William E. Stone and L. N. Murray, for a portion of the period, but last month these wells were transferred to the Texas Eastern Transmission corporation, so the wells were listed twice in this report, the latter list covering only from June 13 to June 30.

These seventeen wells were again listed as the heaviest producers.

Largest on the list was the Barbara Miller well with a combined listing of more than 119 million cubic feet. Next was Herman and Hanlin well with over 118 million, then Black and Frazee with over 101 million; then Bower well with over 98 million; and Collier well with over 49 million. The Norris K. Welch well, the area's first producer, was still going strong, supplying over 14 million cubic feet during the quarter.

The breakdown showed that $5,435.89 of the check was from the purchaser's proportion of the tax at 28 percent of the marketable gas, and $8,453.53 from the producer's proportion of the tax at 42 percent.

Since the first check for the tax on marketable gas was received by the County Commissioners in July, 1951, the county's governing body has received $639,949.05. A portion of this amount is distributed to incorporated towns if there are any gas fields in those areas.

The tabulated report of the gas production appears in this issue.

CAPITOL COMMENT

by Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

The County Fair, A Maryland Tradition

One of the questions that I am most frequently asked these days is, "When is Congress going to adjourn?" I always have to give the answer, "I wish I knew." It is a matter of great importance to me because I want to be getting about the 6th District—seeing many of my friends whom I have not seen because of the heavy pressure of work here in Washington and, of course, doing some campaigning in preparation for November. But regardless of when Congress adjourns, the steady progress of the seasons is going forward as it does every year. We are now reaching that period of the summer when gardens are producing their best—when farms are beginning to show the work of the spring and summer, when harvests are in sight and when, of course, our farm friends begin

PHINEAS SPIKER

Phineas Spiker, aged 65, died Monday, July 30, in Miris hospital in Frostburg where he was admitted Sunday. He was born in this county May 26, 1897.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Nora Spiker, and a brother, James Spiker, addresses unknown.

The body was taken to the to display their produce at county fairs throughout Maryland.

Next week the first of the county fairs in the 6th Congressional District will be opened in Garrett County. The Garrett County Fair is held near the town of McLeary on the banks of Deep Creek Lake. It is one of the most beautiful settings for a fair that you can imagine and many of the summer visitors who go to Garrett County to enjoy the fishing, the swimming, and the boating on Deep Creek Lake will also be welcomed at the Garrett County Fair. Although no work in Washington will keep me here through the week of August 6th, when the Fair begins, I am hopeful that I will be able to leave Washington early enough on Friday so that I can see the Fair that evening and visit again on Saturday.

For those of you who are unable to go as far west as Garrett County for its fair, the Washington County Fair will open the following week in Hagerstown. This is one of the traditionally great fairs of Maryland. It will begin August 13th and will continue through the week. I know that if you live near Hagerstown or if you can travel there you will enjoy the many fine exhibits which are always present at the Washington County Fair and you will enjoy the warm welcome in Hagerstown.

As our fair season progresses in the 6th Congressional District we will have a week of great importance, because there are two fairs during the week of August 20th.

There is the Montgomery County Fair and the Allegany County Fair. The Montgomery County Fair is held near Gaithersburg and attracts one of the largest crowds of any county fair in Maryland. Of course, it is close to the Metropolitan area of Washington and people can very easily get to Gaithersburg on Interstate Route 70, a major dual highway north from Washington. At the Montgomery County Fair are displayed some of the finest dairy cattle, beef cattle and farm produce produced anywhere in the world. It's always a joy to see what the fertile fields of Montgomery County produce each year.

Allegany County traditionally has its fair the same week and this year I am sure it will live up to its usual high standards. I am hopeful again that I can get away from Washington at some time during that week and that I will be able to visit both of these great fairs.

We have a fifth and final fair in the 6th Congressional District after a lapse of a month when the Frederick County Fair will hold its 100th Centennial Exhibition in Frederick during the week of September 24th. Because of the fact that this will be the 100th Frederick Fair, I am sure that the managers of the fair will make a special effort to put on one of the finest agricultural exhibits that has ever been seen.

I know that many of you will be going to the fairs, that you will be expressing your interest in our agricultural traditions and heritage during this year, and it is my hope that I will be able to see you there.

Review of The Play

Somewhat or other, Gene Yell's subconscious mind must have been functioning well when he decided on "Seven Keys to Baldpate" as the fourth production for the 1962 season. Had the play been definitely picked as the initial offering in the new home of the Garrett County Playhouse, no better selection could have been made.

The Playhouse has moved back to Deep Creek Lake, located in a picturesque barn in the area known as Beckman's Peninsula, not far from the Glendale bridge. One pleasant thing concerning the new home is that the theatre chairs, part of the Maryland theatre, we think are much more comfortable than those in the original location.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" is a hard perennial in America's great plays of crime and detection serves well as the initial offering in the Blue Barn. This play which was written, produced and directed by the late George M. Cohan, in 1913, was eminently successful. It was reviewed by the players' clubs about twenty-two years later. The stage trick on which the effectiveness of "Seven Keys" depends, is a sound trick. But somehow we wonder if all who were present on Tuesday were aware of it. The necessity of playing the melodrama in the round, makes it difficult to show that the play has a prologue and an epilogue, which is actually necessary for its best advantage.

For the return to the more bucolic setting, we have this play, an opus with one of the largest casts seen in many years. There are four local persons, Mary Lee Thomas, son as an elderly woman who manages to be quite convincing. Darrell Salk as the most fantastic looking person we've seen for a long time. Had he had an old time rubber bulbhead type of auto horn in his hand, he would have been a dead ringer for Harpo Marx. Darrell works hard and gives a most entertaining performance. William Kight, the owner of the Blue Barn, fits in well as the owner of Baldpate. Tom Jones is one of the plug uglies, and very good is his interpretation. The resident company, thank goodness, plays the whole thing in a rather broad manner, all of which adds to the enjoyment of the evening. Neil Flannagan turns in a very satisfactory performance. The remainder of the company fits well into the proceedings at hand. A most amazing and fantastic assortment of costumes are unveiled this week.

The play itself is concerned with a wicker in which a back writer of melodramatic fiction promises to turn out a pot boiler in twenty-four hours. How he succeeds provides the rest of the action. The whole family will have a ball, not only with the theatrical offering, but inspecting the new surroundings.

THE CASE OF MR. and MRS. LAWRENCE FAITH

On June 4, 1962, Mr. Lawrence S. Faith was transferred from the position of senior instructor of agriculture at Northern High School to a post at the junior high level in Kitzmiller. An examination of the accomplishments of the Northern Vocational Agriculture Department during the seven-year period Mr. Faith headed it should cast great doubts as to both the wisdom and justification of this action.

During this seven-year period, the Northern Ag Department accomplished many noteworthy feats. Do you know that the local ag department won, not once, but four times in a row, the coveted National Gold Emblem Award for an outstanding agricultural accomplishment? This award is presented to only some 30 of the 6500 districts in the whole United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, and the Northern Ag Department was the first in Maryland history to earn this recognition.

Possibly you recall that the Northern Ag boys competed in public speaking contests and won local, regional, and state competitions, being stopped for national level competition during the Springfield Agricultural exposition at Springfield, Massachusetts. This is a prominent example of Northern FFA teams in action—these same teams have triumphed dozens of times in almost all categories of FFA competition—poultry judging, soil judging, farm mechanics, and milk judging to name only a handful.

Still another area in which Northern boys have achieved notable success is the State Farm Bureau program of home farm projects. As many Farm Bureau awards have been made in the Northern Garrett County region as in any other region in the State.

As to Mr. Faith himself, there are several things which should be known: (1) He worked his way through the University of Maryland during the Great Depression, graduating 7th high in a class of some 150 in the College of Agriculture with a 3.3 average for all his collegiate courses. (2) He is currently finishing work on a Master's Degree and has an average of 3.9 in the Graduate School. (3) He is one of the few teachers in the State to hold an Honorary Maryland State Farmer Degree for outstanding work in the field of agricultural education.

If you talk with Mr. Faith, you will probably hear little of these many accomplishments—he is a man who looks to the future, yet he is one who takes great pride in the past. It is surely a fact that he is deeply hurt by those who say that one of the best Agriculture departments in the nation has existed in spite of its leader.

Undoubtedly, Mr. Faith is eminently qualified to teach agriculture. It is a monument to his dedication to this County that he has accepted a position at Kitzmiller, even when he is offered better posts elsewhere. It would seem indeed highly irregular should the citizens of Garrett County allow a man who has stood up for the future of their children to be deprived of the position for which he has proven himself so worthy.

The above material is presented and paid for by Ray Giconi in an effort to bring before the public more information concerning the case of MR. AND MRS. LAWRENCE FAITH.

Respectfully,
RENNEL (RAY) GICONI

Assault Both Ways

The complete story in one of the two assault cases listed last week was not given. The other side of the story was missed because the entry in the trial magistrate's docket was a couple pages back of the one given.

Last week it was noted that Eunice Keplinger was found guilty of assault and battery upon Josephine Brubaker as the result of a disturbance at Green Glade on July 11. She was found guilty and fined $10 and costs.

At the same time Mrs. Brubaker was found guilty of the same charge and also fined $10 and costs.

Edward Sheets pleaded guilty to a charge of non support of his three minor children and was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail. Sentence was suspended upon condition he pay $13 per week for their support. The case was tried July 25.

Small Says Lobbyists Run The State House

Maryland has "been subjected to four years of unparalleled ineptitude and irresponsibility in the State House," people of Maryland were told by Frank Small, Jr., Republican candidate for governor. "We have seen callous indifference become accepted as a way of life," Small said. "We have seen the Governor's office become a vacuum into which the lobbyists and big city bosses have rushed to become the real controllers of the State's destiny."

The former Congressman continued, "Four years of disgraceful complacency in the State House have caused such a political erosion in Maryland that we have become no better than a second-class state."

"The other party has recently completed a spirited gubernatorial also stated that any complaints pertaining to violations of the law should be addressed to the Commission Secretary, John C. Conahan, 318 Light Street, Baltimore 2, Maryland.

at primary," Small said. "It was so spirited that the stomachs of the electorate have only now begun to settle."

He said that no state in the Union has a greater potential than Maryland, but "the potential and the natural resources have been callously ignored and neglected out of deference to selfish special interest groups who have dominated our legislature and have operated the State House like some sinister Punch-and-Judy Show."

Small specifically attacked George Hucker, a representative of brewery interests, and confidant of Gov. Tawes. Alluding to the fact that Hucker and Tawes are presently cruising in the Caribbean together, Small said the "elusive personality" of George Hucker has blossomed into "standing prominence." "He has had the full run of the State House," the Republican candidate said. "His word has carried as much weight as the word of the Governor."

A presidential request for $568,755,000 to start extensive fallout shelter program was knocked from House money bill.

Four-H's Prepare for Annual Fair Entries

Garrett county 4-H club members were reminded by leaders this week to get their exhibits ready for the fair which will be held next week. Entries are due at the grounds at McHenry between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m., on Tuesday. Club members were being urged to participate in the various contests on judging and the tractor operators' contest.

The county 4-H council is sponsoring a 4-H float for the parade Thursday evening and a meeting is set for Friday evening, August 3, at 8 o'clock DSE, at the farm of Harland Bowman, near McHenry, to work on the float. The council has requested at least two members from each 4-H club to assist in building the float. Connie Crowe and Majorie Swartzentruber are co-chairmen of this event.

All 4-Hers exhibiting livestock were reminded to bring their registration papers when entering their livestock as they would be checked by the superintendent. Leaders reminded that all animals must have been cleared by the veterinarian prior to fair time.

Record-Breaking Hogs Featured In This Week's Photo

Prize livestock will be exhibited at the Garrett County Fair next week, but the record-breaking hogs featured today in the Old Picture series were in the limelight 33 years ago.

Some statistics of the animals are found in a newspaper account published on January 10, 1929, which relates:

"On January 4, C. W. and James Wilson, of Garrett county, near Gorman, W. Va., butchered the biggest hog on record, having a gross weight of 1682 pounds, a thoroughbred Poland China Star, three years and ten months old.

The hog was originally purchased from Frank DeWitt, and bore the registered number 15997 and the name, Rainbow. His body length was 8 feet 6 inches and when hanging, 9 feet 7 inches.

"The girl measurement was 72 inches, neck 26 inches, smallest circumference of hind legs 11 inches, and height 52 inches.

"It took seven shots from a .35 calibre rifle to bring him down, and if it had not been for the last shot lodging in the hole of a previous one, this monster might still be going.

"The waste or tare, including blood, did not exceed more than 100 pounds, which made his net weight a little better than 1500 pounds.

"Another hog butchered at the same time weighed 1350, with a body length of 7 feet 4 inches, a total length of 8 feet 6 inches and a girth measurement of 58 inches.

"The stag was weighed on scales, belonging to Charles Duckworth and was witnessed by Mr. Duckworth, Frank Wildesen and C. W. Wilson.

Married June 24

The marriage of Miss Linda Frazee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Frazee of Friendsville, to Deibert Sechler, Jr., was performed on Sunday, June 24, in the Assue Glade Church of the Brethren. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Joseph Lewis.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Hiram Frazee. She wore a white floorlength gown of filmy silk organza over taffeta with a sweetheart neckline of appliqued Chantilly lace embroidered with tiny seed pearls and sequins. The long sleeves tapered to a point on the hand. The full bouffant skirt splattered with lace appliques, sequins and pearls swept into a tiny bustle in the back. Her fingertip veil was a tiana type crown of seed pearls.

Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. She carried white camellias and lily of the valley with white carnation streamers. Miss Charlotte Sisler, niece of the bride, was maid of honor. She was a pale green floorlength gown of tiers of net ruffles over taffeta with a strapless bodice.

She carried green and white carnations with green streamers. Miss Patricia Sechler, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Eileen Capel were bridesmaids. The former wore a light pink floorlength gown with net ruffles over taffeta with a strapless bodice. The latter wore a pink floorlength gown of tiers of net ruffles over taffeta with a strapless bodice. Both carried pink and white carnations with pink streamers.

Debbie Frazee, niece of the bride served as flower girl. She wore a pale green floorlength gown with puff sleeves and wide collar.

Jeff Kreger, nephew of the groom, served as ringbearer. Jack Kreger, brother-in-law of the groom served as best man. Ushers were Charles Wiltrout, friend of the groom and Dale Frazee, brother of the bride.

THE LORD'S WORK

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The dignity of willing labor is one of the principles which Christianity has established among us. It is a natural by-product of a faith whose founder was the Carpenter of Nazareth, whose first adherents were fishermen of Galilee.

Those who are eager to serve God and their fellow men find rich opportunities in the life of the Church. There are tasks for a man's hands, for his voice, for his mind. There are needs that our offerings cannot supply... challenges that call for the talents and time of earnest men and women.

That friendly church which inspires us on Sunday is busy with the Lord's work all week. That man in the next pew is finding new happiness in willing Christian service. Are you?

The Crash

Lesson for August 5, 1962

THEY cried when Queen Nebuchadnezzar left town. For the queen-mother did not leave of her own accord; she was a captive. And as we know, the only people left behind to weep were the "poorest of the land." No one capable of dreaming-up a revolution was left behind. Nebuchadnezzar thought of the queen mother went her puppet son Jehoiaichin (or Jeconiah as he was sometimes called). It would really have been a service to the country if Nebuchadnezzar had stopped right there; for neither she (a local girl of no brains, apparently) nor her son (a mere boy whose father had set him a poor example of how to be a king) was any credit to the country. But with all the young men of the army gone into exile, and all the skilled workers, and all the governing class and all the people with any property, there was enough to cry about.

Dr. Foreman

Worse to Come

It was hard to see how things could be worse. But there was worse to come. King Jehoiaichin's successor was appointed by the King of Babylon, and incidentally his name was changed too—perhaps to demonstrate that he was the last, weakest, and most stupid of Josiah's sons. He did not know on which side, so to speak, his bread was buttered. He paid too little attention to Jeremiah's warnings. He somehow persuaded himself that (with the help of Egypt?) he could break away from Babylon. This time Nebuchadnezzar made a complete shambles of the city. All previous invaders had spared the temple, though they had robbed its treasures. Zedekiah may have thought that since the temple of God was still in the city, God would not let it be destroyed. If he thought so, he was terribly mistaken, for the temple was burned to the ground, the great and beautiful temple which had stood there for about 300 years. With it were burned only the royal palaces, but all the "great houses" of the city.

Could It Happen Here?

When a nation goes to war it usually thinks of itself as winning. Spain thought of course she could crush England with the famous Armada; instead, the loss of the Armada marked the long downhill road of once proud Spain. England fully expected to win the war of the American "rebellion." The Confederate States of America were confident that they could force the United States to recognize their independence. The Kaiser, and after that Hitler, thought "Deutschland über Alles"—Germany Above All—could be arranged by a snappy Blitzkrieg. It is a sad experience to stand in a modern city that once was as bustling and proud as our New York, and see the war-shattered weeks of the tall beautiful buildings laid waste more than 80% of the city that used to be. Now we live in a time when the two most powerful nations on earth possess weapons beyond which the bomb that fell on Hiroshima was hardly more than a large fire-cracker. We live in a time when all it takes to demolish one city is one shot. Our cities and Russian cities, are not even as hard to destroy as Zedekiah's Jerusalem was. It took the best army in the world two years to smash Jerusalem, but the next "war" can be over in two hours. There are no victors in an atomic war, only victims.

What Israel Learned

There was one precious thing not destroyed or deported in the crash of Jerusalem: it was a lesson. They learned, the hard way, that God plays no favorites. He is merciful and long-suffering and very patient; but if people do not really love the ways of peace, eventually they pay, in bloody death, for their folly. This is true for the great nations as for little ones. It is just as true for church-going nations as for nations without churches. If the great nations of the world would put as much money and genius into keeping peace as to making war, men could breathe again.

Old To Economy

Tourism under most conditions is a boost to the economy of the region. An idea for an additional aid to the economy was suggested last week by Aurora citizens, which certainly could work also in Garrett county, or any other place where there would be public, desire and interest.

The thought is on the same order as the approved tourist homes which were tried in West Virginia a number of years ago. Farm homes were recognized in their cleanliness, high standards and their willingness to offer their homes for a week or two weeks, away from the hustle and bustle, the noise and strife of the city. People would have the opportunity to return to nature and fresh air, with a few modern conveniences on the side.

If such a practice were started in this area it would give farm people an opportunity for additional income. The project would provide places to take care of the overflow of tourists, men planning the available mode and summer villages. More people would come if they knew of such accommodations.

Recreation and tourism are becoming the number one industry in West Virginia and certainly are high on the list for this county. Facilities could be improved.

There is no shortage for a beautiful, open country, free from the dirt of the city. That's something we have in abundance. People would flock from the cities to Garrett county, or any other place if they were assured of a clean place to sleep and some appealing food to eat. Many farm families in this county could qualify easily to supply that need.

All that would be needed would be for some organized plan and a central place where these approved farm homes could be listed. It would be a wonderful way to get to know people too.

Farm people of Aurora have met with some success this year. The idea would sell itself to other areas.

Potts And Decker Win Singles Tilts

Men's Doubles Event Completed Sunday—Many In Competition

Steve Potts, top seeded player in the Western Maryland Tennis tournament was successful in winning the men's singles crown Saturday afternoon at the courts of the Mt. Lake Park club. Potts defeated Phillip Neff in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2, and 6-2.

The Washington tennis star was top ranked above Neff in the tournament in spite of the fact that Neff had won the event last year. Potts, the runner-up in the Middle Atlantic league earlier this year, was in his first year of competition at the Mt. Lake Park courts. He worked to the finals by defeating in succession Carol Tracy, 6-0, 6-0; Bob Bennett, Pitts- burgh, 6-4, 6-0; seventh-seeded Jack Eaton, Pittsburgh, 6-1 and 6-1; and John Santrock, Charlestown, W. Va., 6-3, 7-9, and 8-6. Potts admitted his toughest match was the semi-finals with Santrock.

The women's singles championship was won by top-seeded Charlotte Decker, of Washington, who repeated her 1961 title win by defeating Betty Meehan, also Washington, 6-0, 6-0. Betty teamed with Frances Barry, Washington, to win the women's doubles championship. The pair defeated Marissa LaPorte, Annapolis, and Maureen Miller, Washington, 6-1, 6-1.

An extra day of play was needed to decide the winners of the men's doubles event. This was won by Steve Potts and Jack Packard, both Washington, who defeated Ernie Kientz, Takoma Park, and Phil Neff, 7-5, 6-2, 8-6 to conclude the 41st annual Western Maryland championships.

To reach the doubles finals Potts and Packard defeated C. L. Burwell and Charley Channing 6-3, 7-5, while Kientz and Neff won over Fred Kellmeyer, Jr., and Santrock 5-3, 6-4. Santrock is a two-time West Virginia champ and a student at the University of Pennsylvania.

Appropriate awards were given to winners and runners-up. Fifty-eight players were entered in the men's singles this year for one of the largest fields in the history of the tournament. Play began Wednesday and continued at a fast clip. The weather was favorable.

The social activities were concluded Saturday night with a semi-formal dance at the National Guard armory.

Call For Football Candidates Issued At Southern High

A call for all boys interested in playing football to report to the Southern High school's gymnasium on Tuesday, August 14, at 2 o'clock p. m., was issued this week by Dick Travis, athletic director.

He said physical examinations would be administered by Dr. Arthur Jones, county health officer, after which equipment would be issued. Mr. Travis pointed out that boys who will be enrolled in grades nine through twelve are eligible to report. He was particularly emphasizing the fact that ninth graders could report. In past years ninth graders have not been eligible for varsity competition.

Schedule of practice sessions for the first eight days will be announced next week. On Saturday, August 25, the boys will report to the 4-11 camp near Bittering where they will remain in football camp until August 31.

Southern High's new coach, Tom Doman, told Southern's principal, W. Kenneth Johns, that he was much impressed with the boys he had met on his visit to Oakland last week. With ninth graders eligible for varsity competition he said he hoped Southern could have a larger turnout than has previously been the case.

Is Your Name KOLB?

Kolb, an old and honored surname, is of German origin. The consensus of opinion among authorities on the origin of names is that it is a pet form of names beginning with Kol or Kohl such as Kolbert and Kohlhardt. When hereditary surnames came into vogue in about the year 1,000 it was common practice for those who were generally referred to by their pet names to adopt them as surnames.

Abel Kolb served as colonel of South Carolina troops during the Revolutionary War. He was born in the Cheraw district of South Carolina and died in 1781.

The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has seven listings of persons by the name of Kolb who were residents of Pennsylvania and heads of families at that time. They lived principally in Berks and Montgomery Counties. The census records of Maryland for the same year contain no references to persons by the name of Kolb.

As additional evidence that members of the Kolb family were among the early settlers of this country, it should be noted that "The Pennsylvania German Pioneers", published by the Pennsylvania German Society and listing the immigrant arrivals at the Port of Philadelphia from 1727 to 1808 shows that Mattheis Kolb came on the ship "Phoenix" on October 20, 1744; Christian Kolb arrived on the ship "Rowand" on September 29, 1753; and Johann Andreas Kolb came on the ship "Richmond" on November 29, 1766.

Frederick Kolb was a constable in Garrett County, Maryland in 1881. Diehlman Kolb (1691-1756), a noted

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

A Program For Economic Recovery—All businessmen and virtually all so-called economists, including even White House advisers, agree that our national economy is in a sorry state. Suggestions of a quick panacea to bring on a temporary lift are generally discarded by the more thoughtful and far-seeing. What is needed is attention to basic economic principles. It seems to me that, for the good of the country, the Administration must follow a four-point program, as follows: (a) Restore the vital element of confidence so that current trends toward an economic slowdown can be reversed; (b) Achieve a higher rate of business capital investment by removing the squeeze on profits; (c) Avoid inflation by establishing responsible budgetary and monetary policies; and (d) Withdraw proposals for new government spending programs. This is a program for sound economic recovery. The future of the United States will be determined largely by the extent of success and growth on the economic front.

Only after maximum attention is given to the points listed should tax cutting be considered. However, this being election year and spending being easier than saving, I fear the sound steps will be lightly ignored for the more dramatic and appealing — a tax cut!

The real friends of business are those who would improve the economic front on a sound basis.

Foreign Aid Bill Passed—This week, the two Houses of Congress accepted the Conference Report on the foreign aid bill, clearing it for the President's signature. It authorized a program of aid for the coming year amounting to $1,670,000,000. This brings the total of foreign-aid expenditures by this nation to about $100,000,000,000 since World War II. Resistance to foreign aid grows more intense each year. This year the Senate inserted a provision denying aid to Communist countries. The President objected to this provision on the grounds that by withdrawing our aid to those countries we would be giving up our last chance of winning them over. Proponents of the provision argued that it was not logical to arm our enemies and all aid could be considered military aid. The compromise, which was finally agreed to, retained the provision against aiding Communist countries, but gave the President authority to make exceptions where he considered it in the best interest of the United States. The proponents of the original proviso are not completely satisfied, and another battle may be expected when the actual appropriation of money to finance the 1963 aid program is voted on.

The present Administration is being criticized for a policy that cut off all U. S. aid to an anti-Communist military group ruling Peru, while giving large-scale aid to Communist dictators in Yugoslavia and Poland.

One of the things about foreign aid which is not always taken into consideration is the fact that about 80% of the money is spent here in the United States. The materials that are bought with foreign-aid dollars go abroad, but those materials are produced and paid for in the United States, thus creating business for American firms and jobs for American workers. Should we eliminate foreign aid, American industries would suffer, and jobs would be wiped out. So it turns out that the foreign aid program may be considered a subsidy to American business, and therefore to American workers.

Trade Bill Should Protect Our Industries—Foreign oil "waste" dumped here, is seriously hurting two great American industries, and something should be done about it. The Trade Expansion Act should be amended to protect the two American industries—namely, the coal producers and the railroads. These industries are threatened by excessive importation of foreign residual oil. This "oil" is nothing more than a waste product and is sold at whatever price is necessary to undersell coal. It has displaced more than 40,000,000 tons of coal per year, and the loss of this production has cost both the coal industry and the railroad industry many thousands of jobs. This "waste" from foreign lands, dumped here in great quantities, and offered to utility companies at prices which our industries could not possibly meet, accounts for some of our economically distressed areas. We must protect our workers and our industries against unfair foreign competition. The foreign trade bill should take care of situations such as that caused by the importation of oil "waste."

Baltimore's Charles Center Progress Threatened—The Independent Offices Appropriations Bill, as reported in the House of Representatives, does not contain provision for funds to begin work on the Federal Office Building in Baltimore's new Charles Center, and without such provision there would be a delay in the great urban renewal project. The reason: excavation and foundation work on the Federal building must be done before work can proceed on the public garage, an important part of Charles Center plans, and the stoppage of work on this part of the project would delay the entire project.

I find that the Bureau of the Budget made no request to the Appropriations Committee of the House, where all appropriations bills are supposed to originate, for funds for the Baltimore Federal Building. As a matter of the appropriation procedure, the committee refers each specific request to the Bureau of the Budget for a report. Without such a report the House Committee did not provide for the Baltimore building. The bill, as it passes the House, will come to the Senate, where changes may be made, but with the Budget Bureau's report on the Charles Center Federal building, my hands are tied in getting the item into the bill. In the absence of a report from the Bureau of the Budget on the item, the Senate Appropriations Committee would not approve the earmarking of funds for this purpose.

I have taken the matter up with the Director of the Budget, David

E. Bell, suggesting that the needed appropriation be included in the General Services Administration budget for fiscal 1963, so that work on the Federal building may proceed without waiting for the following fiscal year's appropriations. I asked Mayor Grady of Baltimore to join me in this request to the Bureau of the Budget.

What Does Communism Give The People?—Communist regimes like to call themselves "People's Republic" or "People's Democracy" or "Vanguard of the Proletariat" or some other such title intended to make it appear that their primary objective is to advance the welfare of the masses, but the record shows that under Communist rule the masses suffer. Castro has imposed the most stringent rationing on the Cuban people. Soviet Russia, for all its vast land area, has an acute food shortage. In Red China the people are all slowly starving—and are pitifully short of other necessities; cloth is rationed at the rate of a square yard or two a year; a single chicken costs about one-fifth of a city worker's monthly wage, and one padded coverlet about a month-and-a-half's wages. This is what Communism, for all the empty glowing promises gives the people while supplementing it with a diet of terror and oppression.

I'm reminded of the story about the three prisoners in a concentration camp behind the Iron Curtain. The first prisoner explained: "I arrived 5 minutes late for work, so they sentenced me to prison for attempting to sabotage the economic plan." The second worker said: "I got to work 5 minutes early and they accused me of spying for the West." The third said: "I clocked in exactly on time, and they decided I must have a watch that kept accurate time and I could have bought that kind of watch only in the West, and so they gave me a life sentence."

A Great Democrat's Advice—Thomas Jefferson said: "We must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt. We must make our election between economy and liberty, or profusion and servitude." Living Beyond One's Income—A recent Government report expressed concern over the fact that nearly 25% of the American people are living beyond their income. Look who's talking!

Hesen, Frostburg, Southern (returning from leave of absence).

New teachers are to meet with Mr. Hawkins, supervisors and principals on Wednesday, August 29, at 1 o'clock for an orientation period.

New Buildings Progress

Mr. Hawkins reported satisfactory progress with new buildings. The Bloomington school is on schedule and will be ready for opening day. Construction on Crellin school should be completed by late fall. The custodial and maintenance staff completely renovated interior of the old portion of the Bloomington school, painted exteriors of both Northern and Southern as well as numerous classrooms, painted several classrooms in Accident school and constructed a new furnace room at Grantsville. The board awarded contract for new furnace room at village to I. and Y Plumbing company in amount of $8,315, low bidder.

The board discussed growing need for additional classroom space at Southern high which anticipated an enrollment of 1,200 in fall. Mr. Hawkins said the board was giving preliminary consideration to addition of a science unit of five classrooms and an additional unit for an auto mechanics shop. Estimated total cost is approximately $200,000. He said money could be made available from state school construction fund if approved by County Commissioners to be repaid over 15-year period. He pointed out the county pays $160,000 annually approximately for principal of bonded indebtedness, which is liquidating debt faster than debt for new construction. In 1959 the one and one-half million dollar bond issue for the two high schools is expected to be fully retired.

Plans for the opening of schools September 4 are moving ahead. Preschool meetings include Cafeteria workers, August 28 and 29; Principals' meeting, August 29; new teachers, August 30; all day teachers' meeting, August 30; all teachers in their respective schools, August 31.

At last Friday's meeting the board met with insurance agents relative to reorganization of the board's insurance program. It is placing its insurance program under the F. I. P. plan and has invited bids on its insurance needs. Bids are to be returned August 24. The board gave the Civil Defense authorities permission to use certain schools for fallout shelters.

The board discussed the Supreme Court ruling relative to prayer in schools. Mr. Hawkins explained he did not believe there could not be prayer in schools but that school or state had no authority to prescribe a sectarian prayer and to make it mandatory.

The superintendent and board members announced plans to attend two meetings: a meeting of all school board members in the state at Frederick October 4-5, and a session of the State Economic Development committee at Cumberland Tuesday, August 14.

Mahan is Winner

won the final race to edge them out.

Fourth place went to Dr. Leon Striegel, of the Crab Orchard Lake sailing club of Carbondale, Ill., the commodore-elect of the Rebel class, with 163 points. His club will be the site of the 1963 championships. Fifth place went to Tom Elman, Ypsilanti, Mich., and the Huron Portage Yacht club, with 156 points. Gary Davis, Pineknay, Mich., was sixth with 152 points.

Club Praised

At the ceremonies returning the national trophy to Mahan, the Deep Creek Yacht club was given an ovation by the visiting yachtsmen for its staging of the national event and for the hospitality of the social program during the event. John E. Geare, Cumberland, is club commodore. Frederick D. Steidinger, Cumberland, past commodore, was chairman of the race committee. Dr. Charles S. Mahan, Morgantown, was regatta chairman. Mahan lost the state championship effort the previous week by a close margin. In Thursday's competition Mahan was second in the morning race, a drifter that required over two hours to complete, and won handily in the afternoon in a five-knot breeze. The Frommes won the drifter and were fourth in the afternoon event. Mrs. Harman was in third place. Mahan prevailed over the Frommes in the Friday races.

There was a field of 36 boats during the four-day event.

U. S. Nike-Zeus antimissile scored the world's first known intercept of a 16,000 mile an hour ICBM warhead.

Listen Americans!

...by Dr. George S. Benson
PRESIDENT — NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

President Kennedy certainly tilted with windmills in his Yale address. Even so, the ideas that he characterized as "myths" and "illusions" must seem more real to him with each passing day. His jibes at the conservative view in fiscal matters doubtless will remain to haunt his Administration. If his liberal fiscal policies do not play havoc with the nation's economy, there may be time yet for an awakening. We must, despite the President and his advisers, avoid the tragedy of giving way to Keynesian "myths" that even in our own experience have been shown unrealistic and unreliable.

Mr. Kennedy's plans for a tax cut in 1963 were announced early in June and soon thereafter Kennedy forces in Congress were working to hoist the ceiling on the national debt up to $205 billion. These moves reflect the Keynesian economics that in the Thirties so deeply penetrated the New Deal. A tax cut certainly will be welcome news to everyone, but the value of it will be cancelled in large part if it must be achieved by deficit and if it enlarges the national debt. What the country needs is a cut in government spending.

The President's advisers are saying that deficits are good for the nation. This idea is supposed to belong to the new realism that must replace the clichés and liberate us into reality. This we assume, is one of the "sophisticated and technical" conclusions that lend themselves so readily to the use of a centralized government that always knows what is best for its people and insists on doing something for everybody, in its own way. Or is this the start of arguments for perpetual deficits, as the Administration begins its second fiscal year with a $7 billion deficit?

One of history's time-worn myths is that inflation is a cure-all, a way to lift an economy by its own bootstraps. This is the thinking being fed to the President by the White House staff. It is the line that he has publicly defended in recent weeks. Whether price inflation is at an end is questionable enough, but with continued deficit spending the very heaviest inflationary forces will continue to be released. The paper has been paid for the past 30 years, with the cost being a devalued currency that results from our using the debt to expand the money supply.

Obviously, no government spender ever wants to be accused of cheapening the dollar. Mr. Kennedy and his advisers claim to be protecting the currency, and they want to appear to be fighting inflation. Yet, the very tactics proposed are inflationary. Something new indeed will have been discovered, when the President learns how to fight inflation with more inflation. This idea appears so "sophisticated" as to evade reality entirely.

What we need is a new approach to the economic life of the nation, one that does not include the tired old clichés of the 1930's. This new approach will not be found in chasing the myths that are inherent in Keynesian economics, including the free spending, state planning, tight controls, and bureaucratic methods of the depression days. This is the 1960's, Mr. President. Instead of trying to hide the truths so clearly revealed by the federal budget, the most obvious of which is that income rarely ever equals outgo, let's begin the task of bringing our federal finances into line with reality.

To be sure, presidents before Mr. Kennedy have retaliated in angry argument even when as wrong as could be. The public, I believe, is hopeful that there can be a return to fiscal responsibility as soon as possible whether in this Administration or the next. People want a government strong enough to cut back spending, without fear of repercussions. They do not want one that attacks business but refuses to control and restrain its excesses. They have tax cuts only when and if they can be had without deficits, unless in a real emergency.

CAPITOL COMMENT

Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 8th District, Maryland

In a program of subsidy and control, dairy farmers have managed for some time without such a program and I believe that their future welfare would be better served without it. The inclusion of dairies in a voluntary control program is a first step towards the mandatory controls which may be imposed upon dairying in the foreseeable future. I believe the bill would have been better—better for farmers, better for America in general—if it did not include a dairy section. I think that most Maryland farmers would oppose the bill on this ground alone.

There were other reasons why they would oppose it. It is going to raise the cost of feeds in Maryland, raise the cost of farming to Maryland farmers and with the narrow margin that exists today between profit and loss, any increase in the cost of farming can be disastrous. But the effect extends beyond the farm to all who are taxpayers and citizens. I think that this bill contains some very serious implications for us all.

Perhaps the most significant words that were spoken during the long debate on the farm legislation during the past week were contained in a relatively short colloquy which took place between the Chairman of the Agricultural Committee, Representative Cooley, of North Carolina, and Tom Curtis,

Representative from Missouri. Towards the end of the debate, Mr. Curtis stood up on the floor and asked a question of the Chairman, Mr. Cooley. He inquired as to what the bill would cost compared to having no new legislation at this time or compared to the ambitious program defeated by the House several weeks ago. Mr. Cooley was unable to give Mr. Curtis the answer to this question. Mr. Cooley finally had to admit that they were no satisfactory estimates of cost, and I quote from Mr. Cooley's statement, Mr. Cooley said, "The letter I have from the Secretary of Agriculture indicates it was not possible for him to estimate with a satisfactory degree of accuracy the cost of the program because you do not know what the participation will be." I believe this is a very foolish way to enact an enormously expensive farm program and I hope when the Senate reconsiders the matter it will take this into account.

THE CASE OF MR. and MRS. LAWRENCE FAITH

The newly formed organization, "Citizens FOR Garrett County," presents and nays for the following material in an effort to bring to you, THE PUBLIC, more information concerning the lot of Lawrence Faith as teacher of vocational agriculture at the Northern High School to a teaching post in the junior high grades at Kitzmiller and the dismissal of Mrs. Faith as teacher of the first and second grades at the Accident Elementary School. Apparently both of these actions were taken during the School Board meeting of June 4, 1962. So far, none of us have seen a copy of the minutes of the meeting when these actions were taken. Neither have we seen written reasons from the Board as to why these actions were taken.

Mrs. Florence Faith—native of Garrett County; daughter of Mrs. Davis and the late Dr. Davis; mother of four children; attended the University of Maryland two years and later graduated from Frostburg State Teachers' College with honors. She began teaching at Loch Lynn in January, 1961, and was transferred to Accident Elementary School for the school term 1961-62 to teach first and second grade.

We present a copy of the letter received by Mrs. Faith on June 9, 1962. This letter was registered and sent to her at a postage fee of 74c.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF GARRETT COUNTY
Willard L. Hawkins, Superintendent
Telephone: DEerfield 4-3991
OAKLAND, MARYLAND
June 4, 1962

Mrs. Florence Faith

Graysville

Maryland

Dear Mrs. Faith:

Under the circumstances involved, the Board of Education of Garrett County feels that the best interests of the county will be served if you are not reappointed to a teaching position in the county for another year. We therefore notify you that your teaching contract with the Garrett County Board of Education will not be renewed for the school year 1962-63.

Very sincerely,
Willard L. Hawkins
Superintendent of Schools

WLH:ll

Please note the absence of a recommendation upon the termination of her position.

Is this letter of dismissal fair to Mrs. Faith? Is it fair to parents? And, most of all, is it fair to children?

Have you ever questioned the true quality of the administration of the Garrett County School system?

Who is truly responsible for this letter? Ask us, the parents of the children she taught, whether or not she is a good teacher.

Is it not time that the Superintendent be truly responsible to the Board of Education and to the public who pay his salary? For your information we list our three School Board Members and their addresses:

Mr. Maurice Brookhart, President, Oakland, Maryland.
Mr. George Edwards, Vice-President, Grantsville, Maryland.
Mrs. George Brady, Associate Member, Kitzmiller, Maryland.

We give the same information for the State Superintendent of Schools:

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., State Superintendent of Schools
301 West Preston Street
Baltimore 1, Maryland

We, the parents of the children she taught last school year, take sharp issue with the Board when it feels that the best interests of the schools of the County will be served if Mrs. Faith is NOT reappointed to a teaching position in the County for another year. We earnestly request that Mrs. Faith be reappointed to serve as teacher of the first and second grades at the Accident Elementary School, AS SHE REQUESTED, for the year 1962-63.

We, the undersigned parents of the children she taught, ask you THE PUBLIC, to help!

NOTE: Mrs. Faith taught a class of 26 children. The parents of 19 of these children have signed this letter: the parents of 7 of the children were either not at home or for some other reason beyond our immediate control.

Re-affirm Stand In Regard To Transfer Of Vo-Ag Instructor

At a meeting of officers and directors of the newly formed "Citizens for Garrett County," held recently, those present again declared their purpose to "coordinate efforts of many organized groups and independent citizens by lending support to any investigation of any problem of public concern which cannot be, or has not been handled effectively by existing agencies."

Renell Gieoni, Grantsville, president, noted that although this was an infant organization its membership already was well over 800 and that the figure did not include independent citizens.

The Board of Directors accepted unanimously, Gieoni said, as its first action a thorough investigation of the case of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence S. Faith. Mr. Gieoni declared, "We feel that the transfer of Mr. Faith from his teaching post at Northern, a post for which he is undoubtedly well qualified, and the dismissal of his wife, Florence, without recommendation from her post in Accident, is a matter which we are impelled to study, especially since these actions were taken without apparent reason." He added that "many feel that both actions were likely accomplished by the use of arbitrary power."

Willard L. Hawkins, superintendent of schools, stated this week that no one from this newly organized group had contacted him in an effort to arrange a meeting concerning the case of Mr. and Mrs. Faith. However, two employment rules for teachers in Maryland public schools have been clearly established. One is that teachers are hired to teach in a particular school but not in a particular county. Their salary is not based on the school where they teach but on their years of experience.

The second rule is that a teacher has tenure after two years of teaching and after that time cannot be discharged without grounds. In Mrs. Faith's case she had taught only one and one-half years and

New Appeal Filed With State Court On Apportionment

Citing recent decisions by federal courts in other states, the Maryland Committee for Representation asked the Court of Appeals last week to grant re-argument of a suit seeking more representation for metropolitan areas in the state Senate.

The committee said in its brief that Senate reapportionment was ordered as well as reapportionment of lower houses of the legislatures by Federal courts in Alabama and Florida and a state court in Kansas.

The Maryland Legislature, meeting in special session last May reapportioned the House of Delegates after state courts declared discrimination existed against metropolitan residents.

The reapportionment act enacted May 31 awarded 19 new House seats to four metropolitan counties and two legislative districts in Baltimore.

Afterward the committee sought unsuccessfully to have the present makeup of the Senate declared unconstitutional. Judge O. Bowie Duckett, Annapolis, ruled, however, that the Senate did not have to be related to population. Judge Duckett's opinion was upheld by the Court of Appeals in a 4-3 split decision on July 23. The attorney for the committee asked the state's high court to grant the motion for re-argument of the Senate question when it convenes again in September.

consequently was not on tenure," Mr. Gieoni, said "we have made specific plans to approach this matter from as many directions as possible. We realize that the complete resolving of this problem will be a large measure determine the success, and future of our organization."

He said the advertisements from the organization would be continued as a part of this effort. A mass meeting of citizens for Garrett county will be held Monday evening, August 20, at 8:30, in the Accident area, with a definite place to be announced. At this time accomplishments to date will be revealed and further plans for future action formulated.

IT'S ALL IN A DAY'S WORK—As Congressman Charles McC. Mathias, Jr., discusses the latest parliamentary maneuverings of complex legislation with the leadership of both parties. ## Review of The Play

The first performance was given Tuesday night of what probably will be the best all-around production of the 1962 season in the Garrett County Playhouse. It was "The Male Animal" by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent. It is their first and only collaboration.

"The Male Animal" while a comedy, is an excellent satire on academic life. At the same time, it provides a sincere plea for tolerance and liberalism.

In a deft way the story is told of a young college professor, his wife, and certain of the students. The young professor is a liberal who believes that one should read certain bits of writing which are not the efforts of professional literary craftsmen. One of the students writes an editorial in campus literary magazine—there is literally hell to pay. An old grad, as well as a member of the college Board of Directors, proceeded to give the business to the professor and his student. Fortunately, the veneer of polite civilization becomes somewhat worn thin in the process and the basic attitude of the male species of the genus homo sapiens comes forward. The views of the liberal minded teacher and his student are found to be the best and all turns out quite well in the end.

and with this the spirits of the reactionary element in the play are put to rest. Fortunately, the authors of "The Male Animal" have written a good sound play which makes it possible for a talented group of players to have a vehicle in which they can literally get their teeth into the result being a performance by all that is certainly a delight.

The cast itself is large—twelve players in all being involved, but is a strong vehicle for three people: Tommy Turner, the professor, Ellen Turner, his wife, and Joe Ferguson, the old grad returned to his alma mater. We see three excellent portrayals in the leads. Neil Flanagan, dependable leading man, outdoors, himself. His interpretation of Tommy Turner is well studied, forthright, and yet done with excellent restraint. This is, we think, perhaps the best piece of acting Neil has turned in in many seasons. Patti Dillon must also be congratulated for being equally convincing as the wife who has many problems on her hands. Steve Ben Israel, the young character who is new this year, has in previous efforts, turned in a few hackneyed performances. This week he completely redeems himself and makes his work as good old Joe something which, to him as well as his viewers, must be quite satisfying.

Bob McKnight, as the member of the Board of Trustees, manages to be completely obnoxious in his portrayal—not in his acting, but in his ability to bring out the character he is playing. In less important roles are Larry Kingsley, Mary Ann Craig, Tom Calkins, Helene Paige, Amy Atkins and Jim Gates. All contribute well to the collective effort.

The local side this week is represented by Kathy Gander, playing a not too efficient maid. Kathy is to be congratulated on her debut. As the young collegian whose ideas cause much of the trouble, we have Phil Jones, who is most convincing. His scenes with Neil Flanagan, are well done. Hats off to Tom Calkins, director, for an excellent job.

We liked it a lot and feel sure that everyone else will also, who is privileged to get to the new home of the Playhouse in the Blue Barn on Beckman's Peninsula. E. L. B.

Round Glade School Pupils Are Pictured

Pupils of the Round Glade one-room school are shown in this week's old picture, which was sent by Mrs. Doris Harrigan, of 308 1/2 Ohio Avenue, Salem, O.

Mrs. Harrigan was able to identify most of the students, but did not give a date. However, most of the school photos published in recent months have originated from about 1908 to 1912, and it is probable that this group posed sometime during those years.

Mrs. Harrigan also submitted a photograph of the Oakland High school faculty taken many years ago, which will be printed at a later date.

Small Calls Tawes' Road Program Flop

Speaking before a Republican rally at Eastern last Saturday, Frank Small, Jr., Republican candidate for governor, called Maryland's road program "one chapter in the volume of failures by the Tawes administration."

He declared "inefficiency, poor planning and poor allocation of funds have resulted in snarled traffic, inconvenience and a serious threat to safety. Growing population and the expansion in automotive traffic which it has brought with it, have thrown our roads program into a state of chaos."

Small declared that building of super highways was important but that secondary roads also needed attention. He said that in some counties road work was practically nonexistent.

Standard Test Series Will Be Given To Northern Hi Students

Northern High School has been selected by Science Research Associates Inc., of Chicago, Illinois, to participate in the Standardization of the Iowa Tests of Educational Development in September, it was announced by Robert Rodcheaver, principal. The tests will be given to all students in grades 9-12. Test dates have been set for the last week in September.

One hundred and thirty-two students will be tested in grade 9, 146 in grade 10, 127 in grade 11 and 101 in grade 12.

The Iowa Tests of Educational Development are an objective battery of nine tests to measure educational development in four major curricular areas: Language-Arts, Social Studies, Science and Mathematics. The ITED measurement of educational development at any grade involves measurement of what the student has learned, not only during the recent school year, but during his whole educational career, Mr. Rodcheaver said.

The tests measure the knowledge and skill the student has accumulated from all of his in-school and out-of-school experience. The scores reflect understanding and insight, rather than specific recall of isolated facts.

Mr. Rodcheaver added the ITED program is expected to provide a sound basis for evaluation of the present educational program; will pin point those areas where pupils have special curricular needs; will help stimulate students to greater effort; will provide an objective record of progress and growth; will identify students and groups that have special needs; will measure as well as identify students with special abilities and will provide help to help the student realize their potential; will provide basic information for counseling and guidance for all students, college bound or otherwise.

The tests will be machine scored by Science Research Associates. After the test results are returned to the school, Richard C. Spitzer, regional director, will meet with the faculty to help interpret the results. Mr. Spitzer is from Hawthorth, New Jersey.

CAPITOL COMMENT

Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 8th District, Maryland

Conference Action On Appropriations

One of the most interesting phenomena of the legislative process in Congress, the institution known as the conference committee, entered into the affairs of our Sixth Congressional District of Maryland last week.

When the Senate and the House do not see eye to eye on certain features of legislative matters, the differences have to be resolved by a conference. The conference is composed of members appointed by the Senate and by the House, who get together and try to agree on a compromise that will satisfy a majority in each of the Houses of Congress.

During the past week a conference committee has dealt with appropriations for the Department of the Interior. I am very glad to be able to report that the Antietam Battlefield—certainly one of the most important Civil War sites in the entire country—will benefit again this year from funds which will be appropriated for the acquisition of more land and for the development of facilities at the battlefield site.

Earlier this year the sum of $1,400,000 had been requested for the purchase of Civil War lands at a number of sites. The House approved $400,000 for this purpose. The Senate was a little more generous than the House, but the conferees agreed to $400,000, the figure first set by the House. Fortunately, because the National Park Service has $600,000 remaining from previous appropriations, there is today over a million dollars available for the acquisition of Civil War battlefield sites. The encouraging thing for Maryland is that for the coming year the National Park Service will allocate the sum of $260,800 for the acquisition of lands at Antietam Battlefield.

In the report of the conference committee there is also encouragement and hope for those of us who travel the highways around the city of Washington. All commuters who travel daily from the Maryland suburbs into the District of Columbia will be glad to know that

The Men's choir of the Sprines' Memorial church will present a program at the Church of the Brethren, Sunday evening, August 12, at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Felker, of Needham Heights, Mass., announce the birth of a daughter born on August 1st. Mrs. Felker is the former Barbara Ellen Frazee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Frazee.

three million dollars has been provided for the salaries of employees of the National Capital Transportation Agency and for contracting work to be let by the Agency. As you know, the Agency is due to report to the Congress on the first of November of this year on its recommendations for plans and programs and its suggestions concerning rapid transit, highways and other means of transportation which will reduce the traffic clog which makes it difficult to get in to and out of the city of Washington. The bill provides $100,000 to be matched equally by the state of Maryland to complete the acquisition of lands for the extension of the George Washington Memorial Parkway from the District of Columbia to the new Cabin John Bridge. Incidentally, the Cabin John Bridge will be opened sometime during the latter part of 1962—another help for our travelers and commuters in the Washington Metropolitan Area.

A sum of money also has been appropriated and approved by the conference committee for the acquisition of the land for an extra wide median strip for Interstate Route 95. We need this wider strip in the middle in order that there may be land available if it is ultimately decided to put a rapid transit system between the dual lines of traffic.

Finally, it is extremely encouraging that we obtained the approval of the conference committee for $150,000 for stabilizing the banks of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal. The stabilization program will be limited to the area which would be above possible inundation should the Potomac River ever be dammed. This is an important step forward in preserving this national monument and I look forward to the day when this work will be incorporated into the canal property as part of a National Historical Park.

Grantsville Holds Second In League

Frostburg's Merchants increased their lead to 1½ games in the Pen-Mar Baseball league pennant race by downing Barreville 3-2 Sunday while Lonaconing was upsetting the Grantsville Sluggers to the tune of 11 to 5. Grantsville remained in the second position with a 14-8 record.

Grantsville had moved to within a half game of idle Frostburg by beating Hyndman Saturday by the score of 6-3.

Ellie Ezenbaker went the route for Lonaconing to tame Grantsville and square up the season series between the teams at two wins each.

Lonaconing pounded the offerings of Robert Lefty Keister and George Lauder for 19 hits. Eight of Lonaconing's hits came in the fourth inning when six runs were scored.

Jimmy Keister headed the Grantsville team with a triple, double and single while Junior Perry rapped a pair of two-baggers and McGowan had two singles. The loss was the third for Keister against six victories.

Hyndman Merchants were pushed down the ladder Saturday when they suffered a 6-3 trouncing at the hands of Grantsville. Dave Jones, relieving Keister after he gave up a lead-off homer to Lehman in the first inning, twirled the Sluggers to victory. He fanned nine and gave up only six hits in nine full frames. Keister, bothered by arm trouble, went to right field after being supplanted on the mound. Ron and Clyde Broadwater did a brother's act with a double and single each. Keister doubled and singled while Junior Perry tripped for the Sluggers.

GRAND CHAMPION—This baby beef steer, like 31 others, provided plenty of meat at the 4-H and F.F.A. sale held last Saturday in connection with the county fair. The grand champion, shown above, was entered by Huey Rodheaver, of Sang Run, Northern High student, and was purchased by Miller's Market in Oakland for the top sale price of 54 cents per pound, the same price as last year. In the photo are shown Earl Shartzer and William E. Naylor, proprietors of the market, with Rodheaver on the right.

Oh Men, Oh Women X-ray Unit To Stay Is Next at Playhouse 2 Weeks in County

Oh Men, Oh Women, a satirical comedy about a psychoanalyst who finds that his own fiance rubs his neurosis the wrong way, has been scheduled for the next attraction at the Garrett County Playhouse, at the Blue Barn on the Berkman peninsula, Deep Creek Lake. It will open Tuesday, August 21, and continue through Saturday.

Bob McKnight will be starred in the role of a quiet conscientious practitioner of the mystic art of unsnarling other people's emotional problems and as the play starts he is on the eve of marrying Mary Ann Craig in her role of attractive little miss.

The story details how this person who is about as irrational as an attractive female can get, drives nuts the doctors specializing in curing nuttiness. This hurts his professional pride as well as his equilibrium.

In the course of the play two full sessions of patients on the psychoanalyst couch are staged and during the long New York run these instances of soul-thrashing revelations were considered the funniest elements of the comedy.

Phil Jones will be the whimsical patient who takes his place on the confessional couch to tell the doctor how he can't get a particular bothersome amorous young woman out of his mind. After disclosing a good deal about her the patient happens to let slip her name—and it's that of the doctor's fiancee, Helene Paige will be another frantic seeker after mental osteopathy, a woman with a lot of problems with her husband, and in giving the doctor her story she reveals that her husband also had an intimate knowledge of the doctor's intended bride.

The main plot of the play is not considered merely with this surprise twist but with the doctor's earnest effort to help his wife-to-be find out in her sub-conscious why she overlooked telling him about this past of hers.

Others in the cast will be Patti Dillon, Neil Flanagan, Jim Gates, Steve Ben Israel. The production is being directed by Tom Calkins.

The play Charley's Aunt will be continued for the balance of this week. Gene Yell, manager, urged that subscribers make reservations with the box office due to smaller seating capacity of the Blue Barn. There were 206 in attendance at Tuesday's opening night performance. Total attendance last week was 864.

GOP Committeemen Plan Beef Barbecue

The Republican State Central committee is planning a beef barbecue dinner and rally, to be held the latter part of September, at the Fair grounds at McHenry. The date is contingent upon when the state candidates are available.

The committee purchased the reserve champion at the baby beef sale last Saturday evening, paying 42 cents a pound for the 1,030-pound black Angus steer.

The committee met Tuesday night at the tenant house of Gerald Gloffetty, McHenry, to lay preliminary plans. These will be finalized at a meeting next Tuesday evening with the representatives of the Garrett County Republican Women's club, who will assist in the arrangements.

All four members of the committee attended Tuesday night's meeting, including Harry P. Collier, Homer L. Bennett, John Beachy and Arthur Savage.

The calf was raised by Larry Gloffetty, especially for the annual sale.

Baby Beef Sale Brings Top Prices

Miller's Market In Oakland Buys Champion—High Price Is 54c Pound

Earl Shartzer and William Naylor of Miller's Market in Oakland, purchased the grand champion baby beef steer at the fourth annual Four-H and F. F. A. baby beef sale held Saturday evening in connection with the Garrett County Fair. It was the second year for the Miller market to obtain the champion.

The final bid for the grand champion hereof exhibited by Huey Rodheaver, Jr., of Sang Run, was 54 cents per pound. The price was the same as the previous year.

The reserve champion, exhibited by Larry Gloffetty, McHenry, was purchased by John Beachy for 42 cents per pound.

Thirty-two steers were sold by exhibitors, bringing an average of 34.28 cents per pound, compared to 33.16 the previous year. The average for the entire sale was about $1 per hundredweight over 1961.

Sellers were well pleased with the prices the animals brought. Virgil Jones, president of the Garrett County Beef Producers' association, which sponsored the event, said there appeared to be more interest, with interested buyers from a wider area than ever before and the occasion attracting larger crowds.

Other purchasers included Yoder's Locker Plant, Grantsville; Smoot's Market, Oakland; Lutz Wholesale Meats, Frostburg; Clover Farm, Friendsville; Edge of the Lake Restaurant, Star route, Oakland; Eastern States Farmers' Exchange, Friend Stock Yard, Terra Alta; Stock Yard, Clem Teets and Son, Young and Stout, Clarksburg; Olie Luce, Perryopolis, and Fritz Alverra, Greensburg, Pa.

Miller's Market bought four of the animals while Young and Stout and Alverra purchased three each, for the largest purchasers at the event.

Dr. Ralph Calandrella, former president of the Board of Education, asked for permission to have his views expressed this week in regard to what he termed "the long, tedious and even ridiculous series of ads and news articles relative to the case of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Faith."

Dr. Calandrella speaks out against what he termed the "undercover campaign" of more than a year against the school superintendent and present board members, and declares the man's motives and undercover methods were sufficient reason for board action in transferring him. His full letter follows:

Mr. George Hamst, Editor The Republican

Oakland, Maryland

I feel it is time that I as well as many others interested in our schools, should speak out against the long tedious and even ridiculous series of ads and news articles relative to the case of Mr. Lawrence Faith.

Cost per boy will be $20.50, which will provide up to $5,000 medical and dental coverage. The cost per boy last year was $18.00. ## Sends $50.00 Check For Playhouse Use

The first fruits of a suggestion for a "phoenix fund" toward the erection of a new playhouse, following the disastrous fire of the old Summer Theatre barn at MeHenry on July 13, was received this week.

The suggestion was made by Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, who reviews the plays weekly in The Republican, in his report of July 19.

Madelon Miller Freeman, of Brooklyn, N. Y., sent two letters this week, one to Dr. Baumgartner and one to the Republican. Enclosed was a check for $50. She said: "I am enclosing a check for $50.00 to help with the fund Dr. Baumgartner suggested in his excellent piece 'play review' on the disaster at the Garrett County Playhouse."

"I had the pleasure of visiting in Oakland two years ago. It is beautiful, the people are kind and charming, and the theater is really first rate—beautifully staged and directed, and marvelous actors—far above any summer theaters I have visited. The fire is heartbreaking to me and I hope others who feel this way will respond as they are able."

The letter to Dr. Baumgartner asked that the check be sent to the Republican and a notice given so that it might start the ball rolling for a fund. The check was turned over this week to Gene Yell, director.

Editor's Note—A new barn is being used for the productions. Although many of the items lost in the fire were covered by insurance, we are sure the director will be able to use the check of any others from those inclined to contribute.

This is the second check to be

Letter to The Editor

Mr. George Hanst
Editor
The Republican
Oakland, Maryland

Dear Mr. Hanst:
Recent paid advertisements in your newspaper have questioned the integrity and sincerity of the Superintendent of Schools of Garrett County.

These are certainly fine examples of gratitude for a man who has spent many hours beyond the call of duty to bring about a sound educational program for the boys and girls of this county.

When the present superintendent assumed his duties, the elementary schools of our county were among the worst to be found in the state. (This is not reflection on his predecessor who was responsible for providing the county with two excellent high school plants.) Since 1955, two new elementary schools, Dennett Road and Route 46, have been constructed; two others are now under construction—Crellin and Bloomington. During this same period of time, additions and renovations have been completed at Accident, Red House, Loch Lynn, Kitzmiller, Swan Meadow and Voder. A new band room and remodeling of the old high school building for offices have also been completed.

Not only has Willard Hawkins exerted his energies toward the improvement of physical facilities, but he has also made every effort possible to place qualified personnel in each classroom, even though Garrett County still pays one of the lowest salary scales in the state. Under his professional leadership, there has been a marked improvement in the curriculum of the Garrett County School System. The superintendent has worked diligently to improve the welfare of teachers. He enjoys the confidence and the overwhelming support of the teachers and principals in the county, as evidenced through a poll taken by secret ballot this past spring.

Over this same period of time, the members of the school board have supported and encouraged programs designed to improve the physical facilities and curriculum in the schools.

It should also be pointed out that the Garrett County Superintendent of Schools was one of a select few administrators chosen from all parts of the United States to participate in the John Hay's scholarship at Colorado Springs this summer.

Surly, those citizens of Garrett County who are truly interested in the educational program of the county, will speak out against the actions being promoted by a few individuals.

Sincerely,
W. Kenneth Johns
Past President (1961-62)
Garrett County
Teachers' Association

Jack M. Caruthers, a 1957 graduate of Northern High School, academic course, and a student at Johns Hopkins University for three years, has sent a copy of a letter mailed to Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools, and to Gov. J. Millard Taves, in regard to recent action of the Board of Education in transfer of a teacher and non-reappointment of another.

Since most of the letter was a restatement of information that has appeared in previous issues, the entire letter is not being published in full. The letter included these two paragraphs:

"I believe there has been a serious violation of the rights of Mr. and Mrs. Faith as teachers and Americans. In light of Mr. Faith's qualifications and his achievements as an instructor at Northern, the statements made by the County Superintendent of Schools present a weak basis for his transfer."
"As important as the disregard of the rights of Mr. and Mrs. Faith are the possible effects of these actions upon both teachers and students. If our teachers are under surveillance, as the Faiths were for at least a year, will they dare exercise their initiative, leadership, and guidance, will they dare to seek the help of individuals and organizations willing to assist them in their efforts to work at their fullest capacities, knowing that they may be risking their careers?"

Defends Action

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Faith have no intention of engaging in a public battle with anyone, but as a former member of the school board, I want to present my views as I know them. I do not profess to know all the reasons for the action taken by the board but from my experience on this board I am sure the reasons were just and ample. It is a well known fact that the name of Lawrence Faith was constantly associated with an undercover campaign that has now lasted for a full year against the superintendent and school board members. His undue interest in the needs of his department comes as a surprise to me for during my six years on the board I don't recall that he ever presented directly or through the superintendent any special requests for his department. Whatever his motives, certainly his undercover methods were sufficient reason for board action and I wonder why the board was tolerant so long.

Certainly every teacher in Garrett County was waiting to see if any member of the profession could get away with such open defiance, lack of cooperation, and disloyalty. Loyalty is one of the prime qualities of any good teacher and any teacher who is disloyal creates constant undercover dissension should be exposed and disciplined. Tenure should not be given to anyone who is disloyal to the school system and school authorities. This should be a first consideration in placing any teacher on tenure. The school system in Garrett County, one that is not to be disrupted by a disgruntled and deceitful teacher or two, and people who are really interested in our schools should fully understand this. The superintendent and school board have the administrative authority to operate our schools and not an agriculture teacher who attempted to use the Farm Bureau and certain politicians to bypass this authority. When the Farm Bureau failed to endorse his actions as a group, and the politician was defeated last May, Faith now apparently is trying to accomplish the same purpose through a so-called Garrett County Citizens Committee, that he has been instrumental in organizing. Teachers who can't be loyal should get moving.

And who now supports Faith? Why, one to be sure is Elbert Buckel, the defeated political hack, who is now using the Faith case as a channel of revenge against the man who defeated him in the primary for County Senator. Mr. Maurice Brookhart, president of the school board, this spiteful defeated politician served the past four years only as an obstructionist to the school program in the county. Let the people start looking behind the scenes and see who is running the Faith show of spite and political revenge, and then bring it to a fast halt. People have had enough.

For six years I worked closely with the present superintendent of schools, Mr. Willard L. Hawkins, and with two of the present board members, Mr. Maurice Brookhart, and Mr. George Edwards. And of course I am well acquainted with the other fine members, Mrs. Elsie Brady, from Kitzmiller. No county has a finer superintendent or one that is more dedicated, more loyal to his teachers, or more interested in the betterment of schools. It is enough to let his record of achievement speak for itself—our schools when he came to Garrett County—our schools now, a result of long hours of energetic work, outstanding ability, integrity and foresight.

For the school board members of Garrett County, it would be hard to find a more outstanding citizen than Mr. Maurice Brookhart, the president of the board, or two more loyal or finer people than the other two members of the board. Resolutions from such groups as the Bittering Community association for their resignations would be laughable. If not so incredible. Whatever has been done in the case of the Faiths I am positive was done out of necessity, after due consideration and with all good intentions, and I am sure both positions will be filled with teachers just as competent or better than the Faiths.

No school board should tolerate teachers who are disruptive influences in a school. This is indeed a rare situation in Garrett County, for most of our teachers are noted for their loyalty and purposefulness. The right of the superintendent and board to transfer for any reason a teacher from one school to another is expressly written in every teacher's contract. That is the purpose of the tenure law—to give the board a two-year period to determine whether or not a permanent contract should be granted, and no amount of public hurrah will replace the authority of the board to determine who shall be placed on tenure and who shall not.

If Mr. and Mrs. Faith have been wronged in any way, why don't they take their case to court and seek redress in proper channels. If they have no cause for legal action then let's hear no more of the "Case of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Faith." We have all had about enough.

Very truly yours,
DR. RALPH CALANDRELLA,
Former member and president,
Garrett County School Board.

IN MEMORIAM

In precious memory of our dear father and my husband, Richard Bradford Ritzelman, who departed 27 years ago, August 19.

Twenty-seven years ago, dear father,

Since you were called away: And you're waiting for us today. Daddy, dearest, how we've missed you!

Missed your kind and loving smiles. That you gave to all your loved ones.

How we've missed your violin playing!

The God replaced it with a harp. Offered us back of you, Pop.

And the home we used to know. Our hearts are filled with longing. And the tears just have to flow. No one knows the pain and heartache.

That we have from day to day. But we have the consolation. That "was God calling you away. Though you've gone to be with Jesus.

And, precious Grandmother, up there.

We still feel your guiding presence. When the days are hard to bear. There is sweet peace in knowing. That our living right each day.

We can surely meet you, Daddy. When we too are called away. Tho the parting caused much heartache.

There are memories sweet and true.

That will keep us striving onward. When again we'll be with you.

Still sadly missed by his wife, Daisie Ellen Ritzelman and sons, John, Harry and James Ritzelman, and daughter Sue Ellen Tasker, R.N.

THE CASE OF MR. and MRS. LAWRENCE FAITH (LETTER NUMBER 5)

This material is presented and paid for by the organization, Citizens FOR Garrett County, in an effort to bring to you, THE PUBLIC, more information concerning the transfer of Lawrence Faith, teacher of vocational agriculture at Northern High School to a teaching post in the junior high grades at Kitzmiller, and the dismissal of Mrs. Faith from her post as first and second grade teacher at the Accident Elementary School. None of us have seen written reasons for either of these actions. However, we are led to believe that both actions were approved unanimously by the school board members. For your information we list the names of our school board members and their addresses:

Mr. Maurice Brookhart, President, Oakland, Md.
Mr. George Edwards, Vice-President, Grantsville, Md.
Mrs. Elsie Brady, Associate Member, Kitzmiller, Md.

We present for your study, material as taken from recent newspaper articles:

"Willard Hawkins, Superintendent of Public Schools, stated this week that no one from this newly organized group has contacted him in an effort to arrange a meeting concerning the case of Mr. and Mrs. Faith.

"However, two employment rules for teachers in Maryland public schools have been clearly established. One is that teachers are hired to teach in a particular county but not in a particular school. Their salary is not based on the school where they teach but on their years of experience.

"The second rule is that a teacher has tenure after two years of teaching and after that time cannot be discharged without grounds. In Mrs. Faith's case, she had taught only one and one-half years and consequently was not on tenure."

We ask you to study the above newspaper excerpt in the light of certain questions and facts:

1. Is the superintendent suggesting that a meeting would be in order between himself and the organization Citizens FOR Garrett County?

Facts: The Superintendent has not fully cooperated with one of our organized member groups, namely, the Farm Bureau, during the past year. The Farm Bureau has met with him in public meetings, as committees and privately. Members of this group have practically begged that retaliation not be used against Mr. Faith for protecting the educational opportunities of the boys at Northern. In fact, many of our citizens have requested the School Board to reinstate the Faiths. Not only has the Board apparently retaliated against Mr. Faith, but it has also dismissed Mrs. Faith in an apparent act of spite. Citizens FOR Garrett County will likely invite the Superintendent to an open meeting in due time.

2. Is the Superintendent admitting that the Board has no grounds for dismissing Mrs. Faith?

3. Is the Superintendent admitting that the Board has no grounds for dismissing Mr. Faith so it resorted to transfer?

4. Are the Superintendent and Board using the two school rules for the benefit of children or are they using the rules as a thin smoke screen behind which to exercise dictator-like powers?

5. Do the rules make reasons for the transfer of Mr. Faith? Do the rules make grounds for the dismissal of Mrs. Faith? Were the rules used fairly?

6. Do you agree that we need good teachers? Then, why drive them away?

7. How many other good teachers have left Garrett County classrooms without going to the trouble of telling the public why?

8. We repeat one sentence from above: "Their salary is not based on the school where they teach but on their years of experience." Is the Superintendent inferring that Mr. Faith's salary was not cut?

FACTS: As a vocational agriculture teacher, Mr. Faith was paid a salary equal to any other teacher in the County with like years of experience and education for ten months of work. However, in order that vocational agriculture teachers might carry on a summer program with the farm boys, the Federal government supplies about 90% of the funds necessary for two additional months of pay during the summer. It is likely that the State helps with the remaining 10% of the salary so that the two pay checks during the summer for vocational teachers cost the County very little. The two summer months referred to are July and August. Mr. Faith's pay was stopped July 1, 1962, so he would lose the Federal pay for these two months of this year. The amount of money involved here is about $1200. In addition, Mr. Faith's salary at Kitzmiller, will be about $1200 less per year than it would have been at Northern. Therefore, in the transfer, Mr. Faith will lose about $2400 in salary from July 1, 1962 to July 1, 1963.

During a committee meeting held in the County office of Education on June 20, 1962, the Superintendent was asked why he cut Mr. Faith's salary. The Superintendent replied, "There is no cut. His salary will be the same."

9. Isn't it about time that the Superintendent be truly responsible to us, the public, who make possible his position and pay his salary? We expect the head of our County schools to demonstrate the highest type of integrity.

We, the undersigned men and women of the Friendsville area, take sharp issue with the Board and the Superintendent in their equivocal statements and treatment of the Faiths.

37 Highlanders At First Grid Session

Thirty-seven boys reported for preliminary practice Tuesday as the Highlanders under their new coach, Tom Domen, made preparations for the coming football season.

Eleven lettermen, six of them seniors, will be returning to the team. A breakdown by grade shows that there are six twelfth graders, 13 eleventh graders, 5 tenth graders and 9 ninth graders.

Athletic Director, Dick Travis, said he knew of at least four or five boys who are going to report later. One of these boys, Dick Giney, who rotated between quarter-back and half-back position last year, is attending a special science institute for advanced high school students at West Virginia Wesleyan. Bobby Lohr, who performed exceptionally well in the backfield on the Junior High team last year, suffered a cracked elbow while water skiing Tuesday morning.

Since Domen does not complete summer school until the latter part of this week, practice sessions have been set for Wednesday and Thursday from 3 to 5 P. M. Beginning Friday, the squad will have two practices daily.

Tentative plans call for the team to report to the 4-11 camp at Bittinger on Sunday, August 26, where they will undergo an intensive six-day practice schedule.

Southern's new mentor indicated that if there are any boys who are unable to report for the initial practice sessions, they should report as soon as possible.

Both Kenneth Johns, principal, and the coaching staff had anticipated a larger turnout. It is hoped that several more boys will report before the end of the week.

They were particularly anxious that new students entering Southern for the first time this year be informed of the practice sessions.

Thirty-four boys out of an approximate 375 boys in grades 9 through 12 does not reflect sufficient interest," Mr. Johns said.

With our opening game scheduled for September 7 at Moorefield, the coaching staff believes that it is imperative for all boys to be on hand for early practice. The importance of conditioning one's physical powers cannot be underestimated. No boy should play football unless he is in excellent physical shape," stated the new coach.

Dick Travis, who has been the athletic director for the past four years, indicated that the best equipment possible has been purchased for the team members. "Two hundred and fifty dollars have been spent on reconditioning equipment and five hundred dollars spent for new equipment this summer," he said. As added protection this year, it is now mandatory that all boys wear teeth protectors.

Boys who have reported to date include lettermen: Arthur Lawton, Butch House, George Stanya, Tom Powers, Charles Dintaman, James Stewart, Carl Corbin, Harold Mosser, Jon Thayer, Jim Thayer.

Redevelopment Still Up to Local Efforts

More than 140 Western Maryland leaders participated in a conference of Appalachian Governors on redevelopment efforts Tuesday in Cumberland. The County Commissioners, the county redevelopment corporation and other organizations had representatives present.

Governor J. Milford Tawes and two leaders in redevelopment efforts talked on different phases of the Appalachian program.

One of the most significant remarks came from John D. Whisman, assistant to Governor Bert F. Combs, Kentucky.

Although the Area Redevelopment administration has been geared to give the Appalachian area special attention he pointed out that in the final analysis local people must still solve their own problems.

Since an initial meeting at Annapolis in 1960, called by Gov. Tawes for nine governors, the conference has had sessions in Kentucky and Washington. The conference has emphasized two fundamental concepts. One is that the region should be considered essentially underdeveloped rather than depressed. The second is that fundamental steps should be taken to end the isolation of the area.

Good highways were considered essential in removing the mountain barriers between middle west and Atlantic seaboard.

Grantsville Tightens Up Baseball Standing

Grantsville Shoggers knocked off Frostburg Merchants for the third time this season and the team's lead in the Pen-Mar Baseball League dwindled to a half game when it dropped a 6-5 decision Sunday afternoon at Grantsville.

Grantsville trails by a half game and Frostburg has two more games on its schedule before regular season ends August 26.

David Jones went the distance for Grantsville, gave up 10 hits, struck out eight, walked four and notched his sixth victory of the campaign. The win gave Grantsville the season series, three games to one.

Wilson started on the mound for Frostburg Merchants and was charged with the loss. Ralph Peace came on in the sixth inning to finish the game.

Junie Perry put on a one-man show to beat the Merchants with his war club. He hit two homers to increase his season total to nine and batted in all of Grantsville's runs. In the third he socked a grand slam wallop over the centerfield barrier, drove in another run with a double in the 5th and hit another round tripper that cleared the centerfield fence in the 8th inning. Jones had a double and single for the winners.

Bridge Is Featured

The old Casselman river bridge, just east of Grantsville, was featured in the August issue of Antiques magazine, a national monthly publication.

The bridge built in 1817, is described in the article as a noteworthy display of early American stone vernacular architecture. It no longer is used for vehicular traffic but can be seen readily by tourists traveling along route 40.

The article was written by James D. Van Trump, architectural historian at Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh. It is entitled "The Cumberland Road and American Architecture." There are other pictures in the article of other historic points along route 40 in Pennsylvania including the toll house at Addison.

Route 40 Presented A Different Scene At Puzzley Run In 1913

Motorists who complain of Route 40 today should have known it in 1913, when this week's old photograph was taken.

The scene is at the Puzzley Run bridge, looking west. Over the mountain lies Keyser Ridge, and behind is Grantsville.

The highway, one of the principal east-west traffic arteries, today would be considered unsatisfactory even as a country road. Paving of the National highway, east from Grantsville toward Frostburg, was begun in 1912, but four years later still had not been completed toward the west.

In the picture, two vintage automobiles are approaching the bridge, and two well-dressed gentlemen seem to be enjoying the scene from the large rock by the river.

The highway has since been relocated at this point, and now runs to the left of the previous right-of-way. Travelers moving west on Route 40 may still see the stone bridge, now abandoned, to the right of the highway between Grantsville and Keyser Ridge.

The picture is another belonging to J. Gordon Mealey, who has contributed several photos to this series of glimpses of by-gone scenes, activities and personalities.

More About Round Glade
Following publication last week of the Round Glade school students, several of our readers expressed curiosity concerning the location of the school. William Coddington, of McHenry, who appeared in the photograph, said the school was located on the Sang Run road between Oakland and the turn-off to Swallow Falls. He put the date as 1912. Mr. Coddington said he was not a member of the school class, but had followed his sister to school that day and decided to pose with the rest when the photographer lined up the students for their class portrait.

Virts-Herman Reunion Set

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Persistent Love

Lesson for August 19, 1962

"LOVE" comes without reason, goes without reason. "Love" can be easily hurt. "Love" washes out in a rainy day like a cheap scarf exposed to the weather.

We put quotation marks around "love" of which that can be true; for it is not genuine love, only a cheap substitute invented by teen-age romancers.

The Christian religion is a religion of love; but the love of which we speak has no more resemblance to the thing that crooners mumble about, than it has to a ham sandwich. Love as we meet it in the Bible is not a merely human word. Whatever genuine love human beings have, is based on, modeled on and called into existence by the love of God.

The ancient prophets, among them Ezekiel, speak very strongly of the love God has for his people in this world—a love which persists in spite of all that men do to discourage God. If you were God, any affection you might have felt for the human race would have evaporated long since; so let us all be thankful you are not God. His love is everlasting.

Blessing

In the brief passage Ezek. 34:23-31 three ideas stand out. Each of these points up what God's love is, or rather how his love is shown. God's love is not (as ours sometimes is) a feeling to be cherished in secret. It is always made known to those who have eyes to see.

First of the three ideas we select for underscoring, is blessing. The reader notices that the prophet does not say, as we might have expected him to do, "I will give you a blessing." He says rather, "I will make you a blessing."

God's love comes in fullness not to those who try to hold it for themselves. The best way to express our sonship to God is to pass on the blessings he gives us.

Westernport Bridge Job Being Delayed

The start of construction of the new Route 135 bridge in Westernport is being held up pending the finalization of a property use agreement between the State Roads commission and the Western Maryland railway.

This was reported last Saturday by John B. Funk, chairman-director of the SRC.

The bridge carrying the relocated route 135 over Georges Creek was advertised for the receipt of bids last April 30. These were opened by the commission May 1 with George Construction company of Cumberland being the low bidder.

Funk pointed out it had not been possible to reach an agreement with the Western Maryland railway regarding the use of their property in the construction of the bridge. The agreement which the railroad submitted was found unacceptable by the assistant attorney general assigned to the SRC. Several meetings have been held with the legal and engineering staffs of the railroad with a view of trying to reconcile these differences. A meeting has now been scheduled with the president and vice president of the railway.

Mr. Funk said the construction company had indicated a willingness to hold the low bid and to start work as soon as authorized. The SRC right-of-way department has been authorized to proceed with the right of way acquisitions necessary for the 36 connection to route 135. The Westernport

Oakland Bags Twin Win; Retains Lead

Oakland's pennant winning team increased its lead to five games in the Town and Country Softball League Sunday by taking both ends of a doubleheader from White Rock, 2-1 in eight innings and 10-4.

The bridge will carry route 135 past the main street warning light, across Georges creek and onto the present route on the side of the hill. This will eliminate the use of the old bridge one block north and alleviate traffic problems.

The change will improve the road from Oakland to Cumberland.

Review of The Play

What can one say about a play that is 60 years old, yet each time it is produced it comes to life as one of the funniest shows ever written. Critics the world over have written tens of thousands of words about "Charlie's Aunt". I am certain that every review was a rave and rightfully so. Few seats were vacant on opening night as the Garrett County Playhouse cast delighted the audience with this comedy of comedies. Not only is Gene Veit to be commended for his selection of this show but his selection of all shows plus the director and cast this week. Tom Calkins has done a splendid job of direction this summer and this week's play is above par. The cast is one that any playhouse would love to have. To single out one outstanding part over another this week is not possible, as all are excellent. Bob McKnight and Phil Jones played the parts of college roommates who have fallen in love with Patti Dillon and Mary Ann Craig who are visiting the college during the Commemoration Week. These four do an outstanding job as they have in past shows. Darrell Salk amazes with his acting ability. His portrayal as the valet this week is as good as his job as the Hermit in Seven Keys to Baldpate. Jim Gates and Steven Ben Israel as suitors of Charlie's Aunt, appeared to have played these parts for weeks. They were both excellent. Lee Thomason playing the part of a sweet, pretty, and delightful companion to the real Aunt is perfectly cast. She is sweet, pretty and delightful. Helene Paige is a show for the entire family. If you miss it, you will have missed one of the best in the eight seasons the Playhouse has been here. For an evening to drive away your cares of the day, go to see Charlie's Aunt.

To Complete Course In Guidance Work

Ernest Spoerlein, guidance counselor at Southern High School, will complete an intensive nine week guidance clinic at West Virginia University, this week.

The local high school counselor is one of twenty-seven guidance personnel from West Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Maryland selected to participate in this NREA sponsored program.

The major emphasis on the workshop this summer has been directed toward the able student. At the conclusion of the course, the group will present a 100 page book which deals with the identification, counseling, curriculum, sociological and psychological aspects of superior students.

Techniques of interviewing, recording, testing and interpretation of the above data have consumed many hours of time in the preparation of the book.

In commenting on the course, Mr. Spoerlein said that he had enjoyed the experience of working with and meeting other guidance counselors.

A thorough exchange of ideas, plus the opportunity to hear outstanding speakers in the field of guidance, has provided me with a profitable education program this summer.

Kenneth Johns, principal, indicated that Southern was indeed fortunate to have the services of Mr. Spoerlein as well as those of Lewis Domenick, who assists in the guidance program. Both men have spent two summer sessions in guidance workshops under the auspices of the National Defense Education Act, and have extensive backgrounds in the field of guidance.

HARD OF HEARING?

IF YOU are not satisfied with your present hearing you owe it to yourself to investigate this scientifically engineered marvel. The tiniest thing of its kind you have ever seen, but a giant in performance and economy. For those people who have rejected all hearing aids because of size and unsightly appearance, this midjet (weighing less than 2 1/2 ounces and smaller than a peanut) is the nearest thing to secret hearing improvement ever developed. It has proven unusually successful as a help to those who can hear but have difficulty understanding speech when people mumble or fail to speak up plainly.

DO SOMETHING about your hearing problem while you still have some hearing left. Why deprive yourself the joy of better hearing when you can hear better TODAY and every enjoyable day of your life?

EACH HEARING LOSS is different. We have a Telex Hearing Aid for any correctable loss.

LIFE WAS STILL WITHIN HER REACH

It was a peaceful Sunday morning in the couple's Glen Burnie home. Suddenly, the elderly woman clutched her heart and crumpled to the floor. Her invalid husband watched helplessly. He was unable to move.

Minutes later, the woman regained consciousness. Her one chance for help was the phone... 18 feet across the room. Inch by inch, she slid on her back across the floor. Futility she tried to lift herself to the phone. Then, with one final burst of strength, she knocked the telephone table over. Slowly, she fingered the dial to find 0.

At that point, the Glen Burnie operator, Mrs. Joan Barker, took over. She contacted the woman's son, keeping the line open while he called the doctor. Then she connected the stricken woman with her daughter-in-law who reassured her help was on the way.

That week, we were pleased to receive the following letter from the woman's family. "If it hadn't been for your operator's help, our mother might not be living. We really appreciate the help Mrs. Barker gave. It's so good to know that the telephone company has real people with hearts!"

Government By Pressure

It is time to take a serious look at methods by which a government can be successfully operated, locally as well as nationally.

Forsaking due process of law by objective legislation, even though expedient, sometimes leads to situations often worse than before. In normal government checks and balances are clearly established and are available through the courts and through the use of the ballot box.

A proposed remedy by force and coercion seldom accomplishes anything good and often plenty of bad. What is being considered by this newly organized group termed "citizens' Committee" we believe can seriously impair harmony that has been growing and welding the county together over the past several years. It is attempting to by-pass delegated authority to assert its will by pressure.

Unity is vital if our county is to develop in the orderly way that it should and sectionalism should have no part in it. We have seen the county rise to great heights in combined effort. There is the county fair, the planning commission, the unified purpose of the various fire companies, the combined efforts of mayors and councilmen of municipalities who are now meeting in common effort. County-wide planning seems to be moving ahead.

We have also seen the county sink to a low tide of factionalism, with north-south antagonism that has adversely affected county progress, not just for the immediate time but for years.

Someone in the county is always, it seems, on the griddle. Perhaps it is part of human nature to join efforts to build a way of life and in equal passion tear it apart piece by piece.

We feel the present effort of a group of citizens seeking redress of what they must consider a just grievance, with a duly constituted school board and superintendent, has laid the groundwork for another round of bitterness that may take years to overcome. Surely there is a better way and a more orderly way of resolving the differences. If laws are not what the people want, change the laws, but do it in an orderly way and through proper legislative channels. Let us not attempt to override duly constituted authority nor the sanity of due process of democratic procedure.

Wheat Referendum Is Set For August 30

Wheat growers will have an opportunity to vote on August 30, to determine whether or not marketing quotas will apply for the 1963 crop. It was announced by Arthur G. Fitzwater, Chairman of the ASC Committee.

The Secretary of Agriculture has proclaimed quotas and set the referendum date in accordance with the present law, which requires such action whenever wheat supplies are more than 20 percent in excess of "normal." The supply for 1962-63 is estimated to be 66.5 percent more than normal.

Mr. Fitzwater explained that no new wheat legislation has been passed, and provisions of law which were in effect prior to 1962 will apply to 1963 wheat. This means that all growers producing less than 15 acres will be exempted from marketing quotas even if they are voted in.

Those eligible to vote will be all farmers who will harvest more than 15 acres of wheat for grain in 1963 except those who obtained a "feed wheat exemption" in 1962. All voting will be done at the ASC's Office in Oakland which will be open from 8:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. DST on August 30.

In order to be put into effect, marketing quotas must be approved by at least two-thirds of those voting in the referendum.

If quotas are approved, all farmers with more than 15 acres of wheat who are in excess of their acreage allotments will be subject to penalties. Growers who comply with their allotments will be eligible for price support based on the National average of not less than $1.82 per bushel.

If quotas are not approved, there will be no penalties of any kind for producing excess wheat. In this case acreage allotments will be used only to determine eligibility for price support. The price support rate would then be based on the National average of about $1.21 per bushel.

Mr. Fitzwater stated that marketing quotas have been approved by growers in each of the past nine years.

Film Series To End

The final program in the Ruth Enlow Library summer film series will be held in the Center Street School Auditorium on Monday evening, August 7, at 7:30 P. M. "The Red Balloon" and "White Mane" will be shown in this program. These two films are photographed in France, and are calculated to interest both adults and children. Paris is the setting for "The Red Balloon." "White Mane" is the story of a boy and a wild horse in the marshes of southern France.

There is no admission charge for this program. There will be plenty of seating space in the auditorium, and all members of the family are invited.

All of the films in the summer series have been borrowed from the Enlow Pratt Free Library in Baltimore.

Good Collector

Gilmore Tichnell appears to have been an excellent collector for the Church of God of Prophecy near Deer Park. Mr. Tichnell turned in the building committee a total of $500. Mrs. William Upperman, one of the committee members, agreed that he "had done a wonderful job." She also said the group was appreciative of the work that Harry King did. Mr. King did all the plastering and much other work free of charge.

Services have been held in the church this summer, for the first time, following completion of the building.

League Playoff Set For Next Sunday

Loch Lynn will play at Oakland and Mt. Storm will host White Rock next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the doubleheaders making the opening of the best-of-three semi-final playoffs in the Town and Country Softball League. It was announced by Charles Grubb, league secretary.

The regular season ended Sunday with Oakland in first place with a 2-3 record, followed by Mt. Storm 2-4, White Rock 19-10 and Loch Lynn 17-11.

In Sunday contests Mt. Storm won a pair from White Rock 6-1 and 7-0 with Rich Smith of Cumberland notching his 17th and 18th wins of the campaign. Swallow Falls downed the National Guard 8-3 and 9-8. Crellin beat Loch Lynn 8-4 and dropped the nightcap 4-0. Kitzmiller held Oakland even, copping the first game 5-3 and dropping the second 17-1.

Weather continued mostly clear throughout the week with warm days and cool nights.

Monday was hottest day of the year when the temperature reached 90 degrees and remained at that point for about half an hour. The following morning it was still 71 and a slight rain fell in the early morning.

Some additional rain also fell last Friday morning and it was partially cloudy for the balance of the day.

The thermometer dropped to 38 degrees early Saturday morning Sunday was another hot day with the temperature in the 80's.

Police Searching For Assailant In Assault Case

Man Enters Home Of Liberty Street Couple Early Last Saturday

Oakland police were kept busy this week trying to track down and apprehend a fairly short, stocky man, who entered the home of Mrs. Elsie Colby Good, Liberty street, early last Saturday morning.

If the man can be found he will be charged with assault and attempted rape. The woman's husband, James Good, an employee of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company, was away on a business trip at the time.

The man entered her bedroom, pulled her out of bed and took her down the stairs to the living room where the assault continued.

Mrs. Good succeeded in getting outside where she called for help but apparently no one heard her screams. After struggling with her for some minutes, for some unaccountable reason the man desisted and she got back in the house, locked the door and called police.

It was thought the appearance of an automobile on a nearby road may have scared him off.

The man wore a stocking over his head and had rubber gloves. He had a knife also which was knocked from his hand in the struggle. Mrs. Good had several cut fingers and one slight wound near the shoulder.

Police recovered a red sweat shirt with hood and also recovered the knife. They questioned two suspects but there was not enough evidence to hold them. Mrs. Good was unable to give much of a description of the man, other than the fact that he was stocky and not very tall.

Assisting in the investigation were Sheriff James E. Frantz, deputy sheriff, Wayne Wilt, and Hobart Shillingburg, night police.

The police were trying to piece together the similarity in other assaults that had taken place on Second and Third streets within the past year or two. No arrests have ever been made in connection with these assaults.

Plans were virtually complete this week for the annual Labor Day celebration and homecoming, sponsored by Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias.

A feature of the affair will be a parade on Monday, September 3 beginning at 11 a. m., including area bands, fire companies, National Guard units, Civil Air Patrol vehicles and personnel, and others.

Beginning Tuesday, August 28, and continuing through Labor Day, a carnival will be in operation on the Municipal parking lot. All concessions, except rides, will be operated by members of the lodge. ## Reasons For Action Against Faiths Given By Superintendent Reasons for the action of the Board of Education against Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Faith are stated this week in a letter from Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools. Mr. Hawkins stressed the fact that this would be the only statement about the matter but that the board of education members had felt the facts of the case as they really exist should be published to combat what he termed half-truths and misinformation about the case.

Mr. Faith, teacher of agriculture at Northern high school was transferred to a teaching position at Kitzmiller. His wife, who taught in the elementary system for the past one and one-half years, was not reappointed.

Oakland, Md.
August 22, 1962
To the Editor:

We make this our one and only statement to the press concerning the "Case of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Faith." This matter has been discussed with the board members upon several occasions and the thinking was that it would probably be best to ignore the long and involved details of the case, and to state the facts as they really exist. This decision has been made to be an error for it has given a few people an opportunity to roam the county and spread their half-truths and misinformation wherever they (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Northern Hi Ready For Opening Classes

Plans are complete for the opening day of school at Northern High school on Tuesday, September 4. It was announced by Robert F. Rodeheaver, principal.

He emphasized that it was not a "let's get ready to come back to school day," but that it was to be a real day of school from the time that the first bell rings at 8:30 a. m.

Instead of a school assembly to begin the day all students who attended Northern when school closed in June, will report to their old homerooms when they get off their buses. They will remain there for a few minutes to get their new homeroom assignments, where they will remain until 10:30 a. m. While in the new homeroom each one will get his or her schedule of classes, the lunch period and will be assigned a locker.

All students will have certain school policies and school conduct explained to them at this time.

New students in the 7th grade will report to the cafeteria to get their homeroom assignments when they arrive at school.

Students who are transferring to Northern High from other schools, unless these schools are Accident, Friendsville, Grantsville, route 40 or Yoder, must report to the guidance officer where Darrell Malone, guidance man, will work out their schedules and assign them to homerooms.

Mr. Rodeheaver said students would find a new basketball coach, Mr. Williams, who is also assisting with football. Other new teachers include Mrs. Dennis, Mrs. Williams, Mr. Forsyth and Mr. Frantz.

The cafeteria will be open and the price of lunch will be the same as last year. This is twenty-five cents to students and thirty-five cents to others.

"Kiss and Tell" Is Final Presentation At Summer Theatre

The gay comedy success about adolescents in love, which kept Broadway audiences chuckling for over two years, has been chosen by the Garrett County playhouse for its final attraction. This is "Kiss and Tell," the laugh hit by F. Hugh Herbert.

It will be presented at the Blue Barn on the Beckman Peninsula, Deep Creek Lake, next Tuesday, August 28, through Saturday, September 1, and will bring down the curtain of the eighth season.

"Kiss and Tell," is concerned with several teenage boys and girls whose comic escapades turn a quiet suburban community into a wholesale frenzy. It is a play designed to suit the entire family.

Mary Ann Craig will be playing the role of Corliss Archer, mischievous junior miss, Jennifer Vell will be seen as Mildred Pringle, Corliss' girl friend who unwittingly is the cause of the comic complications in the play because she keeps her marriage to Corliss' brother a secret.

Jonathan Salk will portray Mildred's brother, Raymond, and Larry Kingsley will be seen as Corliss' brother, Lenny, army pilot. Darrell Salk will play Dexter, the boy from next door, and Jim Gates will play Pat, Earhart, the young man in Corliss' young life.

As patient, much harassed parents of Corliss, Neil Flanigan and Patti Dillon will be seen, while Kathy Gonder and Phil Jones have been assigned the roles of Mildred's less understanding parents.

Other roles in the production will be acted by Helene Paige, Tom Calkins, Amy Atkins, Bob McEnright and Steve Ben Israel.

The show is under the direction of Tom Calkins. Local talent was recruited since the last in this final show totals fifteen.

For the balance of this week "Oh Men, Oh Women," will be given. Due to the limited capacity of the Blue Barn, the management urged that people make reservations when planning to attend the theatre. Last week the total attendance for the week reached 1096, a record for any sixth week play over the eight years. The final showing last year in the former playhouse site at McHenry was witnessed by 1207.

The present wattage and kilowattage will remain in force until the final program on Saturday, October 6, and will take on its new dimensions on Sunday morning, October 7.

For the past year The Republican in conjunction with WFRB and as a public service, has reported a weekly summary of news events of the area directly from the newsroom of The Republican in Oakland over a special wire to WFRB. ## Held for Larceny

Four young men were apprehended in recent days on larceny charges and have been released on bond pending a hearing.

Charles Clary, Jr., Mt. Lake Park, was arrested on a charge of larceny of gasoline from Milton Riley. The three others were charged with theft of a lawn mower from Mabel Paugh, about August 1. They are Keith Fike, William Bradley Bray and John Harry Beckman. All are under $1,000 bond.

Three persons were arrested by officials on charges of towing a skier without an observer in the boat.

John F. Laudadio, Jr., Jeannette, Pa., pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs. The other two, Douglas A. Weeter, Pittsburgh, and Ed. C. Gwynn, Carmichael, Pa., forfeited collateral of $10 and costs each.

Japanese Beetles Are Increasing In Area

The Japanese Beetle population in the Oakland area has shown a marked increase this season. Japanese Beetles have been reported by various property owners and have been noted on bushes in the cemetery. The beetle is identified as a hard-shelled beetle about 1/2" long with rows of white dots on both sides of the abdomen.

These beetles can be effectively controlled by a spray program. The spray most commonly used is 50% wettable DDT. The rate of application is 4 tablespoons of the wettable powder per gallon of water. Beetles can be noticed on roses, grapes and other ornamentals. 50% wettable DDT is available at all stores handling insecticides.

County Agent James McHenry states that neither the University of Maryland nor the state has any control programs in effect. Several years ago beetles traps were placed in Garrett County to determine if there was a severe infestation. These traps were merely scout traps and in no way eliminated the beetle population. They merely indicated where the beetles were. The number of beetles trapped was very insignificant at that time, but McHenry said the infested area seems to be widening.

If the individual property owners follow a continued spray program of applying spray every two weeks the Japanese Beetle problem can be eliminated. Leaflet 20 "Control the Japanese Beetle" is available in the County Agent's office.

In lower elevations the Japanese beetle has been very destructive unless controlled by the spray program.

Station WFRB To Up Its Transmittal Power

Radio station WFRB, Frostburg, which has its transmitter in Garrett county, will increase its coverage throughout the area, effective Sunday, October 7.

The change will involve a new frequency and greater power, officials declared. There will be an increase of 250 watts to 1,000, and the kilocycles will be changed from 740 to 560.

The tower height will be increased to 348 feet, and the ground system will be improved.

Programs are to remain pretty much the same, but will have some important additions.

The range of the station will cover westward as far as Cleveland, Ohio, and eastward as far as Baltimore. The volume over this entire area particularly Garrett County will be heavier, station officials said.

The present wattage and kilowattage will remain in force until the final program on Saturday, October 6, and will take on its new dimensions on Sunday morning, October 7.

For the past year The Republican in conjunction with WFRB and as a public service, has reported a weekly summary of news events of the area directly from the newsroom of The Republican in Oakland over a special wire to WFRB. The newscast of about 10 minutes duration is made each Thursday at 12:30 p. m.

Leave For Conference

William Magruder son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Albert Magruder and Miss Mary League, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie League, Westernport, left on Tuesday morning by train from Cumberland for the third National Youth Conference of the Church of the Brethren to be held at Estes Park, Colorado, August 29-34.

The two youths are serving as delegates from the church and the local youth group. The conference is designed to be of inspiration to the youth as well as giving them direct help for local youth work. Both of the youth have been active in the youth work during the past year.

William will play the violin in the conference orchestra. He is also active in Garrett County 4-H work and was recently initiated into the 4-H All Stars.

Publicity Continues

Publicity continues to appear in daily newspapers concerning the wonders of Garrett county. Last week there was a color photograph of Swallow Falls and an article in the Pittsburgh Press. Yesterday there was a full two columns, written by Al Abrams, sports editor of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette.

It wasn't exactly about sports but was about Abrams' journey to Deep Creek Lake with a nine-year-old boat and out-door enthusiast. Abrams says he is now converted, after having a self-enclosed cave dweller in the city for years.

Bloomington School Ready for Occupancy When Term Opens

The construction of the addition to the Bloomington Elementary school will be completed by the opening day of school, it was announced by the Board of Education. The addition will provide three classrooms, a health room and an all-purpose room.

When completed it will eliminate the necessity of having to send junior high school students of the community to Bruce High school. This year seventh graders will be retained at Bloomington and next year the eighth graders, it was stated.

The maintenance staff completely renovated the interior of the old portion of the Bloomington school. Also scheduled for completion in late fall is a new three-room school for primary pupils of the Crellin-Hutton community, which will eliminate the need of having to transport the youngsters the four to five miles distance into Oakland.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent, said the cost of this school would pay for itself in 15 years because there will be no school bus costs. Crellin was formerly the site of the Kray coal company operations. The mine has been closed and the tipple and warehouse removed. The school is being constructed on the coal firm's property and the pit mouth has been sealed.

The G. and S. Coal company has the contract from the Maryland Bureau of Mines to backfill the area including a pond formed by sulphur water drainage from the mine.

When completed this will eliminate drainage into the Little Yorkhoughy river. Lawrence Hardesty, Oakland, has the contract to build the three-room structure. The old wooden school in the community will then be abandoned.

Letter to The Editor

Mr. George Hanst, Editor

Dear Sir:

If my memory serves me correctly, a few years ago a superintendent of schools was hanged and burned in effigy. Those people were not communists, as described by some, but are good, honest citizens of Garrett County who believed their cause was just.

A few years pass, a small piece of political pie in the form of a school board appointment and now, look what "hot calls the kettle black."

We believe our cause is just. The people of the Bittering Community have offered the one solution that would remove the wedge that is splitting our school system apart. The Presidents of the Farm Bureau, past and present, have never to my knowledge acted without the support of their group. They just don't operate in that manner.

It is suggested that the people look behind the scenes—with this I wholeheartedly agree. This should have been done years ago and should be a continuous process, looking not only to the right but to the left also. This is still America. I haven't been driven underground yet.

In all fairness, Mr. Editor, you should publish this in full.
Very truly yours,
Elbert E. Buckel.

Listen Americans!

Sarey, Arkansas

When a warning about government policies comes from a man who has spent 30 years in Congress, much of it as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, it ought to carry some weight. Actually, a series of warnings have been issued lately in several dramatic statements from Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia. The Senator is not given to histrionics, but this "watchdog of the treasury," as he has been called, has been yelping with pain as a result of recent events.

In his 30 years service, the Senator has seen the national debt rise from $19 billion to $300 billion. He has recently seen the end of a fiscal year in which the federal government paid out, according to Treasury reports, some $6.3 billion more than it took in. (He predicted $6 billion, not being given to exaggeration.) This happened in a year in which the nation enjoyed the highest revenue ever but still could not keep its expenditures within its income.

Is it any wonder that Senator Byrd, in opposing the Administration's successful effort to lift the limit on the national debt to $308 billion, should ask: "Is it possible for us to destroy ourselves from within?" Senator Byrd firmly believes that it will be impossible for our form of government or our system of enterprise to survive if we bring about fiscal insolvency. This is a sobering thought, when one considers that if the U. S. should go broke freedom could not be preserved anywhere in the world.

Again, Senator Byrd spoke out against the action of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in calling for an immediate tax cut without a commensurate cut in expenditures. Once a member of the Chamber's board of directors, the Senator said he was both sorrowful and angry. The Chamber's position was "fiscal irresponsibility in the highest degree" that would reduce federal revenue by $9.5 billion and the proposal was untimely, dangerous, and panicky. It could build up deficits by the end of the next fiscal year amounting to well over $15 billions. The Chamber got its knuckles rapped!

But that was not all. Perhaps the most startling statement came from Senator Byrd when he reported, after some pencil work, that the U. S. is right now committed to obligations totaling $1 1/2 trillion, not including "untold billions" of commitments that were impossible to calculate. In other words, no one really knows just how much the federal government owes, but the Senator can see $1,250 billion, or $1 1/4 trillion. This is far above the assessed value of all the real and tangible property in the nation, as estimated by the Department of Commerce at $500 billion.

For most of a generation, the government has been spending more than it "makes" in taxes and other income. In fact, if present prospects materialize for the next fiscal year, the Congress will have allowed 27 federal budgets to run into deficits during 35 years. This means that the budget has been balanced only six times in nearly a third of a century. You could not live like that. Neither can Uncle Sam, and Senator Byrd seems to be one of only a few persons in Congress who realize this, and are courageous enough to speak up about it.

The Senator views our whole fiscal situation, the drain on our gold, the continued shortages in our international balance of payments and the inflationary deficit spending, as extremely dangerous. Foreign interests could claim all our gold, a situation Senator Byrd sees as imperiling our security like an atomic bomb. It has been very costly to be "the policeman, the banker, and the Santa Claus for the Free World," he declares.

CAPITOL COMMENT

Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 9th District, Maryland

Your Social Security Savings

Today, in some way or other, nearly all Americans are directly affected by the Social Security System. Either you are a member as a result of payment contributions to the system, or you are a potential beneficiary of the system. There are very few, therefore, who are not affected in some way by the benefits that are made available under Social Security and are not interested in a very real and direct way in the condition of the Social Security financial structure. Is this system of savings through payroll deduction, a sound way for us to be providing for the future? Several of you have asked me, from time to time, to give a report to the people of the Sixth Congressional District on the present financial situation of their Social Security savings; therefore, I would like to discuss it with you very briefly today.

At the present time, there are actually two separate trust funds in the Social Security system, the Old Age and Survivors Insurance Trust fund, and the Disability Insurance Trust fund. All but a small part of the tax money taken in by the funds is invested in United States Government securities. This investment adds to the fund by earning interest as do other government securities. On June 30, 1961, which was the end of fiscal year 1961, the total assets of the two trust funds together amounted to over $23 billion. Although total disbursements rose a little in that fiscal year (actually 6 1/2% higher), receipts rose by 14 1/2%. This provided an excess of income over outgo of $72 million for the Old-Age and Survivors fund. I am assured that there were similar results with respect to the Disability Insurance fund.

Now what are the future prospects for this financial structure in which we are so vitally interested? The fiscal periods from 1962 through 1966 are fairly optimistic in prospect. Estimates for the five fiscal years in that period for the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust fund show continued increases in both the receipts and the disbursements. Estimates indicate that the total receipts of the fund will exceed its total outgo during this period. According to these estimates, by the end of the fiscal year 1966, the trust fund will amount to $23 billion, that is, it will have increased $2 billion net, with an income of $1 billion and an outgo of $15—almost $16 billion in that fiscal year. Now there is one very important assumption underlying this prediction—that the economic activity of the Nation will expand during the period.

with both employment and individual earnings increasing steadily up to and through fiscal year 1966. The trustees of the system are very candid in saying that in the event of unfavorable economic developments, disbursements would exceed receipts in all the next five fiscal years and the assets of the fund could be reduced to as little as $9 billion by 1966, instead of being increased by $2 billion. The estimates for the Disability Trust fund although smaller, are similar in import.

These statistics are significant because they underscore the vital interest that you and I have as citizens of this country in the economic health of the Nation. What happens to your business and to your job is not only of great importance to you and to your immediate family but through your participation in the Social Security System, it is a matter of National importance. It is of great concern to me as well, as your Congressman.

State Surplus $16.9 Million, Fiscal '62

An unexpected jump of $5 million in surplus funds has left the state with $16.9 million in unspent revenue available toward balancing the budget next year.

Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced the revised surplus figures last week. It wiped out earlier years of officials that a tax increase might be necessary in 1963, but there was no immediate prospect it would permit a tax reduction. Goldstein reported the total general fund surplus, end of fiscal year, was $24.1 million. The 1962 year July 1.

WEST LIBERTY STREET OAKLAND, MD.

Sharing isn't one of those things that come naturally. It takes a fair bit of "character building" before two youngsters get to the point where they're happy to go fifty-fifty on so much as a bottle of pop!

Fred and Marilyn, as it happens, have learned a lot about sharing in church. For many years ago, Christ clearly demonstrated that man should be neither selfish nor greedy, and that to live successfully he must learn to give not only of himself, but of his possessions.

In a small, childlike, but completely joyous way, Fred and Marilyn are putting these teachings into practice — just as in many more serious ways, they will be putting other teachings of the Church into use, throughout their lives.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH FOREMAN
Bible Material: Isaiah 40:1-11; 52:7.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 81:1-8.

Beginning Again

Lesson for August 26, 1962

IT IS hard enough to share experiences even with those who are near and dear. The heart knows its own bitterness, and a stranger does not intermeddle with its joy," the old proverb says. When the experiences we are invited to share are those of people dead for more than two thousand years, sharing their experience may seem

Dr. Foreman impossible. Yet such is the universal reach and meaning of the Bible, where we find this ancient story, that we can learn something for our own lives.

Nothing is harder than beginning again, especially beginning again on the scene of a failure or a disaster. Yet that is just what the Hebrew people, exiled from their beloved Jerusalem, had to do. Really, their home city was not there any more. The glories of the city Solomon built have never returned, to this day. All around the returning exiles were the ruins of the old city, in the midst of which they must slowly build a new one.

We remember that the little nation of Judah had been smashed, and that its destruction was God's will, to punish the nation for its sins. Before the crash, few would believe it could happen. But after the crash, the mood of the nation changed at once from a silly optimism to a deep and bitter pessimism. From singing the song "We are God's people and he will not let anything destroy us," they sang a different tune—how different can be seen by reading the book of "Lamentations" written at this time. From being all hope, they plunged violently to no-hope. God had turned against them, they felt. And so he had. But until the prophets persuaded them otherwise, they did not think God could ever forgive them. The prophets had to preach over and over again: Just as for sin there must be punishment, so for repentance there is forgiveness. God punishes his own children, but he does not destroy them.

After Disaster

The clock and the calendar do not run backward. What's done is done. Not even the Lord in heaven would restore Jerusalem as it was. But few disasters are totally without remedy. The storm leaves wrecks behind it—but it passes on. There is always an aftermath to the worst of calamities. It may be that a few readers of this column will be able to survive the terrors of a nuclear war, so-called. It would not be like any war ever fought before, and if you do survive, it may be five hundred miles to the nearest person who survived as you did. You will have many other problems and much distress; but one thing will be sure—that kind of "war" can happen once but not again. You will have lived through the worst disaster in human history; and after that, other things will be mild and tame by comparison. But the thing you will have to remember (the books will be burned up and what you know you won't get from books any more)—you must remember that God is always on both sides of every disaster: before and after, he is there.

After Confusion

The well-known passage from Isaiah about making a straight road in the wilderness brings up a picture of a vast desert in which it is very easy to be lost and die... unless you keep to the road. The road to life is narrow and hard to find, Jesus said; but there is such a road. Lost in woods or on the desert, or in a snowstorm, people are very likely to move around in circles, instead of following a straight line. So in our confused time, with the best minds hardly knowing what to do next, and nobody knowing how to bring about peace, if more people would listen to God there would be less confusion in the world. A national magazine not long ago carried a debate between an agnostic and Billy Graham on the question: Should our elected leaders be religious men? Billy Graham was surely right; they ought to be men of faith, for one reason in particular, if God-fearing men does try to hear the voice of the God of truth. Such a leader may make mistakes; but surely he is better off than the man who does not think there is a God to listen to!

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R. Md.)

Happy Birthday, Mr. Hoover! Herbert Hoover, beloved former President, celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday by addressing a large gathering at the dedication of the Herbert Hoover Presidential Library in the village of his birth. Mr. Hoover has served his fellow man in many capacities. He was Woodrow Wilson's Food Administrator during World War I. Following that war, he received votes for the Presidential nomination in both Democratic and Republican National Conventions. He was Calvin Coolidge's Secretary of Commerce. He is now the active head of the Boy Scouts of America. Incidentally, Herbert Hoover has never accepted a penny of pay for a lifetime of public service.

In his address at West Branch, Iowa, last week Mr. Hoover reviewed the changes in the world since his Iowa boyhood—changes in many of which he was a direct participant. Then, the former President looked ahead, urging safeguards to the peace which is imperiled by Communism. He closed his address with words about inner strength:

"The mightiest assurances of our future are the intangible spiritual and intellectual forces of our people... That word 'America' carries meanings which lie deep in the soul of our people... It springs from our religious faith, our ideals of individual freedom and equal opportunity... It rises from our pride in great accomplishments of our nation and from the sacrifices and devotion of those who have passed on. It lifts us above the ugliness of the day. It has guided us through even greater crises in our past. And from these sources, solutions will come again."

Russian Space Achievement—Capitol Hill, like the rest of the world, was agog over the Russian achievement of orbiting the earth 64 times with one space capsule and 48 times with another. The Russians deserve the wide acclaim accorded this giant step in space science. The putting of two manned capsules in orbit at the same time was spectacular, though its scientific advantage is not clear. It was thought by some that the Russians planned to rendezvous the two capsules in flight, but if this was the plan they failed. With all their strides in space, the Russians still are not sure enough of themselves to announce their plans in advance—and so, we hear only about their successes. When Russian Cosmonaut Titov was interviewed on television in this country, he said there had been no failures in Russian space experiments, a statement which few believed.

This latest feat on the part of the Russians would indicate that they may be well ahead of us in this field—but we've been behind

"Telestar" Filibuster Ended—For the first time in 35 years, the Senate voted Tuesday to stop a filibuster. A small group of Senators who opposed the President's bill to set up a corporation to manage the communications satellite business, knowing that they were outnumbered, had attempted to talk the measure to death. The basic issue in the Senate fight was whether the communications system should be privately owned. Those opposed to the President's bill favor Government ownership.

The bill provides for the creation of a private corporation for profit which would not be an agency of the Government but which would be subject to specified Government regulation. The bill sets up a corporation in which 50% of the voting stock would be sold to communications companies and 50% to the general public. The shares of stock would be sold at a price not to exceed $100 per share so as to encourage the widest possible distribution to the American public. The new corporation would be run by a board of 15 directors: 6 elected by the general public stockholders, 6 elected by the communications companies, and 3 appointed by the President of the United States. To prevent domination by any one communications company, no company or its trustees could vote for more than 3 of the 6 company directors. In other words, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which paid nearly 50 million dollars for the Telstar communications satellite and then paid an additional $2,700,000 to the Space Agency to launch it, would be limited to no more than 3 of the 15 directors.

The corporation would operate Telstar and other communications satellites as a transmission belt for all communications companies without discrimination. Recognizing the need for Federal coordination, planning, and regulation, the bill delineates the powers and responsibilities devolving upon the President, the Space Agency, and the Federal Communications Commission. The President would coordinate activities and supervise the relationship of the corporation with foreign agencies participating in the system. NASA (the Space Agency) would cooperate in matters of research and development and furnish various specified services on a reimbursable basis. The FCC would be responsible for comprehensive regulation of all entities, including procurement and operation, and would grant licenses to ground stations to send and receive by way of satellites, on the basis of public convenience and necessity. All three agencies of the Government would report regularly to the Congress.

No bill has ever received more thorough study. Five Senate committees held hearings, and all approved the measure—with clarifying amendments. In my opinion, the President's plan, as provided in the bill, is a worthy experiment in the unique process of private enterprise helping government. This plan would make full use of the great research resources of numerous American firms in correlation with Government agencies. I voted for cloture, and will vote for the bill unless it's radically changed.

We are on the threshold of a new era in worldwide communication. The development of the communications satellite system is the first foremost practical application of space technology for the benefit of all mankind.

Tax Cut In January: National Economy—President Kennedy told a nationwide television audience last Monday that no cut in taxes is to be requested by him now because he thinks the economic condition of the country is good and therefore a tax cut is not needed. But, he said, he will ask for a tax cut in January—presumably because the economic condition of the country will not be so good in January and a tax cut will then be needed to lift the United States out of economic sluggishness. Presidential Economic Adviser Heller calls present economic conditions "disappointing," and Secretary of Commerce Hodges describes the economy as "running sort of crabwise."

Taxes are supposed to pay the cost of government. Therefore, would not the most direct approach to the question be to find ways to relieve the people of the tremendous burden of Federal spending, of deficits and debts which cheapen our money, and of general waste which pervades the "big government" operations? Real tax reform could come easily if we would cut back government spending. This would do much to provide the conditions under which enterprise could flourish, providing more jobs and more goods for everyone.

Government spending could be slashed not only by blocking needless new spending programs, but by reducing spending on old projects. Defense Secretary McNamara said the other day that our defense costs could be slashed enough to save $3,000,000,000 over the next five years on just one item without endangering the nation's safety. What might happen if all the Departments heads—the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, and all the others—were economy-minded? It staggers the imagination to think what could be saved! Without question, there is ample room for reduction in non-essential Federal expenditures without impairing any essential function of the government. In looking over a list of questionable items which the American taxpayers are called on to pay for, my colleague, Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, discovered that the Federal government plans to spend $1,201,295 for a study of the "Affectional Relationship of An Infant Monkey and His Mother."

CAPITOL COMMENT

by Charles "Mac" Mathias
Congressman, 6th District, Maryland

Funds Appropriated For Publication Of Corps Of Engineers Potomac River Basin Report

Among the legislative business completed last week was a public works appropriation for the coming year. This included items affecting areas throughout the country, but there was one of particular interest to the residents of Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia—one important to everyone who lives along the valley of the Potomac River.

Several years ago the Army Corps of Engineers was charged by the Congress with making a comprehensive study of the entire river valley. It was to be the most complete study ever made of the Potomac River system and was to include the Corps' recommendations for further development of the watershed.

The report of the Army Corps of Engineers will touch on all possible aspects of the river system—how it affects water resources, wildlife, agriculture, industry, public health, sewage, recreation, flood control and many other matters. The report will include information gained from interested State and Federal agencies which may be involved in projects growing out of the study. This is the result of a coordinated effort to get information from all these interested parties and to find out how development would affect them.

Ultimately, the Congress will have to make the decisions on the Potomac River Valley development. In doing so, Congress will want to know the sentiments of the people who primarily are going to be affected—you who live in the river valley or on one of the tributaries of the Potomac. The question will be asked, how do you feel about it?

In order to find this out, the Congress has appropriated $75,000 for the collection and dissemination of the report. Further public hearings will be needed before the Congress makes any decisions, and we want the citizens to be fully advised of the facts and proposals before they come to those hearings and express their opinions. I was glad to support this item, because I believe the people of the Potomac Valley have a right to be heard and to receive all the information available on this matter.

It is important to people along the upper tributaries that development take place and that it come soon. There can be no industrial expansion in western Maryland until there is better utilization of our water. That is another way of saying there will not be many new jobs in western Maryland until there are additional uses of water, and development of the Potomac can provide this.

In some areas, however, there may be a sharp impact on the way of life of a large number of people. The pattern of existence which has grown up over the past

Some information on the first Crellin mill was given in an article published in The Glades Star in 1952. The account relates: "In the year 1891, the land where the town of Crellin now stands was purchased by the Preston Lumber and Coal company of Pennsylvania.

"In 1891 the company started to build the railroad from the B. and O. tracks at Hutton to the present mill site at Crellin. The mill was begun in 1891, and part of the machinery was hauled in on wagons. The mill was not completed and ready to run until early summer of 1892.

The mill consisted of a large 72-inch circular gang, with a capacity of over 60,000 feet per day. This mill was destroyed by fire in March of 1902, but was replaced by the summer of 1903."

Mr. Ashby stated he believed this week's photograph was of the construction of the original mill, which would place the date as 1891 according to the Glades Star account.

Review of The Play

The question of what constitutes entertainment is brought more to the fore in television than in any other media. Likewise is there brought forth the problem of what is good taste and bad timing.

Last Friday evening while watching the final appearance of Hugh Downs on the Tonight show, a comedian from the West Coast told a rather inane pointless story concerning a drunken bus driver on a bus operating from New York City to San Francisco.

Just shortly before on the news cast from Pittsburgh, Bill Burns reported the unfortunate information concerning the Greyhound bus driver who had made an error in judgment while driving his bus. One instance where the driver who was behind time in his schedule and who in attempting to pass a truck had an accident which resulted in the death of some passengers.

Perhaps I'm being over critical and am looking for something that doesn't exist, but it would seem to me that here we have a National medium which can do better by being more intelligently monitored.

The Tonight show is taped earlier in the evening, actually about three hours before it is seen in the Eastern area. Hence knowing of the unfortunate accident the material of the comic could have been edited and the offensive material cut out.

On the same program that celebrated actress Rita Hayworth along with Gary Merrill, the eminent actor, were guests. These two persons are rehearsing for a play, "Step On A Crack," which they hope will get on Broadway. In his rather redundant manner, Hugh Downs pontificated on how great a difference there was in participating in something so wonderful as a Broadway opening night and just appearing in summer stock.

Hugh Downs further stated that on Broadway one had to depend more on his individual ingenuity in providing a good interpretation of a role whereas in summer stock one merely had to repeat lines which had been found to be effective and successful in the New York presentation. This in my opinion is the most sage observation of the century from a man who has taken over ten thousand bucks for a week's work in Warren, Ohio, where he did Anniversary Waltz.

Fifteen building permits also were granted in recent days. Lewis and Mary Fike, Prosburn, basement residence on Finzel road, Grace M. Sines, Friendsville, alteration to residence near Friendsville.

George Troska, Seward, Pa., trailer at Pennelacres.

Howard J. Bohner, Wheaton, Md., residence on Harvey's Peninsula.

Emmett Friend, Friendsville, postoffice at Grantsville.

Earl Bailey, Oakland, residence at Deep Creek Lake.

Courtney Wilson, Gorman, residence near Gorman.

Kingsford company, Parsons, kiln near White church.

Frank Thomas, Friendsville, addition to residence, 3 miles west of Friendsville.

Thomas Covell, Addison, alterations to residence on Mill Run road.

Charles B. Getty and Bertha, his wife, Finleyville, Pa., residence two miles north of Friendsville.

Evin Lonnison Preston, Barton, residence on Michael road.

Robert Preston, Barton, garage near Barton.

This season his major one is "Under The Yum Yum Tree." Personally I think this is an evidence of rank unappreciation for being able to get away with murder on the summer stage. Here is a TV personality and not a trained actor who is being grossly over compensated for his efforts. A man who in a very patronizing way is being quite unjust to many competent actors throughout the U.S.A. who are doing an excellent job in the summer theatre because they are dedicated and doing what they want to.

Actually the supposed erudite Mr. Downs is quite wrong when he speaks of his doing summer stock since daily he is appearing in a package deal which is quite different from acting one show, rehearsing a second, and reading a third which most performers in summer stock must do.

Here at the Garrett County Playhouse we have such a group of actors turning out a commendable job week after week in a manner of which they may be proud. Congratulations are definitely in order for the group assembled at Deep Creek and it does somewhat disturb my equilibrium when some of the phones on TV attempt to disparage the young actors in the "straw hats."

The charade being presented this week at the Blue Barn on Deep Creek Lake is "Oh, Men! Oh, Women!" by Edward Chodorov. This play was quite successful in its New York run. This is the recounting of the trials and tribulations of the upper middle class in America who can buy everything. Because of this ability certain emotional disturbances become manifest. These latter fall into the realm of psychoanalysis with the analyst and his couch. The question arises as to how much does the therapist accomplish, as well as who or who isn't unhelped. It provides for a very dull evening in the theatre.

This weeks offering is really an actor's show since everyone participating seems to be having a most delightful time in the proceedings. This results in a rather well knit cohesive offering all the way around. The first act is concerned with two rather involved monologues. However the tempo picks up and the second and third acts are most entertaining.

Bob McKnight at times is a bit stiff as the analyst but overall quite good. Neil Flanigan and Helene Paige provide two excellent characterizations. Neil particularly as the motion picture actor whose knowledge of lisen somewhat confuses the disciple of Sigmund Freud. Helene has one long passage in act one that is most effective. Mary Ann Craig and Phil Jones contribute much to the overall picture.

This week must be chalked up as another good performance by Neil Flanigan since Neil has excellent timing, ability both to do comedy

Four Are Apprehended For Motor Law Violations

Four persons were apprehended for alleged violations of the motor vehicle laws in recent days. Three cases were filed with the Trial Magistrate, Robert M. Maroney. Lloyd Austin Miller, Lonaconing, pleaded guilty to reckless driving and was fined $25 and costs.

Edward E. Peters, Jr., McKeesport, Pa., pleaded guilty to improper passing at an intersection and was fined $5.

James B. Cleary, Jr., Oakmont, Pa., had two charges filed against him and he pleaded not guilty in each case. He was charged with reckless driving and for exceeding 50 miles per hour. Magistrate Maroney found him guilty in each instance and fined him $25 and costs in each case. The arrest was as well as more serious parts. Perhaps soon his break will come.

In supporting roles are Patti Dillon, Jim Gates and Steve Ben Israel. Some of the dialogue this week isn't for the younger children, but next week everyone can come and be happy when "Kiss and Tell," the story of Corliss Archer and her boyfriend Dexter is presented as the last performance of a season which in spite of many pitfalls must be considered as one of the best in many seasons.

Time For Alarm . . .

The Kennedy methods of operation leading to what he hopes would be a realization of an ambition for a "Kennedy Dynasty," have come in for their share of criticism in recent months, and rightly so. In fact there is cause for alarm and unless there is a concerted effort this coming election to upset this political machine, we may not get the opportunity soon again.

An article in U. S. News and World Report a few weeks ago concerning what Congressmen and Senators were saying and thinking about Kennedy, gave an indication of the trend, but it must be more than a trend. It must be an all out try to get out the largest vote of Republican-minded citizens ever attempted.

Here are some of the statements made:

"For him, politics is an intellectual pursuit. He thinks in terms of voting blocs and what will appeal to those blocs. It is a cold and calculating business, all headwork and no emotions, all brain and no heart."

"A vote getting issued is more important than legislation." "People are coming to resent the horde of lobbyists the White House sends to the Capitol. A member of Congress thinks he has a responsibility to his district to decide for himself. But now he encounters the President's people everywhere, pursuing him, demanding, some threatening—and all trying to tell him what he must do. Resentment against such tactics is spreading."

"They call in members just before the vote and try all kinds of pressures." One House member was told if "he did not vote as they wanted him to vote, every military base in his district would be closed."

"This dynasty thing is become very real to Congress." All this points to the necessity for a large Republican vote this fall.

If the foregoing remarks are not enough there is another one related here during Fair week. A Democratic member of Congress was approached by a Kennedy "hatchet man." The Congressman was told in this approximate manner: "We know you voted for the trade bill and we are grateful. We know you were under great pressure to vote against the medicare program. If you will just tell us the name of the individual or company which caused you to vote the way you did—we WILL GRIND HIM IN THE DUST."

This is ruthless power politics with a capital "P." Democrats as well as Republicans should be determined to eliminate such people from public office. This fall is a good time to begin.

Parade Set For Labor Day Event

The Labor Day celebration and homecoming in Oakland, sponsored by Garrett Lodge No. 113, Knights of Pythias, will conclude Monday, September 3, with a parade and special activities at the carnival ground.

The affair began Tuesday evening with the opening of rides and concession stands on the municipal parking lot. Committee members said there would be no admission charge to the grounds, and parking was available. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, $10.00 cash awards will be made at the grounds, and a special matinee is planned for Saturday when reduced prices will be in effect for both children and adults.

The parade Monday will begin at 11 a. m., and proceed through the business section of the town, disbanding at the parking lot. Expected to participate are a number of bands, military units and fire departments.

County Schools Fully Staffed For 1962-1963 Session

Teachers Gather Today For Meeting—Schools Begin Tuesday Morning

Garrett County schools are expected to be fully staffed when the 1962-63 term begins Tuesday, September 4, Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent, announced this week.

He added that all schools were in readiness for the opening day with a number having undergone improvements and cleaning up during the summer months. Supplies and instructional materials have been distributed, transportation equipment has been inspected and found to be in excellent condition, cafeterias are ready to serve lunches the first day of school, and pre-school sessions have been completed in the various schools.

No more vacancies have been announced since it was stated three weeks ago that all vacancies in the teaching staff had been filled. The county normally loses some 10 percent of its teaching staff each year but this year was slightly larger than that number. Some nine teachers alone resigned at Southern for various reasons.

Twenty-six new teachers were employed with 12 coming from various colleges and universities and twelve having previous teaching experience. The list of new teachers was published three weeks ago.

In preparation for the coming term various groups have met or will meet this week. There was a meeting of cafeteria workers on August 28 and 29 and a principals' conference was held yesterday. All new teachers also met in the Southern High school library yesterday afternoon.

All teachers are meeting today at Southern High school with sessions beginning at 9:30 with remarks by Mr. Hawkins. This was followed by a filmstrip, "Focus on Change," narrated by Howard K. Smith.

Emphasis on reading was discussed by Albert R. Ringer, director of instruction and high school supervisor. Curriculum group meetings were held.

Following the luncheon at 1 o'clock there was to be an introduction to all new teachers, followed by an address by Dr. D. M. Morris, former professor of education at West Virginia university, Morgantown, and former executive secretary of West Virginia School boards association. Mr. Morris is presently dean of Central Connecticut college.

All teachers are to report to their respective schools on Friday, August 31 to get their rooms in readiness for a full day's work on Tuesday, September 4.

Oakland Has Plenty Of Water In Lines

For the first time in a dozen or more years the Mayor and city council of Oakland do not find it necessary to caution the people about a shortage of water, and the residents of the town are beginning to realize that is a delightful condition.

This is in spite of some unpleasantness about the taste of the water, and upon some occasions a sign of cloudiness that may disappear in time.

People are generous in acknowledging that the present condition has been the result of efforts of the mayor, Russell L. Smith, and past and present members of the city council.

The modern water filtration plant is providing plenty of water and as long as there is water in the Youghiogheny river, Oakland will have an ample supply. The long range planning has been responsible.

James Lewis, water superintendent, said yesterday that the pumps had produced 357,000 gallons of water on Tuesday, which is double the amount used daily two years ago. The flow of water from the river into the filtration plant remains satisfactory and there is no shortage of water whatever at this time. The reservoirs are full. There is no restriction on the use of water for any purpose whatever.

The picture is far different from that of last year, or the previous year or the situation over the past twelve or fifteen years.

People are finding it gratifying that there are no posters saying "WATER SHORTAGE." Perhaps there ought to be a sign "WATER PLentiful."

Additional Warning Given To Voting Women

Married women who are still registered on the voting books in their maiden names were warned once again by Miss Julia A. Rowan, chief clerk of the Board of Election Supervisors, that they must register in their married name in order to be assured the privilege of voting in the November election.

A law passed a few years ago by the Maryland legislature provides that if this change is not made they may be prohibited from casting their ballot.

Miss Rowan said there are names of many married women on the books, still with their maiden names, and they should make the trip to the board's office by September 4, or take advantage of the mobile registration dates.

Those whose names were removed from the books, both male and female, for failure to vote in the past five years, must also register in order to be eligible to vote in November, Miss Rowan said.

Speaker will be Sumio Edamura, third secretary, Cultural Affairs, Embassy of Japan in Washington, a position to which he was appointed in February, 1961.

Mr. Edamura will speak on "Contemporary U. S.-Japan relations," from which can follow a discussion on relevant subjects, Mr. Naylor said.

One hundred or more persons are expected to attend.

Is National Winner

Gordon K. "Sandy" Douglass brought another national championship to Garrett as the result of a victory the week-end of August 17, in Long Island Sound.

Designer and builder of the Flying Scot, Douglass has been making a habit of winning national titles and the 1962 triumph came in competition against thirty-two other boats from 29 fleets.

The Oakland sailor finished first on Friday in the national event sponsored by the Riverside Yacht club in Connecticut, while picking up a first and a third on Saturday.

Douglass' victory was strictly a family one since his crew were his wife and son Alan. Mr. Douglass said the other competitors had been inclined to scoff at competitors being a woman and a young man.

This is the third championship for Douglass in the four years of competition. He won first in Mansfield, O., in 1959, and first in 1960 on Lake Michigan and managed a fourth place in 1961 at Detroit.

Douglass' victory came on the heels of the championship scored by David Mahan, Morganstown, W. Va., in the National Rebel races three weeks ago at Deep Creek Lake. Both Mahan and Douglass are members of the Deep Creek Lake Yacht club. Mahan has won the Rebel crown two years in a row, the 1961 title coming on Lake Erie.

Mr. Bowser suffered only abrasions of the hands and face. The charge against him was made by Trooper J. V. Slakem of the Maryland State police, who investigated the accident. Bowser posted $500 bond for his appearance when called.

Bowser was represented by Paul W. and Lee C. Barnett, Cumberland attorneys. The case was prosecuted by W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney.

The third person convicted of the charge is Leon Sisler, Cranestown, W. Va. He also appealed the decision of Magistrate Maroney.

The three originally pleaded not guilty to the charge, and all entered appeals in the case.

GOP Chairman Says Hume-Tawes Pact Plain "Doubletalk"

David Scull, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Maryland, charged today that "crusader" David Hume has allied himself with the very person whom four months ago he called "boss-dominated" and "fiscally irresponsible."

Over the weekend, Mr. Hume violated the loyalty of many of his political friends with the political announcement, before the United Democratic Women's Clubs, saying, "I would be deeply honored to be placed in the position where I could speak for Governor Tawes and everyone else on this platform." Scull added, "does Hume know what he is saying? This is a shocking sell-out."

GOP Chairman Scull added, "Does Hume think, by this statement, that he can put a clean face on this dirty deal? He may fool the faceless party faithful, but he won't fool the voters of Maryland." In substantiating his utter disbelief of the weekend Democratic statement, Scull explained, "it is four years late for Tawes to be making 'concessions' to 'good government' and nobody knows this fact better than Hume, his opponent in the primary."

Scull said, "Hume's primary campaign against what he called 'politics as usual' was keynoted by the slogan 'Hume Cares.' After his Saturday philosophical ballet, Hume's now disillusioned supporters can only conclude that 'Hume Doesn't Care Anymore.'"

Ruth Enlow Library

BY EDITH BROCK

The series of four film programs presented by the library during the month of August was well attended. A number of people helped to make this a successful series. We particularly thank Jim Cuppett for taking time to run the projector each week.

All films used in the series were borrowed from the Enoch Pratt Free Library in Baltimore. Films from that library's large collection may be borrowed by any organization. Requests should be made well in advance of the date of the program.

Books have been presented to the library recently in memory of Mrs. Norman Broadwater and Henry McComas.

Mrs. Mary E. Livingston, Mrs. C. N. McIntire, Mrs. Mary L. Warfield, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Jones and Mrs. Paul Cooper have given books to the library recently.

Readers who enjoy biography will find a number of new titles on exhibit near the front of the library. These include "Catherine the Great" by Ian Grey, "At the Hemingways" by Marcelline Sanford, "A Thousand Springs" by Anna Chennault, "Scott Fitzgerald" by Andrew Turnbull and "Sinclair Lewis" by Mark Schorer.

"Jenny Lind" by Gladys Shultz, "Grace Coolidge and her Era" by Ishbel Ross, "Once There Was a Nun" by Ruth Montgomery, "Swamp Fox" by Robert Bass and "The Rothschilds" by Frederic Morton are new titles of interest to many readers.

Robert Hahn and son, of Rosedale, were Sunday afternoon guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bliss Hahn.

Chairman of the County ASC Committee. The referendum will determine whether or not deductions will continue to be made from producer payments earned under the wool incentive program. Funds collected are used by the American Sheep Producers Council to carry out a program of advertising, promotion, and related activities under an agreement with the Secretary of Agriculture.

According to the Chairman, such an agreement has been in effect since the 1953 marketing year, as approved by producers voting in 1955 and 1959 referendums. If approved in the September referendum, the agreement will be extended for four more years.

Producers having two-thirds of the volume of production represented by votes in the referendum must approve if the agreement is to be extended. Consideration will also be given to the number of votes cast for and against the agreement by individual producers.

Deductions from wool and lamb payments under the new agreement would not exceed 1 cent per pound for shorn wool and 5 cents per hundred-weight for unshorn lambs. Deductions at these rates have been made from payments for each previous marketing year since 1955.

Ballots and detailed information will be mailed to all known producers between September 4 and 7. Producers may vote from September 10 through September 21.

Preliminary referendum results will be announced late in September.

Producers eligible to vote are all those who have owned sheep or lambs, 6 months of age or older, for any one period of at least 30 days since January 1, 1962.

Each producer will report the number of sheep and lambs on his ballot.

Any producer who believes he is eligible to vote and who does not receive a ballot by September 10, may get in touch with the Office in Oakland.

Letter to The Editor

Mr. George Hanst, Editor
The Republican
Oakland, Maryland

Dear Mr. Hanst:

Mr. Faith had the responsibility of teaching the largest Vocational Agriculture class in the State of Maryland. Mr. Faith not only taught us agriculture but, also, the responsibilities of a future farmer in Garrett County.

We aren't concerned much about who the school board members and the superintendent are because we have never seen them in our agriculture classroom. Our agriculture course lasts for four years and we are with Mr. Faith half of the time during those years.

Before Mr. Faith turned our problems of neglect over to the Farm Bureau, our shop temperatures were below fifty degrees and we worked with practically no tools. In our agriculture classroom most of our literature was written by Mr. Faith and typed by Mrs. Faith because our supply of book was either short or old and worn.

McHENRY

On my own accord, together with a former school board member, I found the superintendent anxious and willing to talk. He spoke highly of the abilities of the Faiths as teachers. I have only one purpose; that is, to get the Faiths back to work. Those who know me, know that I am a pusher and want action right now. I think the only solution to this problem is a meeting of the people involved. Some Citizens FOR Garrett County agree with me. Time will tell if I am right or not in this problem. I always want to see fair play and justice done.

On my own accord and interest I met with the superintendent and found him ready to meet our officers and answer questions. Upon request, I found the officers unwilling to meet at the time I had arranged, which was Monday morning August 27th.

Because of my strong feelings and due to my respect for all concerned, I feel that I can use my influence better as a private individual than not as President of Citizens FOR Garrett County.

"I haven't toured Baltimore City yet," he said, "but everywhere else I've campaigned I'm amazed at the voluntary expression of people that they're fed up with the Democratic administration of Gov. Tawes."

Small said his main criticism of Gov. Tawes was his lack of leadership and lack of business coordination. One specific item he mentioned was road building. He recalled that when he recently criticized highway progress Tawes replied it had been "his best achievement." "It may be true that it's his best," retorted Small. "But if so, it's only because the others are terrible."

Resolutions Of Respect

The Board of Governors of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital passed with a unanimous sense of sadness the death of its hospital administrator, Mr. Henry W. McComas, Jr., on Wednesday, August 22, 1962.

The contributions of Mr. McComas for the betterment of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital were many and varied. It was during his tenure that the institution received full and total accreditation.

It may be truthfully said that the affairs of the hospital were always first in his mind and that the institution represented to him a living and personal thing. His fine manner of diplomacy and administrative sense was reflected well in the efficient operation of the hospital as well as the loyalty and faithfulness manifested by the entire staff of the institution. His sense of fairness and good judgment was expressed by the mutual trust and respect that existed between him and the medical staff of the hospital.

Henry McComas will be greatly missed, not only as an administrator but as a progressive humanitarian type of citizen in our community. Many persons received his helping hand while in need and are better men and women because of his aid and kindness. His family has lost a devoted husband and father, his kindness and judgment will be missed.

While Henry McComas may be gone from us in person, his many fine accomplishments in his work at the hospital will live on forever as a personal monument to the man himself.

It is with a deep sense of regret and with a feeling of pride that the Board of Governors record these words in the minutes of the Board as a tribute to our late administrator. It is the desire of the governing body of the hospital that a copy of this resolution be sent to his widow, as well as published in the Oakland Republican.

PRESCRIPTION PRICES

How are prescription prices determined? We have a policy in this matter, the only one we can follow. We do not offer bargains in prescriptions—there is no cut-rate way to health. Nor do we pretend to under-sell. Prescription prices simply are determined by the cost of the ingredients and operating expense. The prices we charge are as low as satisfactory service and effective drugs will allow.

Review of The Play

With the performance of "Kiss and Tell" the Garrett County Playhouse completes its 1962 season—which perhaps as a whole provided more vicissitudes than in any previous season so far. Indeed it might be said there was the question as to the continuation of the Playhouse as a unit. The fact that all these difficulties have been overcome and the regular weekly schedule continued speaks equally well for both the management and the acting company. In his review of the play the week following the fire this reviewer spoke of the Phoenix and suggested the establishment of a Phoenix fund to provide for a finer playhouse in seasons to come. It is very gratifying to have some contributions as a result of this plea and it is the hope that additional generous contributions will continue to come forth.

As to the quality of this year's presentations it would be most unfair to be too critical in assessing the season. This because the need of presenting two productions—"Someone Waiting" and "Harvey" at the Bennett Road school. In spite of this one would be less than honest to state other than this has been one of the better seasons. Not the best but one which is above average. Of the season's offerings it is this reviewer's opinion that the best staged and acted presentation was "The Male Animal." This perhaps because the show itself might be said to be a superior script. The least interesting and entertaining was "Someone Waiting," and the less said about this the better.

Judging from attendance it would seem viewers prefer light comedies which they know about and which perhaps they have seen either on TV or in the movies. Perhaps next year one might consider four old established comedies, just to see what happens. Sometimes the somewhat hoary old timers will fool you.

To get back to this week's offering—"Kiss and Tell." This was successful on Broadway and also on the road. The characters in the play later became famous on radio and TV and in a family situation type of weekly show. There is nothing that is socially conscious in F. J. Herber's offering. Nothing, but a lot of laughs provided by the members of the average American families and their teenage sons and daughters. The cast this week is large and two local players and four visitors are employed.

"Kiss and Tell" is Corliss Archer's show, and in the same vein is Mary Ann Craig's tour de force. This week's accolade is bestowed upon both and is due to the enjoyable Miss Craig. Mary Ann is a believable teenager who reminds one of Joan Caulfield in the original cast. Mary Ann enters into the fray with gusto and seems to be getting a bang out of playing the teenager. To her—congratulations for a fine performance.

Among the summer residents appearing in this week's show are the Salk brothers, Darrell and Jonathan. They must be singled out and recommended on splendid bits of thespian endeavor. Jonathan is the kid brother who gets into everyone's hair and Darrell is the unfortunate Dexter who almost becomes the fall guy.

It was a pleasure this week to have Director Tom Calkins play one of the leads. Tom is a fine actor and it is satisfying to see him again in action.
 The remaining members of the resident company as well as the other local and visiting members of the cast contribute much to the smooth running of the performance which is full of laughs and an excellent choice to close the season. So with this farewell for 1962—and with the aid of all—let's look forward to a greater season in 1963.

Auction Is Needed

The state attorney general's office in West Virginia ruled that unwanted real estate owned by a county board of education must be sold at public auction.

The opinion came in answer to a letter from Preston County Prosecutor James T. Dailey, Jr., who wanted to know the legal procedures for selling or leasing a parcel of land owned by the county board of education.

The board wanted to sell or lease the lot to the Aurora Volunteer Fire department for the purpose of erecting a fire station. Dailey was told that the board could not sell or lease the lot outright to the department but must put it up at public auction.

Farmers May Qualify For Gasoline Tax Refund

A Congressional act provides for the refund of all of the Federal Excise tax on gasoline used on a farm for farming purposes only. It was announced by Irving Machiz, district director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore district. But he pointed out that farmers must use form 2240 to apply for a refund during the past fiscal year, July 1, 1961 to June 30, 1962. The claim for refund must be filed on or before September 30.

The tax on gasoline which was 3 cents a gallon since

July 1, 1956, was increased to 4 cents a gallon on purchases after September 30.

Gasoline used in stationary engines to operate pumps, generators, compressors, etc.; gasoline used in cleaning tools, machinery, etc.; gasoline used in motorboats, aircraft, fork lift trucks, bulldozers, earth movers, etc., also will qualify for a refund. Form 813 must be used on these requests.

Congress enacted a separate law in 1956 providing for the refund of all federal excise tax on gasoline used on a farm for farming purposes only and for this, farmers must use form 2240.

Classes In Adult Education Available

The Adult Education program in the county, its past activities and plans for the coming year were revealed by A. B. Dean, supervisor of pupil personnel, who is in charge of the program.

Even with limitations he said the program was active last year, and was hopeful that the interest would be continued this year. Last year 174 persons participated in the program. Courses were completed in Typing I and II, Bookkeeping, Shorthand I and II, Conversational German and Weaving. He said if the demand is sufficient these courses would be offered again this fall and there are plans for a course in Economics.

In order to start a class there must be an initial enrollment of fifteen. A class must maintain an average attendance of ten or more. A group should decide about a particular course and then present a request to the principal of the school in that community. Then arrangement can be made for the class.

Most of the classes meet one evening a week for a two-hour session. A complete course will be twelve or more sessions. With permission this arrangement may be changed to permit more meetings per week or to work more hours per meeting. There is no charge for admission to a class. The only cost is for working materials such as text books.

Requests for adult education classes will be accepted by school principals any time after September 10, Mr. Dean said.

Mr. Dean emphasized that provision for adult education made it possible for the older adolescents and adults to further their education on a voluntary basis which is a benefit to him and his community. Courses are offered according to requests of groups and provided a qualified person can be secured to teach.

In this county it is necessary to get approval from the State Department of Education for each course offered, because of financing. All funds for Adult Education come from the State or Federal government and many counties provide funds at the local level. None is provided in this county.

Scenic Route For West Va. Proposed

A Senate Public Works committee sub-committee recommended construction of a 165-mile West Virginia scenic highway, at a hearing in Washington on Tuesday.

Tentatively the highway would run from near Gorman, just across the Potomac from Gorman, Garrett county, to route 32, near Richwood, Nicholas county.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, West Virginia Democrat and ranking member of the Senate road sub-committee, said it accepted an amendment which would add $3 million a year for each of three fiscal years, to an authorization passed by the House for public lands highways.

He said the increase, if passed would help finance construction of the proposed route which might eventually be longer than Virginia's Skyline drive.

This would provide a road through the Monongahela National Forest. Randolph said the amendment was intended to finance the beginning of recreation roadways through federal public domain in West Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Oklahoma, Arkansas, New Mexico, Arizona and Montana. The West Virginia project would be similar to one which had been recommended by President Kennedy's task force on depressed areas, the U. S. Forest service and the West Virginia state road commissioner.

The route would be designed as a state or federal highway constructed over 65 miles of private property with federal-state funds on a 50-50 matching basis and over 95 miles of Monongahela National Forest land with all federal funds.

U. S. Forest Service engineers have proposed that the highway be built in nine sections. The total cost eventually might be in excess of $27 million and construction would require about six years.

Light earth tremors ripped across southern Italy August 25, stirring new uneasiness.

Scientists in England, using plants made milk without a cow, using pea pods, cabbage leaves and weeds.

Scenic Route For West Va. Proposed

A Senate Public Works committee sub-committee recommended construction of a 165-mile West Virginia scenic highway, at a hearing in Washington on Tuesday.

Tentatively the highway would run from near Gorman, just across the Potomac from Gorman, Garrett county, to route 32, near Richwood, Nicholas county.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, West Virginia Democrat and ranking member of the Senate road sub-committee, said it accepted an amendment which would add $3 million a year for each of three fiscal years, to an authorization passed by the House for public lands highways.

He said the increase, if passed would help finance construction of the proposed route which might eventually be longer than Virginia's Skyline drive.

This would provide a road through the Monongahela National Forest. Randolph said the amendment was intended to finance the beginning of recreation roadways through federal public domain in West Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Oklahoma, Arkansas, New Mexico, Arizona and Montana. The West Virginia project would be similar to one which had been recommended by President Kennedy's task force on depressed areas, the U. S. Forest service and the West Virginia state road commissioner.

The route would be designed as a state or federal highway constructed over 65 miles of private property with federal-state funds on a 50-50 matching basis and over 95 miles of Monongahela National Forest land with all federal funds.

U. S. Forest Service engineers have proposed that the highway be built in nine sections. The total cost eventually might be in excess of $27 million and construction would require about six years.

The house shown in this week's old photograph was never considered a landmark, but nevertheless is distinguished for several reasons. First, it was situated on the site of what is now the county's most important building, and second, it was the birthplace of a man who achieved a real Horatio Alger type of success.

The picture is of the home of Joseph Crim, and shows Mr. Crim, his wife and daughter posing on the front porch. The date is prior to 1907, for in that year the building was torn down to provide a site for the new county Court House.

Not shown in the picture is Mr. and Mrs. Crim's son, Cal, who was then probably in Cincinnati, Ohio, laying the foundation for his career.

The story is well known of how Cal, as a barefoot boy, ran away from home, hopped a freight train to the Ohio city, later retired after service with the city's police bureau and gain national recognition for his work in this field.

The house was acquired by the county after a lengthy condemnation proceeding. Mr. Crim set a value of $3,000 on the property, but appraisers thought it worth only $2,400. In February of 1907 a jury eventually decided the proper value to be $2,800, and this was the price paid.

Pen Mar League Ends In Tie for 1st Place

A pair of one-run decisions Sunday highlighted the final games of the regular season in the Pen-Mar Baseball League and the pennant race ended in a deadlock when Hyndman knocked off the Frostburg Merchants in a 14-inning thriller at Hyndman by the score 3-2.

Mr. Savage exploded in the bottom of the ninth for three runs to edge the Grantsville Sloggers at Mt. Savage to the tune of 7-6. A victory would have given Grantsville a tie for first place instead of Mt. Savage.

Mr. Savage and Frostburg wound up the campaign with identical 16-8 records and they'll battle it out in a single game to determine the 1962 pennant winner.

Sam Glatfelter, a Garrett countyman who pitched 5½ innings for Hyndman, raved home with the deciding run for Hyndman. He yielded four hits and no runs, fanned four and failed to issue a pass.

Trailing 6-4 going into the home half of the 9th, Mt. Savage coupled three walks with as many hits for three runs to score its come-from-behind victory over Grantsville. Kenny Johnson started the rally with a hit. Then Dave Jones loaded the bases by passing Steve Faulkner and Wayne Johnson. Bobby Green's single scored Johnson. Junior Perry replaced Jones on the mound and walked Fay Otten to force Faulkner over the plate with the run that knotted the score at 6-6. Then Ray Winters hammered a long hit to centerfield, scoring Wayne Johnson with the winning run.

Wayne Johnson tossed a 6-hitter, fanned 13 and walked eight in registering his 11th victory. Dave Jones wielded eight hits, fanned four and walked four in 8½ innings. Jim Keister, Robert Keister and Perry hit triples for Grantsville, all coming in the sixth inning. Robert Keister sparked in right field by turning in several noteworthy catches.

Stony River Project Now In Full Swing

Construction of Virginia Electric and Power Company's multi-million dollar Mt. Storm Power station near Oakland in Grant county, W. Va., is swinging into high gear.

Following an inspection tour last week a group of Veeco officials expressed satisfaction with the progress.

Since construction of the $111,000,000 facility began this spring, an access road to the job site on the Stony River has been built, more than 100 acres of woodland have been cleared in preparation for the erection of a 1,500-foot long, 143-foot high dam which will create a 1,200 acre lake to provide cooling water. Sixty percent of the diversion conduit for the river has been installed.

The station is being built in conjunction with the nation's first commercial 500,000-volt transmission line which will originate at the plant site. Two 500,000 KW turbine generators will feed power into the 350-mile loop, one segment of which will extend to the Washington, D. C., suburbs, and then down to the outskirts of Richmond, Va., and the other to the Staunton-Waynesboro area and on to the outskirts of Richmond. Total cost for the new power station and transmission line will be approximately $156,000,000.

The first of the generators, two and one-half times as large as the largest units now being operated by Veeco, is scheduled to go into operation in May, 1963, and the second is scheduled to be placed in service a year later. Together they will be capable of producing power sufficient to meet all the residential needs of a city with a population of two million persons.

Construction of the Mt. Storm station and line is expected to substantially offset the rising cost of generating power. Half the cost of coal delivered at existing stations results from rail transportation and this will be eliminated with the power station in the midst of the West Virginia coal field.

When both generating units are in operation, annual coal consumption at the new station will be approximately 2,800,000 tons.

Stone and Webster Engineering company has the contract for the construction of the power plant. Westinghouse Electric corporation will build the generating units as well as provide much of the equipment for the transmission line. U. S. Steel's American Bridge division has been awarded the contract to fabricate the structures for the transmission line.

Salisbury Observance To End Saturday

A fitting climax to the 100th anniversary observance of the incorporation of Salisbury, Pa., just across the Garrett county line, will be written during Centennial Week, beginning Wednesday, August 29, and continuing through Saturday, September 1.

Salisbury was officially incorporated August 29, 1862, as a borough and this was observed with a parade and program yesterday at the square. National speakers were on the program.

The parade featured high school bands and other marching units, numerous floats.

Friday in the Salisbury-Elk Lick joint school auditorium, the Centennial pageant, "Bid Time Return," will be staged at 8 p. m. The "Album of Memories" will feature 26 pages devoted to historical value.

Saturday, beginning at 11 an ox roast will be held. More events to be held include a horse pulling contest, demonstrations of blacksmithing, etc.

During each day of Centennial week displays at the headquarters building will be open to the public, 10 to 5:30 and 6:30 to 9.

Rumors were to the effect that Chinese and Russian troops had been landed in Cuba.

Commissioners Favor University Branches

The Maryland County Commissioners' association added its support Saturday to establishment of four-year liberal arts colleges.

The resolution adopted by the commissioners at their annual summer meeting was similar to one passed by the 1962 legislature.

Garrett county commissioners were represented by C. J. Schell, president, and F. B. Glatfelter.

A move to put the teacher colleges under the university and expand their liberal arts curricula failed in the 1961 legislature. The proposal would have transferred Frostburg Teachers college from supervision by the State Department of Education to the university.

Commissioners took cognizance of the past controversy by stating their belief "that the state teachers colleges should continue to be strengthened so that the number of qualified teachers will increase."

They declared also all persons interested in receiving a liberal arts background should be able to receive such an education.

Commissioners felt that one reason 75 percent of Maryland's high school graduates do not attend college is because of the distance to College Park, plus the extra cost for room and board. Tuition there is $200.

He also pleaded not guilty to a charge of reckless driving but was found guilty and fined $25 and costs. The fine and costs were suspended in the latter case.

Claude Harvey Cuppett, Friendsville, pleaded not guilty to a charge of failing to give right of way at the 219-Swallow Falls road intersection. He was found guilty and fined $5 and costs.

SUSIE'S IDEAS

Do you suppose Susie wants an addition for her doll family? Or ice cream and cake for supper tonight? Or a new pair of fancy black patent-leather shoes?

I'm Susie's mother, but I wouldn't know! You'd have to have seven league boots to keep pace with her active little mind!

For instance, she'd overheard us discussing our new family policy of having a suggestion box. Susie was determined to get into the act too. It is typical of her, typical of our family. We enjoy doing things together. We believe in unity in work, in play, and in prayer.

We center our family activities about the Church. The children go to Church School—Susie can hardly wait for each Sunday morning—and my husband is active in the Men's Club. I am president of the women's group in our parish. Yet—it does take a lot of time and effort. But I am never happier than when I am doing church work, because I know how truly worthwhile it is.

Don't forget that your church needs workers too! Just as you need the Church!

Foundations

Lesson for September 2, 1962

IT HAD been 50 years since the great Temple of Solomon was burned to the ground, and the beautiful objects of silver and gold, which were so renowned, had been carted off as loot by the invaders from the Euphrates. Fifty years is a long time. Men now with grey beards, 60 years old or so, had been young children when the city fell to Nebuchadnezzar. But old people remember far-past events better than most young ones do, and the splendor of Solomon's temple was not to be forgotten.

Foundations
But though not forgotten, Solomon's temple could not be replaced either. The first great public work undertaken by the returned exiles, who brought no wealth with them, was to begin the erection of a temple on the site of the old. When the foundation was laid, the old men wept, because they remembered the magnificence of the old temple and realized that this would never look like that. But the young people shouted for joy, for they had never seen a temple at all. And the young ones were right, for those foundations were to bear the weight of a temple that was destined to last as long as Solomon's, or even longer. It would become a center of religious life for thousands of worshippers. Its successor, even if a king built it (and a king did), would never be loved as this one would be. Incidentally this became the temple where our book of Psalms was first used as a hymn-book.

But it all began with the foundations. All foundations look about alike; and they don't look like much. It takes imagination to see a shrine for God rising above the dusty rock of the foundations.

Foundations of Life
All this might suggest to us a

Dam Gets Support

The Bloomington dam proposal gained support at a Congressional hearing Monday.

Army Engineers testified that Congress should authorize nearly $51 million for a dam and reservoir on the North Branch of the Potomac river near Bloomington.

They called for approval $50,965,000 for the project, designed as a flood control, water supply, water quality control and recreation item for Maryland and West Virginia.

The engineers noted six floods have damaged more than 1,000 acres of valley land along the north branch in the past 22 years. Average annual flood damages now run as high as $891,000, they said.

The dam would be an earth fill structure, about 1,230 feet long, with a maximum height of 287 feet.
